Whenever after examination the Insurance Commissioner is satisfied that any domestic society is exceeding its powers or is transacting business fraudulently or is in such condition that its further transaction of business will be hazardous to its members or to the public or shall determine to discontinue business the Insurance Commissioner may present the facts relating thereto to the Attorney General who shall if he deem the circumstances warrant proceed against such society in the method prescribed by the laws of this State providing for the liquidation of insolvent or delinquent companies orders or associations transacting any class of insurance

No such proceedings shall be commenced by the Attorney General against any such society until after notice has been duly served on the chief executive officers of the society and a reasonable opportunity given to it on a date to be named in said notice to show cause why such proceedings should not be commenced No application for injunction against or proceedings for the dissolution of or appointment of a receiver for any domestic society or branch thereof shall be entertained by any court of this Commonwealth unless the same is made by the Attorney General

Section 15 No domestic society shall merge with or reinsure with or accept the transfer of the membership or funds of any other society unless such merger or transfer is evidenced by a contract in writing setting forth in full the terms and conditions of such merger or transfer and filed with the Insurance Commissioner of this Commonwealth together with a sworn statement of the financial condition of each of said societies by its president and secretary or corresponding officers and a certificate of such offices duly verified under oath of said officers of each of the contracting societies that such merger or transfer has been approved by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the supreme legislative or governing body of each of said societies

Upon the submission of the said contract financial statements and certificates the Insurance Commissioner shall examine the same and if he shall find such financial statements to be correct and the said contract to be in conformity with the provisions of this section and that such merger or transfer is just and equitable to the members of each of said societies he shall approve said merger or transfer issue his certificate to that effect and thereupon the said contract of merger or transfer shall be of full force and effect In case such contract is not approved the fact of its submission and its contents shall not be disclosed by the Insurance Commissioner

Section 16 Foreign societies which are now authorized to transact business in this Commonwealth may continue such business until the first day of April next succeeding the passage of this act and the authority of such societies may thereafter be renewed annually but in all cases to terminate on the first day of the succeeding April Every license shall continue in full force and effect until the new license be issued or specifically refused For each license or renewal the society shall pay the Insurance Commissioner twenty dollars A duly certified copy or duplicate of such license shall be prima facie evidence that the license is a fraternal benefit society within the meaning of this act providing it may invest its assets as required by the laws of the State district territory province or country where it is organized

Section 17 No foreign society shall transact any business in this Commonwealth without a license from the Insurance Commissioner Any such society may be licensed upon filing with the commissioner (a) A duly certified copy of its charter or articles of association (b) A copy of its constitution and laws certified by its secretary or corresponding officer (c) A power of attorney to the Insurance Commissioner as hereinafter provided (d) A statement of its business under oath of its president and secretary or corresponding officers in the form required by the commissioner and duly verified by an examination made by the supervising insurance official of its home state or other state satisfactory to the Insurance Commissioner of this Commonwealth (e) A certificate from the proper official in its home state province or county that the society is legally organized (f) A copy of its certificate of membership which must show that benefits are provided for by periodical or other payments by persons holding similar certificates and furnishing the commissioner with such other information as he may deem necessary to a proper exhibit of its business and plan of working

Upon compliance with these requirements such foreign society shall be licensed to do business in this Commonwealth until the first day of the succeeding April and such license shall upon compliance with the provisions of this act be renewed annually as hereinbefore provided

Every foreign society desiring admission to this Commonwealth shall have the qualifications required of domestic societies organized under this act upon a valuation by any one of the Standards authorized in section twenty-three of this act and have its assets invested as required by the laws of the state territory district country or province wherein it is organized When the Insurance Commissioner refuses to license any society or revokes its authority to do business in this State he shall reduce his ruling or decision to writing and file the same in his office and shall furnish a copy thereof together with a statement of his reason to the officers of the society upon request and the action of the Insurance Commissioner shall be reviewable by proper proceedings in any court of competent jurisdiction within the Commonwealth Nothing contained in this or the preceding section shall however be taken or construed as preventing any such society from continuing in good faith all contracts made in this Commonwealth during the time such society was legally authorized to transact business herein

Section 18 Every foreign society now doing business in or applying for admission to this Commonwealth shall by a duly executed instrument filed in the office of the Insurance Commissioner constitute and appoint the Insurance Commissioner or his successor its true and lawful attorney upon whom all lawful processes in any action or legal proceedings against it may be served and therein shall agree that any lawful process against it which may be served upon him as its said attorney shall be of the same force and validity as if served on the society and that the authority shall continue in force irrevocable so long as any liability of the society remains outstanding in this Commonwealth

The service of such process shall be made by registered mail or by leaving copies of the same in duplicate in the hands or office of the commissioner at Harrisburg One copy of such instrument certified by the commissioner or his deputy as having been served upon him shall be deemed valid service upon the society

When legal process is served upon the commissioner as attorney for a foreign society he shall forthwith forward one of the duplicate copies of process served on him to its secretary or corresponding officer or to such other person as may have been previously designated by the society by written notice filed in the office of the Commissioner As a condition of valid and effective service and of the duty of the commissioner in the premises the plaintiff in each such process shall pay to the commissioner at the time of service thereof the sum of two dollars which the said plaintiff shall recover as taxable costs if he prevails in the suit The commissioner shall keep a record of all such processes which shall show the day and hour of service

Section 19 The Insurance Commissioner or his deputy or examiner or any person whom he may appoint may examine any foreign society transacting or applying for admission to transact business in this Commonwealth The said Insurance Commissioner may employ assistants and he or any person he may appoint shall have free access to all the books papers and documents that relate to the business of the society He may summon and qualify as witness under oath and examine its officers agents and employes and other persons in relation to the affairs transactions and conditions of the society He may in his discretion accept in lieu of such examination the examination of the Insurance Department of the state territory district province or country where such society is organized The actual expense of the examiners making any such examination shall be paid by the society upon statement furnished by the Insurance Commissioner

If any society or its officers refuse to submit to such examination or to comply with the provisions of the section relative thereto the authority of such society to write new business in this Commonwealth shall be suspended or license refused until satisfactory evidence is furnished the Insurance Commissioner relating to the condition and affairs of the society and during such suspension the society shall not write new business in this Commonwealth

Section 20 When the Insurance Commissioner on investigation is satisfied that any foreign society transacting business under this act has exceeded its power or has failed to comply with any provisions of this act or is conducting business fraudulently he shall notify the society of his findings in writing the grounds of his dissatisfaction and after reasonable notice require the society on a date fixed to show cause why its license should not be revoked

If on the date named in said notice such objections have not been removed to the satisfaction of the said Insurance Commissioner or the society does not present good and sufficient reasons why its authority to transact business in this Commonwealth should not at that time be revoked he may revoke the authority of the society to continue business in this Commonwealth

Section 21 Pending during or after an examination or investigation of any society either domestic or foreign the Insurance commissioner shall make [illegible] statement report or finding nor shall he permit to become public any financial statement report or finding affecting the status standing or rights of any such society until a copy thereof shall have been served upon such society at its home office nor until such society has been afforded a reasonable opportunity to answer any such financial statement report or finding and to make such showing in connection therewith as it may desire

Section 22 All decisions and findings of the Commissioner made under this act shall be reduced to writing and filed in his office and he shall furnish a copy thereof together with a statement of his reasons to the officers of the society and such action of the Commissioner shall be reviewable by proper proceedings of any court of competent jurisdiction by appeal or other proceeding for review and such appeal or other proceeding for review shall be a supersedeas and in every case the said decision order or ruling of the Insurance Commissioner shall be suspended and abide the final determination of the appeal or other proceeding for review

Section 23 Every society transacting business under this act shall annually on or before the first day of March file with the Insurance Commissioner in such form as he may require a statement under oath of its president and secretary or corresponding officers of its transactions for the calendar year ending December thirty-first preceding and of its conditions and standing on that date and shall include therein all accrued liability under unpaid claims where notice was received by the society at its home office before the end of such calendar year and the same were approved for payment before the filing of the report No society shall be required to include in such report any claim or claims notice of which had not been received by the society at its home office before the end of such year It shall also furnish such other information as the Insurance Commissioner may deem necessary to a proper exhibit of its business and plan of working The Commissioner may at other times require any further statement he may deem necessary to be made relating to such society

In addition to the annual report herein required each society shall annually report to the Commissioner a valuation of its benefit fund obligations in force on December thirty-first last preceding excluding those entered into within the year for which the report is filed in cases where the contributions for the first year in whole or in part are used for current expenses Such report of valuation shall show as contingent liabilities the present mid-year value of the promised benefits provided in the constitution and laws of such society under certificates then subject to valuation at not more than the average rate of interest earned on its invested assets during five calendar years preceding the date of such annual report less such portion thereof as may have been assumed by other associations or companies and as contingent assets the present mid-year value at the same rate of interest of the future net contributions provided in its constitution and laws as the same are in practice actually collected

From the above resulting balance may be deducted the present worth at the same rate of interest of the probable future annual savings in death losses below the estimated mortality in the mortality table used in said valuation calculated on the basis of the average annual savings in death losses during the five calendar years preceding the date of such annual report

In lieu of the above valuation any society at its option may show the net value of its benefit fund obligations subject to valuation at the rate of interest as hereinbefore provided and said net value when computed in the case of monthly contributions may be the means of the terminal values for the end of the preceding and of the current certificate years from which said tabular values shall be deducted such portion thereof as may have been assumed by other associations or companies and in addition there may be deducted the present worth of the probable future annual savings in death losses as specified in the preceding paragraph

Every such valuation report shall include as a contingent liability an estimate made by or on behalf of the society of the probable future payments under unpaid claims notice of which was received by the society at its home office before the end of the calendar year covered by the annual report but which has not been approved for payment at the date of such report

Deferred payments or installments of claims whether involving a life contingency or not shall be included in the valuation report as contingent liabilities on the happening of the contingency upon which such payments or installments are thereafter to be paid All such liability shall be the present worth of such future payments or installments at the average rate of interest earned by the society during the five calendar years preceding the date of such annual report

Each valuation report shall be certified by a competent accountant or actuary or at the request and expense of the society verified by the actuary of the department of insurance of the home state of the society and shall be filed with the Insurance Commissioner on or before the first day of June succeeding the submission of the last preceding annual report

The minimum standard of valuation for all benefit fund obligations except for disability and dependent benefits shall be the National Fraternal Congress Table of Mortality hereinbefore referred to or at the option of the society by any other standard table or a table based upon the society's own experience of at least twenty years and covering not less than one hundred thousand lives with an interest assumption of not more than the average rate of interest earned on its invested assets during the five calendar years preceding such annual report

Every valuation report shall set forth clearly and fully the mortality and interest basis and the method of valuation Any society providing for disability benefits shall keep a separate account of the same in its said valuation report shall charge as a liability the balance to the credit of such fund or funds at the date of such valuation Where a combined contribution table is used by a society for both death and permanent and total disability benefits the valuation may be of death benefit only and in such case a separate accounting shall not be required

A report of such valuation with such explanation as the society may deem advisable shall be printed and mailed to each beneficial member of the society not later than July first of each year or in lieu thereof may be published in the society's official paper and the issue containing the same mailed to each beneficial member of the society The valuation herein provided for shall not be considered or regarded as a test of the financial solvency of the society but each society shall be held to be legally solvent so long as the funds in its possession are equal to or in excess of its matured liabilities

Section 23B In lieu of the valuation hereinbefore required any society may value its certificates on a basis herein designated "accumulated basis" by crediting each member with the net amount contributed for each year and with interest at approximately the net rate earned and by charging him with his share of the losses for each year herein designated "cost of insurance" and carrying the balance if any to his credit The charge for the cost of insurance may be according to the actual experience of the society as applied to a table of mortality recognized by the law of this Commonwealth and shall take into consideration the amount at risk during each year which shall be the amount payable at death less the credit to the member

Unless specifically provided in its constitution or laws no charge shall be carried forward from the first valuation hereunder against any member for any past share of losses exceeding the contributions and credit If after the first valuation any member's share of losses for any year exceeds his credit including the contributions for the year the contributions shall be increased to cover his share of the losses

Any such excess share of losses chargeable to any member may be paid out of a fund or contributions especially created or required for such purpose Any member may transfer to any plan adopted by the society with the net rates on which tabular reserves are maintained and on transfer shall be entitled to take such application of his credit as provided in the laws of the society Certificates issued rerated or readjusted on a basis providing for adequate rates with adequate reserves to mature such certificates upon assumption for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this Commonwealth shall be valued on such basis herein designated the "tabular basis" Provided That if on the first valuation under this section a deficiency in reserve shall be shown for any such certificate the same shall be valued on the accumulation basis

Whenever in any society having members upon the tabular basis and upon the accumulation basis the total of all costs of insurance provided for any year shall be insufficient to meet the actual death and disability losses for the year the deficiency may be met for the year from the available funds after setting aside all credits in the reserve or from increased contributions or by an increase in the number of assessments applied in the society as a whole or to classes of members as may be specified in its laws Savings from a lower amount of death losses may be returned in like manner as may be specified in its laws

If the laws of the society so provide the assets representing the reserves of any separate class of members may be carried separate for such class as if in an independent society and the required reserve accumulation of such class so set apart shall not thereafter be merged with the assets of other classes of the society

A table showing the credits to individual members for each age and year of entry and showing opposite each credits the tabular reserve required in the whole life or other plan of insurance specified in the contract according to assumptions for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this Commonwealth and adopted by the society shall be filed by the society with each annual report and also be furnished to each member before July first of each year

In lieu of the aforesaid statement there may be furnished to each member within the same time a statement giving the credit for such member and giving the tabular reserve and level rate required for the transfer carrying out the plan of insurance specified in the contract No table or statement need be made or furnished where the reserves are maintained on the tabular basis For this purpose individual bookkeeping accounts for each member shall not be required and all calculations may be made by actuarial methods

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the maintenance of such surplus over and above the credits on the accumulation basis and the reserves on the tabular basis as any society may provide by or pursuant to its laws nor be construed as giving to the individual member any right or claim to any such reserve or credit other than in manner and as expressed in its constitution and laws

If the valuation of the certificates as hereinbefore provided shall show that the present value of future net contributions together with the admitted assets is less than the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities such society shall have the power either to collect additional assessments or to increase the rates of contribution from the members to meet such deficiency and such society shall also have the power to classify its members according to the adequacy of the rates they are contributing and charge each class with its proportion of any deficiency disclosed by a valuation

Section 24 An person or officer member or examining physician of any society authorized to do business under this act who shall knowingly or wilfully make any false or fraudulent statement or representation in or with reference to any application for membership or for the purpose of obtaining money from or benefits in any society transacting business under this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars or imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days or more than one year or both in the discretion of the court

Any person who shall wilfully make a false statement of any material fact or thing in a sworn statement as to the death or disability of a certificate holder in any such society for the purpose of procuring payment of a benefit named in the certificate of such holder and any person who shall wilfully make any false statement in any verified report or declaration under oath required or authorized by this act shall be guilty of perjury and shall be proceeded against and punished as provided by the statutes of this Commonwealth in relation to the crime of perjury

Section 25 Any person who shall solicit membership for or in any manner assist in procuring membership in any fraternal benefit society not authorized to do business in this Commonwealth shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars Any officer agent or employe of any society neglecting or refusing to comply with or violating any of the provisions of this act the penalty for which refusal or violation is not specified shall upon conviction thereof be fined not exceeding two hundred dollars

Section 26 Any person who publishes spreads or communicates or causes to be published spread or communicated any false statement or rumor concerning any fraternal benefit society operating under the provisions of this act for the purpose of inducing any member to cancel his certificate therein or withdraw therefrom or with the intent to lessen the value of any such certificate shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars

Section 27 Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to affect or apply to grand or subordinate lodges of purely social or labor organizations nor to societies which limit their membership to any one hazardous occupation nor to domestic societies which limit their membership to a particular religion or to the employes of a particular city or town designated firm business house or corporation nor to domestic lodges orders or associations of a purely religious charitable and benevolent description which do not provide for a benefit of more than three hundred dollars to any one person in any one year

And this act shall not be construed to affect or apply to similar societies which do not issue benefit certificates nor to an association of local lodges of a society now doing business in the Commonwealth which provide death benefits not to exceed five hundred dollars to any one person or disability benefits not exceeding three hundred dollars in any one year to any one person or both nor to any contracts of re-insurance business on such plan in this Commonwealth But any society conducting an insurance branch and issuing certificates and paying death benefits of more than five hundred dollars such insurance branch of that society shall comply with all the provisions of this act

Any society heretofore organized and now actually operating in this Commonwealth which limits its membership to the members of one or more fraternal orders which said members are required to have been proposed elected by ballot initiated and obligated through subordinate lodges under prescribed ritualistic ceremonies shall be regarded as hereby complying with the requirements of this act as to subordinate lodges and the admission of members therein and shall upon compliance with all other provisions of this act be deemed a fraternal benefit society operating on the lodge system and entitled to a license as such hereunder

Section 28 Any fraternal benefit society heretofore organized and incorporated and operating within the definition set forth in section one of this act providing for benefits in case of death or disability resulting solely from accidents but which does not obligate itself to pay death or sick benefits generally may be licensed under the provisions of this act and shall have all the privileges and shall be subject to all the provisions of this act except the provisions requiring medical examination valuation of benefit fund obligations and that the certificate shall specify the amount of benefit

Section 29 Beneficial societies other than those specifically exempted herein without ritualistic work or a representative form of government transacting any class of insurance shall not be required to comply with this act All such societies or associations shall on and after the passage of this act file with the Insurance Commissioner copies of their charter constitution and laws and annually thereafter make a report in such form as the Commissioner may require showing their condition and standing on the thirty-first day of December preceding and of their transactions for the year and the Commissioner may at any time make an examination of the books and accounts of any such society

Section 30 Except as hereinbefore provided every fraternal benefit society secret fraternal beneficial society order or association and fraternal beneficial and relief association operating within the definition of section one shall be governed by this act and shall be exempt from all provisions of the insurance laws of this Commonwealth not only in governmental relations with the Commonwealth but for every other purpose and no law hereafter enacted shall apply to them unless they be expressly designated therein

Section 31 The act of April sixth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three (Pamphlet Laws ten) entitled "An act regulating the organization and incorporation of secret fraternal beneficial societies orders or associations and protecting the rights of members therein" the act of April sixth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three (Pamphlet Laws seven) entitled "an act defining fraternal beneficial and relief societies and their status authorizing them to create subordinate lodges and to pay benefits upon the sickness disability or death of their members from funds collected by dues and assessments therein providing for their registration in the office of the Insurance Commissioner and requiring that they shall make annual reports to him and exempting them from taxation and from the supervision of the Insurance Commissioner" the act of May twenty-fourth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and twenty-six) entitled "An act defining to whom the benefit certificates issued by fraternal societies paying benefits upon the death of their members by mutual assessments shall be paid where the person or member dies without leaving a person to receive the same" the act of June twenty-fifth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and eighty) entitled "An act to provide for the person upon whom service shall be had by legal process in the case of fraternal beneficial and relief societies whose status is defined by the Act of Assembly entitled "An act defining fraternal beneficial and relief societies and their status authorizing them to create subordinate lodges and to pay benefits upon the sickness disability or death of their members from funds collected by dues and assessments therein providing for their registration in the office of the Insurance Commissioner and requiring that they shall make annual reports to him and exempting them from taxation and from the supervision of the Insurance Commissioner" approved the sixth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three" the act of June twenty-fourth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and four) entitled "An act to enable minors above the age of eighteen years to contract for membership in fraternal and beneficial societies" and paragraph nine of corporations of the first class of seciton two of the act approved April twenty-ninth one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" in so far as it applies to the incorporation of societies for the purpose of transacting any class of insurance are repealed All other acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed provided however that no repeal provided for in this section or otherwise shall affect the rights of societies heretofore incorporated to exercise all the corporate powers possessed by them at the time of the passage of this act

The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

Rabbi Louis J. Haas offered the following prayer:

O Thou in whose hands is the destiny of states and nations, unto Thee do we offer up our prayer this evening. We ask Thy blessing upon the members of the Legislative Assembly; upon the members of this branch of the Legislative Assembly of our Commonwealth. Be Thou with them; guide them and direct them aright through Thine own good counsel, and Almighty Father, we ask Thee to cause these men to realize the unbounded opportunity for service within their power for whole-hearted, whole-souled and unselfish service in behalf of their constituents. Help Thou them to think clearly, to deliberate calmly and to decide wisely the various matters pertaining to the good and welfare of the men, women and children throughout the length and breadth of this Commonwealth.

Bestow Thou Thy blessing upon the Speaker of this House; upon the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor of our State; upon the Chief Executive of our land and upon all those who are entrusted with our safety and with the guardianship of our rights and our liberties.

We ask this in Thy name, O Lord our God and God of all men. Amen.

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 315 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. McBRIDE presented the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, March 28, 1921.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 315, entitled "An Act making it unlawful to accept or offer inducements to procure a defeat in any athletic contest," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence

RESOLUTION PETITIONING CONGRESS TO REPEAL CERTAIN SECTIONS OF THE REVENUE LAW RELATIVE TO SPORTING GOODS.

Mr. PIKE offered the following resolution, which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

In the House of Representatives, March 28, 1921.

Whereas, The Revenue Law of the United States provides for the assessment and collection of a tax upon articles commercially known as sporting goods, and

Whereas, This tax increases the price of such articles and in many instances prevents the purchase thereof by the boys and girls because of insufficient means, and

Whereas, This inability to purchase will have a direct effect upon the health and proper development of the boys and girls of the nation who love to indulge in manly sports, therefor be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assmbly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania do respectfully address and petition the Congress of the United States to repeal the provisions of the present revenue laws of the United States which imposes a tax upon articles commercially known as sporting goods:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth forward a copy of this resolution to the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States and that a copy thereof be sent also to each member of said bodies from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. LAFFERTY asked and received unanimous consent to call up from page fourteen of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed, House Bill No. 884, File Folio No. 1965.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 28, 1921.

To the Honorable, The House of Representatives:

Gentlemen—In compliance with the request contained in a resolution adopted by the House of Representatives on the 16th instant, asking for certain information regarding the expenditures of the Commission of Public Safety and Defense and of the Commission of Public Welfare, I am sending herewith a statement prepared by the Auditor General's department showing the amount appropriated and received by both of these public agencies and the expenditures under various headings as shown by the vouchers and accounts on file in that department.

As will be seen by this statement, the Committee of Public Safety and Defense expended through the Committee of Public Welfare, later as the Council of National Defense, $1,110,554.31, and through the various departments of the State Government, including principally the Highway Department, the Department of Agriculture, the Adjutant General's Department and the Department of Health, in emergency war time measures, $806,427.16, leaving a balance unexpended of the appropriation of $2,000,000 made at the outbreak of the war in 1917 of $92,169.17.

This latter sum was re-appropriated by the Legislature of 1919 to the Commission of Public Welfare, together with an additional sum of $500,000, making $592,169.17 available for the purposes of that Commission. Of this sum, $432,169.17 was unexpended as of March 15, 1921, and remained to the credit of the Commission in the State Treasury, together with $5,667.72, in the hands of the Treasurer of the Commission, the total expenditures of the Commission of Public Welfare having been $154,364.78. As all of the activities of this Commission have been practically completed, and its affairs are being closed up, it seems likely that fully $420,000 will remain unexpended and revert to the State Treasury at the close of the present fiscal year.

The principal work of the Public Welfare Commission has been in completing the unfinished business of the emergency bodies created during the war, in continuing, with the assistance of the Department of Public Instruction, the Americanization work organized by the Council of National Defense, in co-operating with the Federal Government in various regulatory measures made necessary during the abnormal times following the armistice, and in gathering information and data concerning Pennsylvania's participation in the World War, while the same might be available, under the direction of the War History Commission. All of this has been done at a very reasonable cost, particularly in view of the fact that the participation of the Federal Government in bearing the expenses of the joint regulatory work in Pennsylvania was quite negligible. In concluding the work of the Commission, the Americanization Bureau will turn over its belonging to the Department of Public Instruction, and the mass of facts and information gathered from every community of the State for the War History of Pennsylvania will be deposited in the custody of the State Library for use when the proper time comes to prepare the record of this State's contributions to the defense of civilization.

The detailed accounts of the Council of National Defense were kept with infinite care by the capable officials of that particularly effective organization, and the thousands of vouchers and accounts of that body, correct to a dollar, are in the hands of the Auditor General. As illustrating the methods of this public committee I am forwarding three copies of the published reports of the Treasurer, approved by certified public accountants or by the Auditor General's office, and widely distributed when they were issued. The same care has been taken with the accounts of the Committee of Public Welfare and Defense, and of the Commission of Public Welfare, and all of the vouchers and records of these bodies have been audited by the Auditor General's accountants and are in his office, open for the inspection not only of members of the House of Representatives but of any citizen of the Commonwealth.

With reference to the request that "a full and complete itemized and detailed report of all expenditures, including a detailed statement of the persons to whom all monies were paid, the purposes for which they were paid and the amounts so paid," be furnished by me, I respectfully represent that in view of the fact that there are many thousands of these vouchers and accounts running back over a period of nearly four years, it will take some time, probably several weeks, to handle such a matter, and I am advised by the Auditor General that the expense of so doing will be considerable. As these records are all public papers in the custody of the Auditor General, the constitutional officer charged with their care, and as the Governor's Office has not the facilities for making such examinations and transcripts, I would suggest that if further information is desired by the House as to these matters, that the Auditor General be requested to give such further details as may be required, which I am assured he will gladly do.

Respectfully,

WM. C. SPROUL.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I want to raise a question in connection with the printing of this bill. In the first section on page 2755, line 7, it appears to me that an amendment is necessary in the sentence, "Any building of the referred." I suggest that the words "of the" be stricken out.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BURNS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 1, line 7, on page 2755(by striking out the words "of the"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be made in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The amendment being merely a strike-out, the bill is before the House for consideration.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 934 (Senate Bill No. 438,) as follows:

An Act to empower cities of the third class to establish a firemen's pension fund to take property in trust therefor and regulating and providing for the regulation of the same

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the several cities of the third class of this Commonwealth incorporated by general or special laws shall have power to establish by ordinance a firemen's penson fund to be maintained by an equal and proportionate monthly charge against each member of the fire department which shall not exceed annually three per centum of the pay of such member which fund shall be under the direction of councils or committed to the direction of such officers of the city as may be designated by councils and applied under such regulations as councils may by ordinance prescribe for the benefit of such members of the fire department as shall receive honorable discharge therefrom by reason of age or disability and the families of such as may be injured or killed in the service but such allowances as shall be made to those who are retired by reason of the disabilities of age shall be in conformity with a uniform scale

Such ordinance may prescribe a minimum period of service not less than twenty years after which members of the department may be retired from active duty and such members as retired shall be subject to service from time to time as a firemen's reserve until unfitted for such service when they may be finally discharged by reason of age or disability

Payments made under the provision of this section shall not be a charge of any other fund in the treasury of the city or under its control save the firemen's pension fund herein provided for The basis of the apportionment of the pension shall be determined by the rate of the monthly pay of the member at the date of death honorable discharge or retirement and shall not in any case exceed in any year one-half the annual pay of such member computed at such monthly rate

Section 2 It shall be competent for any such city to take by gift grant device or bequest any money or property real personal or mixed in trust for the benefit of such pension fund and the care management investment and disposal of such trust funds or property shall be vested in such officer or officers of such city for the time being as the said city may designate and such care management and disposal shall likewise be directed by ordinance and the said trust funds shall be governed thereby subject to such directions not inconsistent therewith as the donors of such funds and property may prescribe

Section 3 Whenever any person shall become entitled to receive a benefit from the firemen's pension fund and shall have been admitted to participate therein he shall not be deprived of his right to an equal and proportionate participation therein upon the basis upon which he first became entitled thereto save from one or more of the following cases that is to say conviction of a crime or misdemeanor becoming an habitual drunkard becoming a non-resident of the State or failing to comply with same general regulation relating to the management of said fund which may be made by ordinance and which may provide that a failure to comply therewith shall terminate the right to participate in the pension fund after such due notice and hearing as shall be prescribed by ordinance

Section 4 That there may be paid to the organization or association constituting and having in charge the distribution of firemen's pension funds in every city of the third class one per centum of all city taxes collected by the city other than taxes levied to pay interest on or extinguish the debt of the municipality or any part thereof

Section 5 The organization herein mentioned shall consist only of such as is by city ordinance designated as the official and authorized organization or association to hold receive and distribute the funds or moneys for the purpose of pensioning the firemen of said cities

Section 6 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 160, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and sixty-eight) entitled "An act providing for the incorporation regulation and government of cities of the third class regulating nomination and election of municipal officers therein and repealing consolidating and extending existing laws in relation thereto" providing for the assessment and collection of taxes upon certain real estate of public service corporations be recommitted to the committee on corporations for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, is there any objection to having this bill placed on the postponed calendar?

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I have no objections to it being placed on the postponed calendar, except that if it is passed on the postponed calendar those who desire to be heard will not have any opportunity to be heard. It is a bill that, in fairness to the public service corporations of the state, should be considered at this time, when practically all public service corporations of the state are in financial distress, and I think they ought to be given an opportunity of presenting their case before a committee of the Senate, in order that relief may be afforded, if possible.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, has the Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, a request of that kind?

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I have.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 161, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the 27th day of June, 1913, (P. L. 568) entitled "An act providing for the incorporation, regulation and government of cities of the third class; regulating nomination and election of municipal officers therein; and repealing, consolidating, and extending existing laws, in relation thereto," as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL OVER IN ORDER.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 569, (House Bill No. 673), on third reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the repair by the county commissioners of bridges viaducts or subways carrying a public highway over or under any railroad street railway or other highway where a dispute exists between municipal authorities or between municipal authorities and public service corporations as to the responsibility for such repair and providing for the collection of the cost of such repairs and supervision of the work go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 634, entitled:

An Act repealing an act, approved the fifteenth day of May, Anno Domini, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, (P. L. 209), entitled "An act amending article six of an act, entitled 'An act for the government of cities of the second class,' approved the seventh day of March, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one, as amended by an amendatory act, approved the first day of April, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine, and as affected by an act, entitled 'An act providing a uniform rate of assessment and taxation for all real estate in cities of the second class,' approved the eleventh day of May, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven; by providing for the classification of real estate for purposes of taxation into two classes; to wit, the buildings on land, and the land exclusive of buildings, and by providing for the assessment of a less tax upon the buildings than upon the land exclusive of the buildings, in cities of the second class."

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—31.

Aron,	Donahue,	McConnell,	Sisson,

NAYS—8.

Barnes,	Gray,	Long,	Norton,
Barr.	Herron,	McClintock,	Woodward.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. PHIPPS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 643, on third reading, entitled:

An Act creating a Department of Game and Fish, charging the Department with the enforcement, administration and execution of laws heretofore enforced, administered and executed by or through the Department of Fisheries, and the Board of Game Commissioners; defining the powers and duties of the department and prescribing penalties; abolishing certain departments, boards, commissions and officers providing for the disposition of certain moneys now held by or hereafter paid to the State Treasurer under any statute the enforcement of which is by this act imposed on the department; and making appropriations.

be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of amendment.

BILL ON THIRD READING POSTPONED FOR PRESENT.

Mr. BARNES. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 462, on third reading, postponed for the present, entitled:

An Act to provide separate accommodations for women jurors at the several court houses

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. BARNES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend section 1, page 1, lines 7 and 8, by striking out the words "where necessary" and inserting in lieu thereof the words, "upon order of the court."

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

BILL ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 14, as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the fifth day of March one thousand nine hundred and six (Pamphlet Laws sixty-three) entitled "An act to provide for the personal registration of electors in cities of the third class of this Commonwealth to make such registration a condition of the right to vote in such cities and to provide penalties for the violation of its provisions" as amended by extending the provisions thereof so as to include the registration of electors in boroughs and townships

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the fifth day of March one thousand nine hundred and six (Pamphlet Laws sixty-three) entitled "An act to provide for the personal registration of electors in cities of the third class of this Commonwealth to make such registration a condition of the right to vote in such cities and to provide penalties for violation of its provisions" which as amended by section one of the act of June sixteenth one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws one thousand and fourteen) entitled "An act amending sections one four five and ten of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the personal registration of electors in cities of the third class of this Commonwealth to make such registration a condition of the right to vote in such cities and to provide penalties for violation of its provisions' approved the fifth day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and six and sections three seven and twelve of said act as amended by the act entitled 'An act amending sections three seven twelve and thirteen of an act entitled "An act to provide for the personal registration of electors in cities of the third class of this Commonwealth to make such registration a condition of the right to vote in such cities and to provide penalties for violation of its provisions" approved the fifth day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and six increasing the compensation of registrars in said cities and providing for an additional registration day' approved the twenty-fifth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven by further defining who may be appointed registrars increasing their terms of office changing the registration days and the form of register Providing further regulations for the registration of electors and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith" reads as follows

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the county commissioners of each county in which is located cities or a city of the third class shall not later than June fifteenth in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve and every fourth year thereafter appoint two registrars for each election precinct or ward to serve for a term of four years and until their successors are duly qualified The said registrars must be duly qualified electors of the precinct or ward for which they are appointed and must have been residents of the city in which said precinct or ward is situated for a period of two years before their said appointment and of the precinct or ward for one year immediately preceding the same They must be sober and judicious persons of good moral character able to read intelligently and to write legibly One of the said registrars shall be a member of the party polling the highest vote in excess of two per centum within the election precinct or ward at the last preceding presidential election for presidential elector and the other shall be a member of the party polling the next highest number of votes in excess of two per centum cast within the election precinct or ward at the last preceding presidential election for presidential elector It is the intent of this act that at all times the board of registrars shall be as nearly as may be evenly divided in political faith and therefore if it appears at any time by reason of a change in political affiliations or because of error in the appointment the board is not so evenly divided any ten electors of the district may file a petition with the county commissioners setting forth the facts and praying that the changed or erroneous appointments may be revoked and another appointment made instead The county commissioners shall grant a public hearing and if they find the facts to be as represented they shall give the relief asked for but no registrar shall be removed merely because his party at an election following his appointment has polled a less number of votes in the district than some other party No person who holds or is a candidate for a public office shall act as registrar

The county commissioners shall also be empowered to remove any of the said registrars for misconduct or malfeasance in office" is hereby further amended to read as follows

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, March 29, 1921.

The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler), in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Thou who livest in high heaven and rulest with a rod of iron that is guided with the tender heart of a father's love, look down, we beseech Thee, upon this sin-tossed world of ours and flood it with the sunlight of Thy blessing. And may it come unto all mankind irrespective of class and kind, even as they are ready and willing to receive the good gifts of heaven.

And we beseech Thee, that in this era of wars and the rumors of wars, opposition and strife and differences, that Thou wilt so overrule the machinations of men and bring about again the reign of law and order and usher in an era of good will and establish hearts in trust and confidence that the world may assume its proper and true course and bring about great and good things for mankind. And may it have upon us all the effect that we shall live with higher and holier and nobler thoughts and see larger and better purposes to live for, not that we would receive the honor and the glory, but that it might be all unto Thee, Thou who art the giver of every good and perfect gift. Amen.

Section 5 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ASBURY. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I know of no man who has a better right to call himself a Pennsylvanian than I. I was born and reared in Washington county of this State, as was my father before me, as was his father before him; as was my mother before me, as was her mother before her. As a boy I played, studied and fought with other boys of other races, and always in my sport and in school I was outnumbered twenty to one, yet in all my dealings, in all my youth, I never received from those other boys anything but justice and fair play. In the belief that Pennsylvania men are just Pennsylvania boys grown older, I come to you to-day asking for that same justice and fair play as men, that I received from Pennsylvania boys as boys. This Bill, House Bill 269, is designed to protect all persons, regardless of race or color, in their rights to the enjoyment of equal rights, equal enjoyment in public accommodation, entertainment, amusement and education.

In order that we may readily understand ourselves as to just why this bill is here and the necessity for its enactment into law, it may be necessary to go a little into the history of movements of this kind. After the country had existed for three-quarters of a century and the propositions that Abraham Lincoln made had been proved that this country could not exist half slave and half free, and after the attempt to have it exist half slave and half free had proved disastrous and resulted in the greatest civil war in the history of all mankind, the men who reconstructed this country, the men who wanted to build better the second time than was built the first time, in 1866, felt that there should go along with the three amendments to the Consitution, the Thirteenth, the Fourteenth and Fifteenth, a Civil Rights Bill, declaring the rights of all citizens in all this country. That bill was passed over the head of President Johnson by the Congress of the United States on March 1, 1866. That bill was fathered by the great Senator from Illinois, Senator Trumbell. In that Senate sat the great senator from Ohio, Benjamin Way; the great senator from Maine, Senator Fessenden; the great senator from Massachusetts, Henry Wilson, and greater than all, the great senator and lover of all mankind, Charles Sumner. In the House sat Sylvester Colfax, from Indiana; James G. Blaine from Maine and the best loved of all of them, Thaddeus Stevens of Pennsylvania. These men felt that hereafter there should be no question, there should be no more cause for strife, and they passed a bill in general terms which gave to all citizens of this country equal rights; but it was afterwards found that that bill was too general in its terms, and in the year 1875 the national Congress passed a bill very much in terms like the bill we have before us to-day. It was made specific because it was intended to cover every relation that one citizen might lawfully have with another. Fortunately or unfortunately in the year 1883, the Supreme Court of the United States decided that the national government had no right to enact a law on this subject, except as it pertained to the territories and the District of Columbia; that laws such as this, the right to enact laws such as this was part of the police powers of the states, part of those powers which the original states did not transfer to the to the government at the time of the adoption of the Constitution, and therefore, this whole question was relegated to the several states, each state to make its own law. Since that time Massachusetts has an equal rights law; Connecticut has an Equal Rights Law; Maine has an Equal Rights Law; Rhode Island has an Equal Rights Law; Ohio has an Equal Rights Law; Indiana has an Equal Rights Law; Illinois has an Equal Rights Law; and New York, New York has the identical law which we are now trying to have enacted. This bill, 269, is a copy, word for word, letter for letter, punctuation for punctuation, with the law now in existence in the state of New York and which has caused no trouble there, which meets with the approval of the people there. So we come to you to say that we think as Pennsylvanians that the passage of this law is our due, due because of our loyalty as citizens, due because of our usefulness in labor, due because of our valor in battle, for in all the wars of this country we have played a conspicuous part. Mr. Speaker, never have men gone to war like the colored soldier of Pennsylvania went in the late war. When the transports upon which they were carried to France swept out from New York harbor they went with the shrieks in their ears and the stench of burning flesh in their nostrils of the victims of the southern mobs, members of their own race who were being boiled in oil, burned at the stake and lynched on the gibbet, and yet they stood loyal and true when they crossed the water. When they got there and got to the front, what did they find? The German aeroplanes were flying over them day after day and dropping propaganda like this: "There were, week before last, three negroes burned in oil in Texas. The Germans never did anything like that. Then why come here for a people like that and fight us? There was, about a week ago, a colored woman lynched in Tennessee, and her unborn child was lynched with her. The Germans never did anything like that. Then why come here and fight us for a people like that?

There were two men, three men or four men hanged in Georgia because one of them happened to call a white man a liar. Why do you come here to fight for men like that?" and yet under the stress of war time under those circumstances, those men fought valiantly and they came home with a good record. What do they find when they come home to Pennsylvania? If a soldier with one limb was waiting in Philadelphia between trains and if he would see an advertisement that there was a moving picture house down on Market street in which they were showing a film and in which they depicted the action of the very company to which he belonged over in France and if he stumbled down to that picture house wounded, lamed, disabled, they would tell him, "You cannot come in here because you are a colored man." He would go to another picture house and they would tell him, "You cannot come in here." He would go to another one and they would say to him, "You must go to the gallery." He would say, "I have but one leg; my other leg lies in Flanders Field." Nothwithstanding that he would be told, "You must go to the gallery; if you cannot go there, go out." He might say, "I was gassed; I am partially blind; I would like to have a seat in the front of the house, as I won't be able to see from where you want me to go," and yet they will tell him, "I don't care where you can go, whether you are blind or not; people of your kind must sit in the dark corner up there or go out."

If he could come to Harrisburg or go to Pittsburgh, as I have been, in the middle of the night and have no friend to take him in while waiting between train time, what would he have to do? He would have to go to the Pennsylvania Railroad station and sit up all night. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of this House, I cannot and I do not believe that this condition represents the heart and the conscience of the manhood of Pennsylvania. I will not believe it until you say so by your vote. I know a man in Philadelphia who a few years ago took his son by the hand and on every fourth of July he went down to Independence Hall, because he would have the boy hear the speeches made there. He would tell him the story of our independence; he would tell him of the flag that protected the American at home and abroad; he would tell him that he must protect that flag with his life, and yet on one fourth of July when returning from Independence Hall he stopped in a place to buy the boy a glass of soda water and the Greek, in charge of that place who could not speak English and who could never see what the flag meant, said, "We do not serve negroes here." That boy with his head bowed walked along four or five squares and then he said to his father, "Father, don't that flag protect me?" The father made an excuse and said, "Yes, but this was an ignorant man and did not know what he was talking about." However, that father never took that boy to Independence Hall again. Gentlemen, I know what I am talking about because that boy was my boy and I was his father.

Just the other day it happened that some of the members of this House were invited to the opening of a theater in Philadelphia, called the Stanley, at 19th and Market streets. Whether intentional or unintentional, as a member of this House, I happened to be invited. My seat called for row six in the parquet. When I got there the usher said to me, "In the gallery." I supposed that there was a row in the gallery marked six as well as in the parquet, and I went there in an orderly manner, without a protest. When I got there the usher looked at my ticket, looked at me, laughed in my face and said, "There is your seat up there"—pointing to the rear of the gallery. That location looked more like row thirty-six than row six, but he said, "That is the row for you." I took my check and walked out. If I had paid my way in there I might have made a protest, but when a guest is insulted in a public place like that, there is nothing left for him to do but to go home, and I came home in view of that situation.

I want to appeal to you men; it is not because of the act that was done to me or of any humiliation that I may have received as a member of the Legislature, but it is the situation of the general conduct of subordinates; the idea that permeates the body politic to the effect that anything you do to a colored man he will accept, and if he is not inclined to accept it he has got to, and against that idea is what we are here to fight for to-day.

Now, who are these people that are asking for the adoption of this bill? They are a people with a population of four millions in this country fifty years ago and today are a population of twelve millions. They are people whose percentage of literacy fifty years ago was three per cent. and today it is seventy-eight per cent. They are a people whose advancement in fifty years has never been equaled in the history of the world. They are a people who have been true and loyal in all the relations of life. There they sit; there they are, clean living law abiding decent Christian citizens, one hundred per cent. American, knocking at the door for civil equality and asking to be admitted to the brotherhood of man. Shall they ask in vain, is the question that you must answer today by your vote? How I wish today that all men could see this question as I see it. It is not a question of faction; it is not question of party. It is bigger than faction; it is bigger than party; it is a question of humanity, and the very bill which we are asking you to enact into a law in Pennsylvania to-day is the bill drawn up and adopted by a democratic legislature in New York, signed by a Democratic Governor. Can Republican Pennsylvania do less? This is not a question to be played with; this is a question that means to remove all barriers from the solidarity of this nation; that is what it means. This bill is designed to make it possible that every man may meet every other man in the ordinary daily walks of life and so that he will not be surprised to see him anywhere; so that he will get used to him, so that name "American Citizen" may mean what it says that he may live in peace and comfort and present a solid front to the enemies of our nation. I wish so much for just ten minutes of that grand old man Thaddeus Stevens who has been called to his fathers. If we could hear his clarion voice once more this discussion would be lifted out of the common place, it would be lifted to a plane where it belongs, but unfortunately that man, that lover of the common people and the father of the common schools has gone to that bourne from which no traveler returns. But I want to say that I am glad to be able to say that the Republican party today I believe all factional lines in the support of this bill have been obliterated. I am informed and believe that in Pennsylvania as in New York the leading members of the Democratic party believe that this justice should be done to the race.

On the ninth of March in an article from the pen of one of the foremost Democrats in this State, Judge James Gay Gordon, we find the following: "A democracy is the most altruistic of all the nations and the promotion of equality is its ultimate ideal. This equality relates not only to political rights but to the enjoyment of the temporal advantages and benefits of civilization." Mr. Speaker and gentlemen, that is what we are asking for here today, the benefits and enjoyment of the temporal advantages of civilization.

But yesterday in the City of Washington the Honorable Boise Penrose though ailing, was well enough to grant an interview and send out to his friends in this State what his beliefs are and what he desires them to do. I want to read these words to this House, they are illuminating, they are full of pith, and they bespeak the heart of a man and a statesman: "I see no reason why the negro man or negro woman should not be able to obtain a cup of coffee at Childs, if they want to, or for that matter to go to hotels, cafes, restaurants or other public places frequented by white persons, The time has long since past when there should be any discrimination or oppression towards our negro citizens. They are free men under the Constitution, and I believe they are entitled to full commercial and political freedom, and especially in regard to public accommodations and utilities. I am glad to be able to use what influence I possess in Harrisburg to secure the passage of the equal rights bill which has been hanging fire too long. It should be passed. I am glad to assist the men and women of the negro race to remove the inequality and discrimination to which they are now subjected." Thus speaks the senior Senator from the State of Pennsylvania. And so busy as he has been for a year past making speeches and upholding this man and that man as our own beloved Senator Vare, who is a man whose word is his bond, and no man ever knew him to lie in a political matter, we want to thank him in his efforts in behalf of this bill. We want to thank Senator Leslie in behalf of this bill. We want to thank Senator Oliver. We want to thank Senator Crow. We want to thank Lieutenant Governor Beidleman, and we want to thank in advance that man who sits in there with pen already dipped and poised to sign this bill if it comes through these two Houses.

Two months ago Representative Kahn, Chairman of the Military Committee of the House of Representatives in Washington, said that the American nation has not one single friend among the larger nations of the world. A few days afterward General Dawes, of Illinois, in his testimony before that Committee said that the next war would come over night, and just two weeks ago the New York Tribune published an article by an English scholar, traveler and statesman who had just visited this country, who said that in case of a war between America and one of our near Eastern neighbors that the American negro would take sides against America. He did not know the American negro. We want all America to know that the old order has changed. We want all America to know that we are asking for, nay contending for our manhood rights, but we want the whole world to know that the enemies of this country are our enemies be they white, yellow or brown. And if so it be that the next war shall come over night you will find us even as you found us in the past early the next morning, an hour before the sun rises with old Glory floating over us and our rifles in our hands.

Mr. Speaker in the name of the Negro Slave Crispus Attucks who first struck the shackles from his hands in the War of Independence in the streets of Boston; in the name of Peter Salem, the Negro soldier who slew the British General Pitcairn and turned the tide of battle at Bunker Hill; in the name of the soldiers who were with Perry on Lake Erie and changed the face of the War of 1812; in the name of those heroes who in New Orleans, to whom Jackson gave the credit for saving that city; in the name of the three hundred thousand who went to war during the Rebellion who fought and bled, and died at Pillow, at Missionary Ridge, at Petersburg, in Libby Prison, at Olustree in Florida, in the name of those black heroes who came to the rescue of the Rough Riders and their beloved Colonel, Theodore Roosevelt, and swept up San Juan Hill and carried the American flag to victory; in the name of the men who crossed the ocean, whose blood is mingled with the waters of the Marne, and whose bones are bleaching in the Forest of the Argonne; in the name of a patriotism and a manhood that stretches from Boston Commons to the banks of the Rhine, I urge the passage of this bill.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, it is rather hard to follow as good a speech as was made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Asbury. However, gentlemen, there are just two questions for us to consider in this bill to-day, the moral and legal questions. If you will recall, when the Declaration of Independence was declared, the second article of the Declaration of Independence, which reads as follows: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness,"—gentlemen, isn't it true that the framers of the Declaration of Independence foresaw the mixed population that we were to have in these United States, and especially in Pennsylvania? Wasn't it true that they foresaw that every man should have an equal right in governmental affairs? Hasn't that been proven to our entire satisfaction, both by the Declaration of Independence and the Preamble to the Constitution of the United States, which says, "We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and posterity," that did not mean exactly the English-speaking people, the white race, but all people. "We the people of the United States" means everybody that goes to make up this great government of ours, regardless of color, race or previous condition of servitude. All our laws are based upon that fact; all our procedures are based on the fundamental principle that all men are created free and equal and shall enjoy certain inalienable rights. That applies to all of those people that come here, not only the colored people but every race that comes into the State of Pennsylvania asking for their rights. Isn't it a fact that they are entitled to that from an educational standpoint?

The next question for us is the moral side of this issue. Gentlemen of the House, the Savior of all mankind, after he had been crucified and raised from the dead, the last thing he said to the people then was, "Go ye forth and teach all nations, baptise them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit; teach them to do all things whatsoever I have commanded you." The Savior of mankind did not say to go out to a certain class of people and teach them these things. He said, "Go ye forth unto all nations and teach all men." Gentlemen of the House, the Savior of mankind has taught us that we are brothers, one with another. Even if we don't speak the same language, if we don't have the same color and the same habits, nevertheless, on that last great day, we have got to stand side by side and answer with them. It is the moral question that should concern you and me. There is nothing in this bill to hurt us. We stand side by side with these two gentlemen who have been elected to the membership of this House, and we are proud that they can stand up and enlighten us on these facts. Why are we unwilling to go down to the restaurant and sit side by side with them and eat our meals? There is nothing in this bill that we should be ashamed of. Gentlemen, let me appeal to you once more that the moral side is the side to be considered. We are here as legislators sworn to do our duty, but until we shall do that by our own act, we are not worthy of the name.

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, this is Eastertime, the anniversary of the ascension of Jesus Christ to the right hand of God, the Father Almighty, Maker of all things, the Judge of all men. Christ came to this world to save sinners, that the sins of men might be redeemed—not white men, not brown men or even yellow, or black men, but all men, whether living under the shadow of the equator, or on the burning sands of the Sahara, or on the frozen hills of the Arctic north. To God Almighty, the soul of one man is as important and as dear as that of another, whether his complexion is as black as eternal night or as fair as the lilies of Easter. If, in the sight of the Creator, men are equal, who, then, are the self-appointed judges to determine the status and establish the standing of men and people? Who says that "I am a better man than you" or "you are a better man than I?" What are the processes of reasoning, by what deductions are these conclusions arrived at, and by what standard are these measurements taken, or have you a standard in America? I know of none. Do you ask whether a man is one hundred per cent. American? Do you ask whether he believes in the Constitution of the United States? Do you ask whether he loves the flag and would die for it? Do you ask him whether or not he is living in a way that entities him to the respect of his neighbor, quietly, decently and properly, giving to his family comfort and to his children the opportunity for education such as his means will afford? If these are used as the standard, I am sure the negro would have every right to demand full citizenship in Pennsylvania and these United States of America.

Mr. Speaker, we are not asking you to give us something, we are asking you to pay us for services rendered, for value given. I do not think you can search the pages of history and find a more loyal citizen than the negro. In every war, as my distinguished colleague, Mr. Asbury, has enumerated, the negro has borne his part and borne it well. Do you realize that in this last war, with all the oppression and prejudice and opposition, the negro went to fight the same as any other man, because this is his country? I fail to see, Mr. Speaker, why these differences exist; why men are not judged according to their moral standard; why this idea or ideal does not prevail. In olden times standards were regulated by the application of the law of the survival of the fittest. The weak nations were compelled to bend the knee and bow before the rule of right, authority and victory. To-day all the races of America are living under this star spangled banner and why cannot we all live as a happy family, each man regarding the rights of the other man; each man giving unto the other all the rights and privileges that are justly and duly his? Mr. Speaker, I rest our case in the hands of these splendid representatives of this Commonwealth, knowing well that they will do justice to this bill and to these people who are seeking this opportunity for equality. I know the character of these men who are selected to represent their constituents here and of their particular fitness in discussing and deciding questions of this kind, and I have no fear for the passage of this bill. I am sure that they will be satisfied when they realize that they have given to a deserving people what is justly theirs and the consciousness of having done right will be theirs as a monument forever and forever.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I wish to say a word in support of this bill. We have within the confines of our city approximately 100,000 colored folks. I speak also as the uncle of a lad who went over to the other side as a major in a negro regiment, and he returned filled with delight because of the patriotism and loyalty and efficiency of that battalion which he had the honor to command. The object of this bill is wider than that which the gentlemen from Philadelphia, who have preceded, have covered. This bill does not merely apply to the negro. It applies to other races as as well. In the 1917 session we were attempting to correct one of these evils. It applies to other people than the Anglo-Saxon race. You and I know that there are those within our borders who are not of our Christian faith and who are not in their ancestry given the same privileges that we have been given and who have been differentiated on, but that is without rhyme or reason. The gentleman from Philadelphia who first spoke on this bill quoted in particular from that famous speech that President Lincoln made in front Knox College out in Illinois and those words are applicable to-day to any other country as well as to the United States; in fact, during the last war they were freely used by the four-minute men time and again. You remember Lincoln's words, that these states "cannot exist half slave and half free." Using that as a text the people of the United States passed the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments, but since then we have found that these amendments do not apply simply to the colored race but also to the men of other races. This bill has in its intention an effort to bring into the law of Pennsylvania the spirit of the amendments of the Federal constitution. I feel that the House is convinced that there is great merit in this contention. So it is the intention of the sponsor to apply the spirit of the Federal constitution; it is the intention to have the spirit of the Federal constitution written into the laws of the State of Pennsylvania. The gentleman from Philadelphia who spoke first on this bill has referred to a similar bill which has been adopted in the State of New York and which has been a part of their statutory law for the last four years. The records show that that bill has done no harm and that that bill has not been productive of race riots or any other kind of riot where the question of race prejudice might prevail. Therefore, I feel that we can, since we are almost of the same blood as the people of New York State, take the statement of my colleague from Philadelphia at its full value and realize that if this bill is adopted and becomes a law it will create no trouble between the races in the State of Pennsylvania.

There is also a practical side to this bill which is worthy of consideration. At this time I have the pleasure of seeing within this House my old leader in Philadelphia, the one who gave me my first start in the political arena of my home city, the Hon. William McCoach, of Philadelphia, who is the Republican leader of one of the largest and most densely populated wards in Philadelphia, the population being almost entirely composed of negroes, and he can tell you better than I ever could of the absolute loyalty of this people to the principles of the Republican party. I can also say to you from my short experience in political life, that in Philadelphia the negroes have always supported the Republican party come day, go day, and as a Republican I feel that we are justified in giving to these faithful adherents of the party those rights and privileges which will give them a chance to advance in life in this State just the same as our ancestors who left the old country and came here that they might advance not only their own good but their own posterity and for the good and prosperity of their children after them.

Mr. MAGILL. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. You have learned of the provisions of this bill and that it will bring certain privileges to the races under consideration. We have been edified by the addresses that have been thus far delivered. One gentleman has stated that the bill should be considered from the dual standard of legal and moral rights. It is not my purpose to speak at length, nor is it my purpose to champion or attack the bill, but I do believe that from the legal standpoint we should give it a little further consideration. I will confess my own dereliction so far as actual study of the bill is concerned, but I have discovered within the last hour that one provision of this bill, it seems to me is not what it should be. I see no reason why it should be desired and I feel very certain that neither the sponsor of the bill nor those who are back of the measure, those who hope to place it on the statute books, should favor section 2 on page 2. Our criminal custom is to consider one innocent until proven guilty, with the exception of a very few cases. If you read carefully section 2 on page 2 you will find that the whole burden of proof is placed on the accused: "The production of any written or printed communication, notice or advertisement, purporting to relate to any such place and to be made by any such persons being the owner lessee, proprietor, superintendent or manager thereof, shall be prima faciae evidence in any civil or criminal action that the same was authorized by such person." You can understand, those of you who are lawyers much more readily than I, that that could be very readily the source of a great deal of trouble, a great deal of annoyance, through pique, through a feeling of enmity, through a feeling of jealousy, not gentlemen of the House, on the part of those about us, in whose interest, whose special interest this bill has been introduced, but by a manager, an assistant manager or anyone in anyway associated with the business who might for some reason be angry with his employer, very readily after leaving that employment, could issue something purporting to relate to the place wherein he had been employed. I see no reason why in this particular bill we should change the method of procedure, throwing the burden of proof wholly upon one who may be absolutely innocent from the start, that he shall be prima facie guilty.

Hence Mr. Speaker, I move you that this bill, not for any other purpose more than that set forth, be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. Before the bill can be recommitted, it will be necessary to move to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading?

Mr. MAGILL. I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered?

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ASBURY. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether the gentleman who moved to reconsider this motion is an attorney or not, but I am utterly amazed at the argument that is here made. There is no change of legal procedure made in this bill. The section to which he refers, says that if any owner, manager or lessee of such a place publishes a statement, publishes over his own name that he does not intend to follow this law that should be prima facie evidence. That he does not intend to follow this law, what does that mean? That means that if a man publishes in the newspaper his intention not to follow this law, that I have to go and examine the newspaper producing the advertisement and then prove by somebody that knows his handwriting, that he authorized it, that is what it means. What chance would any man have to redress his wrongs if he had to go, whenever an advertisement appeared in the newspaper or appeared by circulation otherwise over his signature, if he had to go and get the printer where the advertisement was printed and the original paper and then prove by somebody that he did not know whose signature that was.

This law has been well tried and well seasoned. There can be no mistake about it, and then over and above all, a thing that I had not thought it necessary to mention, I will now mention. I want to ask this House who will be the judges, and will be the members of the jury that convict under this law. Do you suppose, does the gentleman from Franklin suppose that any judge in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or any jury in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is going to permit me to take advantage of a citizen of this State of another race or another color. The thing is preposterous on its face. This law would be of no effect if we left that section out. If we left that section out that man who kept a public place of accommodation, amusement or entertainment or education might publish that he only entertained people of this race or of that race, and no man would be able to prove that he authorized it. That is prima facie evidence. But as a lawyer I am amazed that any man saying that this changes the legal procedure. I do not know how the gentleman voted the other day, but we had a bill the other day that presumed that if a man had a "bottle of milk" in his house it was prima facie evidence that he had not gotten it legally. I say "bottle of milk" for the sake of euphony.

There is more than one way of attacking a bill than the front way. The boys who were in France knew a flank attack when they saw it. The motion of the gentleman from Franklin is nothing more nor less than effort to defeat this bill. That is all. I want the friends of this bill on this floor to know that we understand, and we know what it means, and we are asking those who believe in this bill to vote down this motion to reconsider and let us pass the bill, all of us one hundred per cent. Americans for other Americans who are one hundred per cent.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following: Messrs. Dunn, James A. Walker, Lafferty, Asbury, Stevens, Conner, Dawson, McOwen, Heffernan, Haws, Edmonds, Phillips, Flynn, Franklin, Gelder, Howard Smith, Drinkhouse, Sowers, Eaches, Glass, and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question.

On the question,

Shall the main question be put.

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 524.

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 524, file folio 2319, entitled

An Act to further amend an act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws six hundred thirty-nine) the title of which as amended by an act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws twelve hundred twenty) reads Relating to the right to practice medicine and surgery in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and providing a Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure as a Bureau of the Department of Public Instruction; and means and methods whereby the right to practice medicine and surgery and any of its branches may be obtained, and exemptions therefrom; and providing for an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act; and providing for revocation or suspension of licenses given by said Bureau; and providing penalties for violation thereof, and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith, by amending sections three (3) and four (4) and five (5) and six (5) and twelve (12), by providing certain equivalents for preliminary education by omitting certain required published notices by re-constituting a quorum, by omitting second year examinations, by re-casting and extending terms on which reciprocity may be established and by clarifying the several sections.

was defeated on final passage on March 23rd, be reconsidered.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER announced the "nays" appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called, and eighty-nine gentlemen having voted in the affirmative and forty-two in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative, and the motion was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, there seems to be some misunderstanding in the minds of the men of this House as to the provisions of this bill. Some of them have confused it with the bill known as the Finegan Bill, House Bill No. 850. This bill bears no relation whatever to the Finegan Bill insofar as it relates to the taking into the practice of medicine any foreign cults of therapeutics. It only permits the State Board of Medical Licensure to grant an examination to a man or woman who for some reason has left the State. For example, if a man or woman is admitted to practice and possibly has gone into missionary work and has been over in Syria or some of those places for twenty or twenty-five years and then comes back to Pennsylvania and desires to practice in Pennsylvania, we all know that a man who has been out of school for twenty or twenty-five years—or a lady, if you please—and would be compelled to take a written examination on the fundamentals or advancements in medicine, it would be an utter impossibility for him to pass that examination. This act permits the State Board of Medical Licensure to take that individual, whether it be a man or woman, and give him a bedside examination and grant a certificate to practice. It gives the State Board the legal right to do that by law which is only a procedure or rule at the present time. I hope you will vote for this bill. It does not mean anything, only to those who have been out of the State and who want to come back into practice in the State of Pennsylvania. There is no harm in it at all.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING. (SPECIAL ORDER.)

The SPEAKER. The hour of 4.30 having arrived, the Chair lays before the House as a Special Order on Third Reading and Final Passage, House Bill No. 23, file folio 2407.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 23, entitled:

An Act to regulate the practice of Chiropractic and to create a Board of Chiropractic Examiners for the examination and licensing of Chiropractors defining the powers and duties of said Board and providing a penalty for violations of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. It is useless for me to-day to present to you any lengthy argument in support of this piece of legislation. The purpose of it is to legalize a profession that has advanced so rapidly in this Commonwealth and the work of which is being performed so well for the people of this Commonwealth that almost every person throughout this great State of ours understands it. They are asking to-day for protection, under the laws of this Commonwealth, for its practitioners as against the other states who are sending their so-called fakes into this State to take advantage of the opportunities offered in this State against those who are qualified by proper education to do this work.

When this bill was first introduced into this House, on January 23rd, there were fifteen states in these United States who had already approved of the law, giving these people the right to practice under a license. Since that time there have been five more states added to the list, which makes twenty states in these United States of ours who have already recognized the worth of the art and of the ability of the properly qualified practitioners to perform the work which they do. Therefore, we are coming to you after twenty years of work, for authority to practice this art in our State and we are asking now that they may be protected under the law by a license issued according to law, in the State of Pennsylvania, so that these so-called fakes and others who practice this art, without being properly prepared to do so shall be prevented from coming into the State of Pennsylvania, who are making our State a dumping-ground for that class of people to ply their profession as against the rights of those people who are properly educated up to a certain standard to perform their work. That is all they are coming here for; that is all they are asking; they are asking for authority to perform the work, and it is a wonder to many of us that such things can be done in the way of practicing an art in which they profess to practice. I have the highest regard for our medical profession. Many wonderful pieces of work have been accomplished by many doctors whom I know who are of the highest standard in this State that can be produced in this country and who perform their work in a manner that is a credit to themselves and makes them reputable and competent to perform their work and to practice their profession which they are licensed to do. We know for many years back that the medical profession were very careful to see that nobody transgressed on their grounds in which they perform their work. Each year from the year 1877, all that was required to get a medical diploma was a common school education and then they could enter college and take a certain course there and get their diploma. That minor education prevailed all along up until 1911 when they amended the act so that it required a standard four year high school course before they could obtain a license, as a preliminary education, to practice medicine in this Commonwealth, and therefore amended the act so that it would require various additional branches. It gave them the power, however not by law, to make rules and regulations to prosecute any person who would practice medicine or surgery in this great State of ours without a license. When any branch or so-called branch of the medical profession had so perfected their art or science that they could perform their work in this Commonwealth and practice on the people of this Commonwealth and were worthy of recognition, when they reached this degree of proficiency our medical bureau of education immediately would enter suit and bring them into the common pleas courts of the Commonwealth for practicing without a license. Instead of prosecuting them they were persecuted and thus these various professions suffered. I might state that in 1915 or 1917 they amended the act to make any minor branches, or members of such branches, for instance the optometrists who had been fighting for recognition, to place a standard on their qualifications to practice their art and they were brought before that bureau by a notice; they were told they must appear before the medical board for examination. Their work was, or had to do, with vision, fitting glasses, a sort of a mechanical art, but the medical bureau told them that they must come before them and take the medical examination for the purpose of getting the license before they could practice their art in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. These people felt that they were unjustly called before the medical bureau and immediately went into the courts of Philadelphia County and obtained an injunction against the medical board. The medical board then carried the case before the Supreme Court and the Supreme Court ruled that they were not a branch of the medical profession.

The injunction was granted by the lower court at that time. "In this particular case the plaintiffs, Martin and Hauseman, filed their Bill in Equity against the Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure of the Department of Public Instruction for (1) a declaration that the acts of 1911 and 1913, creating a Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure, do not apply to the profession of optometry;

(2) That, if the enacting clauses of said Acts do apply to optometrists, the Acts are unconstitutional as containing in their title no notice of the fact; (3) that under said Acts, the Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure had no authority to adopt regulations applying to optometrists; (4) for an injunction to restrain said Medical Bureau from proceeding with a system of examination and licensure of optometrists, as provided in the resolutions of the said Bureau adopted July 24th, 1914; (5) for an injunction restraining said Medical Bureau from enforcing any regulations upon optometrists as a prerequisite to the right to practice their profession in this Commonwealth under color of said Acts of Assembly.

This bill was filed on behalf of these two plaintiffs and any other optometrists who desired to join therein. Eighty-nine other optometrists joined in the bill as plaintiffs, and became parties thereto.

The defendants filed a demurrer to the bill on the ground that the sole object of the bill was to restrain the Bureau from instituting criminal prosecutions. This demurrer was overruled by the Court of Common Pleas on the ground that the object of the bill was not to restrain criminal prosecutions, but to prevent the adoption and enforcement of regulations affecting the practice of their profession (and therefore the property and rights of the plaintiffs) under an act, which, the plaintiffs alleged, did not justify such regulations, or, if it did so justify, was unconstitutional. The bill was therefore filed to protect the professions and property rights of the plaintiffs."

The judge at that time sustained the injunction to prevent these people from going under an examination, from going under a board for public regulation. That is the question, my friends.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, so that you may understand this judiciary bill, it makes no change in the present law at all, with the exception of making Columbia county a separate judicial district. That is the only change in the bill.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 972, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one two three four five six nine twelve and thirteen and to repeal section eleven of an act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and thirty-one) entitled "An act to encourage the breeding of horses to regulate the public service of stallions and jacks to prevent misrepresentation of same to require the licensing of stallions and jacks and to provide for the enforcement thereof"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 5, page 10, line 1, by striking out "accoun" and inserting in lieu thereof "account"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 97, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Commission of Soldiers' Orphan Schools of Pennsylvania for the payment of a deficiency in the appropriation and maintenance for the two fiscal years ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1921 — 124th of the General Assembly

Vol. 6. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 30, 1921. No. 37.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, March 30, 1921.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor Edward E. Beidleman) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Benjamin F. Bungard, offered the following prayer:

Oh Lord, we thank Thee for the beautiful and refreshing streams of sunshine this morning. We thank Thee for these beautiful flowers and messages of life and immortality they bring to us. We thank Thee for this token of appreciation, love and esteem for him in whose memory they are given this morning. Help us to remember that these flowers shall fade and decay, but we trust that the love that prompted their bringing shall never fade but will be like the morning sun, will grow warmer and purer until noon, and even after the sun has gone down that that spark of love will be rekindled and linger in this life. In yonder garden the harebell is wilting and dying and the morning sun will cause new garlands of morning glories in this life, but as men are toiling and moiling when fallen by the wayside, another is called to take the cross of the one fallen, and ere long the golden morn of an eternal day will break upon a humanity gathered home to God. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. SALUS, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

REPORT OF COMMISSION TO CODIFY AND REVISE LAWS RELATING TO BANKS, PRIVATE BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Mr. SNYDER presented the report of the Commission to Codify and Revise the Laws of the Commonwealth relating to Banks, Private Banks and Trust Companies.

(For report see appendix.)

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. EYRE, Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. EYRE, Mr. President, I ask the indulgence of the Senate for a very few minutes. Many years ago, when I first came to Harrisburg, there was in this Senate Chamber as a page boy a bright eyed, industrious and obliging boy, who sought every opportunity to please the members of the Senate and those who had business in the Senate. I have watched with interest the growth of that bright eyed boy and he has risen step by step from page boy in the Senate until he today occupies the exalted position of Secretary of this body. There has been no man in Pennsylvania whose progress has been more rapid; there is no man in the State of Pennsylvania who has a wider acquaintanceship; there is no man in Pennsylvania who is nearer and dearer to the hearts of the people in public life and those with whom he has been brought in contact. He is young in years but old and ripe in experience. The public affairs of Pennsylvania are at his fingers' ends in every direction and it is a great pleasure to me to have been selected by those who have been employed under him in the transcribing rooms of the Senate to offer to him upon this, the forty-seventh anniversary of his birth, this slight token as a remembrance of their appreciation for the many kindnesses he has bestowed upon them, and the thoughtfulness of the members of the transcribing room, I know, is shared by every member of this body, because when we want to know anything, or want any favors, there is one place we always go for that information and for those favors and where we are sure of securing the favors we seek, and that is to the Secretary of the Senate, and it is my great pleasure on the part of the Senate to extend felicitations best wishes and the hope for many happy returns of the day. This, Mr. Secretary, you will kindly receive as a token from your friends in the transcribing room of the Senate, and may your life be as fragrant as the flowers they have selected as their souvenir for you upon this occasion.

RESOLUTION EXTENDING CONGRATULATIONS TO MR. W. HARRY BAKER.

Mr. DAIX offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Whereas, the Honorable W. Harry Baker, omniscient, omnipotent and omnipresent Secretary of the Senate is to-day celebrating his birthday and

Whereas, the said W. Harry Baker, the essence of diplomacy, tact and ever thoughtfulness, has endeared himself to the members of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Be It Therefore Resolved, that we the members of the Senate, extend to him our heartiest congratulations and best wishes for his present and future happiness.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. DAIX, Mr. President, I feel inadequate on my part after listening to the words of Senator Eyre. I can only say in addition that if there is one thing in this life that makes life worth living, it is friendship, it is loyalty, it is truthfulness and honesty, and all those attributes are possessed by the man that we are honoring here this morning, and I have often felt in this world of ours that if we had just a little bit more of human sympathy, just a little bit more of human love, just a little bit more of human fellowship, how much better this world would be and if I had my way of planning the future life of Harry Baker I would want him to sail down the stream of life in a human bark of love. I would like that stream to be a stream of life, I would like the winds that blow upon the sails that carry him on to be the winds of human sympathy; I would like everything that makes life worth living to be his, and at sunset, which comes to us all—may it be a long, long, way off for him,—and when it comes to us in after life, may we look back and say that we have had contact in life with one man who typified everything that a man should be. In conclusion I want to say, "Riches take wings; comforts vanish; hope withers away, but love stays with us because love is God, and may the love of friendship and the love of God stay with us all," and with Harry Baker now and forever.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Mr. W. HARRY BAKER. Mr. President and friends: There is no person who appreciates more than I do the many kind remarks that have been made about me. If I have, in going through life, assisted in any way at all, I am sure it was a great pleasure. I want to express my personal thanks and appreciation to the boys in the transcribing room and the rest of the folks who contributed for these magnificent flowers. I shall keep them as long as I possibly can. Their fragrance will die, but the spirit that prompted their sending will live with me forever. I again thank you for your kindness.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. SISSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SISSON, from the Committee on Education, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 615 (House Bill No. 748), entitled:

An Act to amend section five hundred eight of an act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred an eleven, (P. Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SNYDER, from the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 672, (House Bill No. 665), entitled:

A supplement to an act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eight) entitled "An act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs and providing penalties for the violation thereof defining the words 'drug' and 'poison' and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality strength and purity" requiring permits to conduct pharmacies providing for the revocation thereof and prescribing penalties

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SMITH, from the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 705, (House Bill No. 400), entitled:

An Act prohibiting advertisements of cures or medicines relating to venereal diseases and certain sexual disorders and prescribing the penalties.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. VARE, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 675, (House Bill No. 818), entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the twenty-sixth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five (P. L. 309), entitled "An act relating to damages for injuries producing death," by extending the provisions thereof to brothers and sisters.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, March 30, 1921.

The House met at 11 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler), in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Lord of Life, we think of Him who stands beside the bier of his departed mother, and it makes us mindful of her through whom we received our first earthly blessing: whose parental love goes with us all our days, who enters into the vale that we may enter into life, and at whose knees we found our first altar and lisped our baby prayers. To-day, she who is last to accuse and first to forgive, and always ready to defend; she who labors at all times without recompense or reward, and watches not the hours that are paid in order that she may serve those that love—the mother who has made us what we are and to whom to-day we stand convicted for many unfilled pledges and many broken vows, grant that there may be none so debased as to despise and may there be none so ungrateful as to forget.

Lord God, bless Thou all the mothers of the land, and may these guardian angels of our home receive strength from heaven and recognition from earth. We ask it in Thy name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. After the activity begun some time after sundown on Monday night and ending within but a few moments ago I doubt whether I need to take much of your time in discussing this bill. I doubt whether there are many men in this House who do not have confidence in the merit of this measure, and I don't doubt but what there are many men in this House now who would rather be elsewhere than to vote against this measure.

Gentlemen, we Pennsylvanians have much to be proud of. We have to boast of the richest state in the Union, from the point of view of natural resources. Pennsylvania stands high in industry, in commerce, in the sciences and in art, but Pennsylvania must humbly bow to twenty other states of this Union on the question of education. That condition, gentlemen, has a bearing on the subject that you are about to consider. The very reason that brings this bill before you, gentlemen of the House, is why Pennsylvania, instead of ranking among the first states of the Union in education, must, in shame, take her place at present as Number Twenty-one. Since the day that the illustrious Thaddeus Stevens made his speech upon the floor of the House of Representatives here, in 1835, when the free schools were guaranteed to Pennsylvania, down to 1911, when the school code of this State was enacted into law, we have from time to time had occasion to change the laws of this Commonwealth as they related to education. Changed conditions, changed circumstances, always bring about a change of laws. During this very session, gentlemen of the House, we are engaged for the most part in developing a constructive program for education. I submit to you that this measure will fit most worthily into the constructive policy on education which will be submitted to you by that able leader in education, Dr. Finegan.

The city of Philadelphia, in population, represents approximately one-fourth of this great Commonwealth. The condition and the standard of education in the city of Philadelphia directly affects the standard of education in the State of Pennsylvania. Gentlemen, that brings me to the bill now before you for consideration. In the first place, with all the sincerity that I have within me, let me assure you, gentlemen, that this bill does not emanate from me with any personal antipathy or feeling of malice toward any member of the present Board of Education, in Philadelphia. For the most part the Board of Education in Philadelphia is composed of venerable, respectable and honest men in all walks of life. But, gentlemen, I submit to you, no matter how respectable, no matter how efficient, no matter how honest these men may be, in a system that does not work they cannot give you the results that you are entitled to. This bill, gentlemen of the House, is not a ripper. Rippers come usually in bad grace before a legislative body, but gentlemen, if you have read the bill you will notice that under its terms the board of judges in the city of Philadelphia will retain the right to appoint five men. These five men may be, as you well know likely are to be appointed out of the present Board of Education. In Philadelphia today we have a Board of Education of fifteen members appointed by the Board of Judges. They sit for a term of six years. That body of fifteen men is divided into seven or eight committees. Obviously, you can see at a glance that a body as large as this is divided into committees as it cannot function as it could were it a smaller body. No single man on that board, with the exception of possibly one, knows everything that goes on in that board. The people of Philadelphia cannot know what goes on in that board because, gentlemen of the House, the important work of the board is not done as a Committee of the Whole; it is done in star chamber proceedings, in the small sub-committees and when reported passes with a formality that would stagger one. Because, gentlemen of the House, of the long term of service of several members of the Board of Education of Philadelphia, it has come to pass that that board is owned, operated and controlled by its chairman and one or two others. They sit as an autocratic body, far away from the people, irresponsible to the people and without regard for the people of Philadelphia. I voice not my own sentiment in this statement; I voice the sentiment of many of the people in Philadelphia; many who have complained and many who continue to complain. These words may be idle and you may ask for instances wherein this board has failed and I will answer you: The Act of 1911, known as the School Code, gave unto this body the right to levy taxes of six mills, but knowing it as an appointive body it could with little grace assess any taxes and it feared to levy the limit and instead of doing so levied but five mills, and the result is that for a period of five years this board was conscious of the fact that the school buildings and the school administration was slipping; conscious of the fact that with every year it was losing one mill on every dollar of taxable real estate, it went on and under that operation lost to itself from seven to eight million dollars. This board, gentlemen, usurps at every instance and at every opportunity the administrative function of its high salaried superintendent. Glance for a moment through its rules and regulations: You will find it under and subject to the direction of the Board of Education on the minutest educational questions, without limitation, and such a board cannot function on all subjects. It is the function, as I understand it, of a board of education to formulate a policy and procure work to be done and not to meddle with educational matters. Its function is to legislate and it must leave to the educational administration, to the high salaried experts who have given up their lives to become so in their work, to attend to the educational matters. The board has failed to accommodate many of the children who have applied for admission in the Philadelphia schools. Today we in Philadelphia have thirty-two thousand children on half time. This board has failed when by legislative enactment it was given power to so do to sell bonds to pay the school teachers of Philadelphia a living wage. This board has failed to co-operate with the demand of public sentiment of Philadelphia in a school survey and only after vigorous protest by the people of Philadelphia and through the pressure of our Dr. Finegan, was the survey set in motion. This board having had notice six months in advance that its superintendent would resign, paid no attention to the choice of a successor, but worse than that, after the resignation had gone into effect went on for months and months—fourteen months—before it saw fit to choose a superintendent, and then gentlemen, so much factionalism evidenced itself in that board that it would refuse to give to its superintendent the unanimous evidence of co-operation to which he naturally was entitled. I could go on men at length, for hours, and recite to you instances wherein this board has failed, and failed not on unimportant matters, not on matters that did not effect the education and welfare of the children, but on matters that touched vitally the standard of education in Philadelphia, and necessarily the standard of education in Pennsylvania. Does not it appeal to you gentlemen as being unfair that an appointive body such as this should have the right to levy taxes? Does it not to the lawyers of this House appear contrary to the law and traditions, customs and institutions of this great country that any appointive body should levy taxes. Gentlemen, from 1916 down to this year the board of education of the City of Philadelphia has levied taxes to the amount of fifty-six million dollars. Ought they not to be directly accountable to the people of Philadelphia? Should not the people of Philadelphia have the right to elect a body that levies taxes as this does?

And there is, gentlemen, another important question. Those who probably know better than I because they are older, tell me that twenty years ago in Philadelphia the judges of our Common Pleas Court were respected and held in such reverence as they were worthy of. These same men tell me, and I am conscience of it, that today in Philadelphia the board of judges are not held in the same esteem and respect, not gentlemen because they are not worthy of it, but because this Legislature has fastened on them certain extra judicial appointments, appointments that have nothing to do with their office, the Board of Education and the Board of Revision of Taxes. Gentlemen, if for no other reason than to restore to these judges the respect and honor they are entitled to, if for every other reason you vote against this bill, then for that reason alone you should vote for it.

The advantages of this bill, gentlemen, are these: Firstly, it will reduce the size of the Board of Education. Wherever small boards are now in operation, we hear they work efficiently, that they work without division and that they work without delay. Most of the big cities of the United States, New York, Boston, St. Louis, Detroit and others, use and have in operation the small board of education, and comment on it with unanimous favor. Do you believe when I tell you that there are only three cities in the United States that have appointive board in operation, and that of those three cities this magnificent State of Pennsylvania contributes two, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. The other being Washington, D. C. Boston, St. Louis and New York have the elective boards and there we are told it functions well. You may have brought yourselves to believe, gentlemen of the House, that the Board of Education might be thrown into politics if we make it elective in Philadelphia, and in answer to that gentlemen of the House I say that the Board of Education in Philadelphia today is in politics. It is kept in politics gentlemen of the House, through bounty and through the threat and reprisals, because gentlemen of the House, the chairman of the Board of Education in Philadelphia, is the chairman of the Board of Revision of Taxes in Philadelphia, and as such he has within his gift seventy jobs of four thousand dollars each besides many clerkships. His lobby, gentlemen of the House has staggered me and probably has staggered you. I am sorry that I must say this because you may believe, but you must not believe, that with me this is a personal matter. It is not. For three solid days now since the postponement of this bill on Monday night, the chairman of the Board of Education, that dual office holder, who too holds the chairmanship of the Board of Revision of Taxes has had his men at work, not because of the Board of Education, gentlemen of the House, but only because of his chairmanship in the Board of Revision of Taxes. I realize gentlemen that this is not easy fight; I realize that I have got to break down old friendships, but gentlemen of the House this is a matter of education not a matter of old friendships and not a matter of politics. Might I say if this chairman and his colleagues, for you hear nothing from his colleagues, is so conscious of the fact that his work has been well done why then should he not be confident under the terms of this bill that he will receive the honorable re-appointment from the board of judges. After all gentlemen, the schools of Philadelphia do not belong to the politicians, the schools of Philadelphia do not belong to the chairman of the Board of Education, the schools of Philadelphia, belong to the people of Philadelphia, and this bill will return them to the people of Philadelphia. You men out of Philadelphia have had here session in and session out evidences of factional fights in Philadelphia, but there is not a man here be he from Philadelphia or not who does not have confidence in the electorate of Philadelphia. There is not a man in this House who will say that if the people of Philadelphia were given a chance to elect their own board of education that they would not do it wisely and discretely and fully conscious of the important questions that may result from an error. You will be mindful too, gentlemen of the House, that the women folk of Philadelphia will have something to say about the members on the Board of Education. The women folk who being closer to their children are probably closer to the schools than the men and it is upon them on whom you can depend if it comes to a question of the election of this Board of Education.

You may ask yourselves who in Philadelphia is for this bill, and I answer many. The United Business Men's Associations, composed of sixty-seven business men's associations from the various corners of the city representing some twenty-five or thirty thousand men are interested in this bill. The Allied Patriotic Societies of America, composed of some eleven allied patriotic societies with a membership of about fifty-five thousand men are interested in this bill.

You men have received and I am glad to say that I have the honor to have received various telegrams today from representative citizens of Philadelphia, and especially one from a man well known throughout the breadth of this State, George Wharton Pepper. You men have probably received this telegram but for the purpose of getting it into the record I want you to indulge me and listen while I read it:

"The suggestion that a vote for House Bill 533 is a vote against the eminent and self sacrificing men who compose the Philadelphia Board of Public Education is an altogether groundless suggestion. These citizens have rendered a great public service under the handicap of a system which is itself fundamentally wrong. This bill provides for the reform of the system by a method entirely consistent with public appreciation of their faithful service. The principle for which I contend and which I earnestly urge upon your consideration is the principle that those who control public education ought to be directly responsible to the people. The election of a School Board at large by popular vote would mark the dawning of a new day in the life of this community. Your vote for this bill will hasten a reform which must come sooner or later and had better come now."

Gentlemen of the House, if this bill does not pass today it is not because there is no sentiment for it. If this bill does not pass today, it is not because that for which it stands is not fair and just and proper. If this bill does not pass today, it is not because you men in your hearts oppose it. If this bill does not pass today, it is because of that invidious influence of that thing, of that game, which the opponents of this bill say will threaten education if it goes through. I mean the game of politics. With all the earnestness and sincerity at my command, with all the consciousness of right against wrong, men of this House, and especially you men of Philadelphia, I ask you again and I appeal to you to consider this very important matter.

There is no man in this House a stronger party man than am I. There is no man in this House a better order man than am I. I honor and respect those men of our party who have gained their place at its top, but gentlemen of this House, I reserve unto myself at all times the right of personal opinion on questions of right or wrong, and I leave to my party leaders the right to tell me what is politicaliy expedient.

Gentlemen of the House, I ask you to approach this very important question from exactly the same angle. When I went through the House day after day, asking you to listen to my appeal for votes on this bill, almost to the man I got your approval and your promises. This morning at my desk I felt with shame that so many men should be called upon to come to me and ask to be released. Gentlemen, this is not a question of release; this is not a question of politics, it is a question of right or wrong, and if it is a question of politics then, gentlemen, with all your intelligence, you ought to vote for this bill. I ask you now to call upon your consciences that you may see the right of this question, that you may have the power and courage to follow the light of right, and vote for this bill. You should this morning help Philadelphia, and so help Pennsylvania. You should give Philadelphia an opportunity to take its place in education as it has taken its place in history, the first city of the land. If you will do this, gentlemen of the House, you will be assisting in a great way the educational standards of this Commonwealth.

Mr. JOSEPH MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I first of all will assure you that I am approaching this vital question, not from the standpoint of politics but from the standpoint of advisability,—whether or not it is a good thing or whether or not it is a bad thing. It seems to me that when some people's minds become imbued with a suspicion that something is wrong with one of our American institutions, they immediately descend upon the Legislature and ask it to pass a law or they ask it to amend one already in existence. They seem to care not at whom they strike their deadly blows, nor what government or management or principle of government or management they alter or abolish. It is a change that they want; it is a change that they must have to satisfy their hearts' desire. In this case, my friends, it is a desire to change the present method of selecting a very important functional body in the city of Philadelphia,—its present school board. We have many times been lured by the siren voice of promise upon the legislative rocks of error, when, my friends, they attempted or did pass the non-partisan act, making it impossible to elect a judge on any other ballot than the non-partisan ballot. We were told that would take the judges out of politics. My friends, it is needless for me to say that that has proven a fallacy, that instead of taking them out of politics it has made it necessary, when a man desires and aspires to the position of judge, to secure the assistance of an organization at his back, and if he has not that organization, then he must have a barrel of money to pay for his canvass. So that has proven a fallacy. Gentlemen, two years ago they passed a charter act which gave to the city of Philadelphia a new bill to govern itself. We were told that if they would pass that bill that we would have a class of men elected to the councils in the city of Philadelphia far in superiority to any that had preceded it. Gentlemen, I am here to say that was a fallacy. Some of the men who sat in the unpaid council are now sitting in the smaller councils, and I thank God that they are, because the work is now done by men of experience. I thank God that it has proven a fallacy.

This bill in its original form was what might be termed a ripper, with a one hundred per cent. horsepower. It came out on our calendar and was then recalled to the committee, and now it appears before you with another suit of clothes on it. It has lost thirty-three and one-third per cent. of its ripping power, but it still retains sixty-six and two-thirds per cent. If my friend's elective principle in this bill is right, then I say to you that to pass it would be to place upon our statute books a bill that is seventy per cent. wrong. If the principle of the appointive power is right, then your bill is still thirty per cent. wrong. How can anyone with intelligence ask anyone to vote for this bill and have any respect for his own intelligence? It is as if I were to ask you to lead a horse in different directions at the same time. There are conflicting elements in it. Gentlemen, we have worked under this act for the past ten years. Let me read to you the names of the men who formulated this school code: Nathan C. Schaeffer, Lancaster; G. M. Philips, West Chester; Martin G. Brumbaugh, Philadelphia; David B. Oliver, Allegheny; William Lauder, Riddlesburg; John S. Rillings, Erie; James M. Coughlin, Wilkes-Barre; men of undoubted ability and prudence, who no doubt brought to their task intelligence and vision far beyond the average and gave due and proper consideration to all the features that have since become part of the school system of our great city. Yet we find that someone believes there is a necessity for a change in its most vital principle—that which governs the selection of the membership of the Board of Education and its number.

Under the specious plea of bringing the Board of Education into close contact with the people, which I am not ready to concede this change would bring about, the bill aims to rip out of office some the fifteen present members of that board who were appointed by the judges of the Court of Common Pleas, and to reduce the number of members on the board to seven, two of whom are to be appointed for two years and three for four years, exactly as the fifteen are now appointed, and two are to be elected for six years, after which the entire seven are to be elected. This, my friends, is reform upon the installment plan.

If it is a good thing to have an elective system, why not make all the members elective and have it take effect at once. Why this compromise with an alleged evil? The elective feature of the bill is not a new thing, as up until 1869 there was an elective Board of Education, and from that time on has been made appointed, no doubt with a view of promoting greater efficiency. I am opposed to the elective feature of this bill, as well as a decrease in the membership of the board. I am firmly of the opinion that the education of our children is a matter of such vital importance to us all that its administrative officers should not be made subject to political changes, which no doubt would be communicated to the supervisors, principals and teaching staff.

This attempt to change the method of selection of the members of the board is an outgrowth of unjust and unwarranted attacks made upon some of the membership of this board, particularly those who have been characterized as too old and who it has been said have lost their mental power; are not governed by a proper spirit of progress and are unfit to fill the positions to which the judges have appointed them. My friends, my personal knowledge of some of these men leads me to speak with as much emphasis as possible in protest against such charges. I would that I had the intellect alert and unimpaired coupled with the rare intelligence and discretion that they possess at an age above the allotted years of man.

It cannot be successfully charged that the present board has failed to maintain and increase the efficiency of the schools by any act of omission or commission so far as its financial means would permit. I am informed that their building program for the year 1921 contemplates the construction of three elementary schools to cost $1,535,000, and an additional $500,000 to be expended to remodeling.

What does the Philadelphia school system lack that other large cities in our country possess? Has it not all the ear marks of a modern and up-to-date American School System? Well built and well-equipped schools, complete superintendence, numerous High Schools and Kindergartens, special schools for sub-normal children, medical attendance and school nurses, special classes for crippled children who are provided with transportation from and to their homes, open air classes for tubercular children, trade schools for boys and for girls, elementary manual training centers for boys and domestic economy centers for girls, supervised play grounds, athletic fields, luncheons supplied by trained dieticians at minimum cost, night schools of all kinds, school gardens, a saving fund system for the children and courses of study intended to meet the varied needs of all pupils.

In addition to these things, the board has from time to time raised the compensation of teachers until now the rate of pay is almost within hailing distance of the proposed Dr. Finegan schedule. If there is anything that the board has failed to do it has been the erection of new school buildings to meet the growing needs of the rapidly increasing population. Of course, the necessity for new buildings arises in the fact that our population is shifting constantly. Families who live in the center of the city migrate to the outer sections, and cause a demand for more schools, while the school houses in the central or old section of the city are depleted. This condition cannot be remedied, nor is there at any time sufficient funds to meet it adequately. Candor must compel admission of the fact that no board, elective or appointive, can provide for all the requirements of our highly organized school system unless it is given sufficient means. Mr. Speaker, I am not attempting to say that this Board of Education is perfection itself. We know the fraility of human nature and know that we have them and why not the Board of Education? In conclusion, I ask that this half-way piece of legislation be defeated, especially as it reflects upon the mentality, experience and wisdom of some of the members of the present Board of Education who have given ungrudgingly of their energy, intelligence and precious time. Some one has said: Republics are ungrateful. Can we place ourselves under this imputation by ungratefully and ruthlessly saying to these faithful men—you have been unfaithful to your trust; you no longer have our confidence, make way for some one else. These are the very kind of men that we need to fill these offices. They are men whose counsel is sought and accepted by those who know them best. Shame on their critics, who certainly know them not. I think you will not do this thing—you will not pass this bill.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, there is no measure that has come before this Assembly to which personally I have tried to give as much thought as I have to this. I have had a long and intimate relationship with the public schols of Philadelphia. I claim with a certain degree of satisfaction and pride that the gentleman from Philadelphia who introduced this bill is a former pupil of mine, and the gentleman from Philadelphia who opposed this bill is also one of my former pupils. I am a graduate of the public schools of Philadelphia. I taught for ten years in the public schools of Philadelphia and served for six years on the Board of Education under appointment of the court from the years 1905 to 1911, and therefore upon this subject I may claim to have perhaps a little bit less of ignorance than on some other subjects of legislation. Now in the twenty-five years that I have known the school system of Philadelphia intimately there have been a great many changes in the law governing the school system. In 1895 we had sectional boards in each ward of the city elected by the people; we had a central board of one from each ward named by the judges. The central board prescribed the qualifications of the teachers, the section board elected the teachers under those qualifications and the central board got its money by appropriation from the city council. In the first place there were three bodies, city council, the central board and the sectional boards all three of which had control of the schools. It did not work. There was a deadlock in the system. In 1905 the Legislature came to the relief of the city of Philadelphia, and passed an act whereby the sectional board had their powers taken away from them except insofar as they could visit and recommend. The central board was given the whole control over the schools and while appointed by the courts the councils levied the tax and appropriated the money for it, councils being required by the act to appropriate at least five million dollars to it. That act of 1905 stood for six years and was revised by the school code. When the school code came into operation Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were put in school districts of the first class with a central board to be appointed by the courts and that central board was given the authority to levy and lay all school taxes, and to borrow money for school purposes. I was at that time a member of the Board of Education and I said to my colleagues that in my judgment the moment they took the taxing power and put it in the hands of a school board just that moment the demand would come that school board should be elected by the people because the taxing power, the right to assess a tax upon the people of Philadelphia, the right to borrow money for Philadelphia are sovereign acts and they are only to be exercised by by the people through elective representatives. Taxation without representation—tyranny; taxation by a body not directly responsible to the people—unAmerican. I ask you gentlemen of the House if you went back to your own districts and proposed that the school directors should be chosen by some outside power, how would the people regard it? Would they regard it as a step in advance, or would they regard it as a step backward?

Now for my own part I do not want to get at this question from a point of criticism. The members of the Board of Education, many of them are former colleagues, the fifteen of them, or fourteen of them are men and one is a lady, for whom I have the very highest regard. They have worked as intelligently as they could under the system. It would be a far greater pleasure for me to say that they have done everything that they possibly could rather than to attack their work, but the fact of the matter is that there is in Philadelphia at the present time a great and increasing agitation against the present administration of school matters and it centers around these three propositions: That in the first place the indirect method of choice, appointment by the judges of a body that is to levy taxes is in itself undemocratic and unAmerican, and it takes the schools away from that intimate contact with the average man and woman that is one of the essentials for a successful public school system. There is no interest, my friends, that we have in this country which comes so close to me as the public schools. Now create a body and put in it angels, if you please, but let it be a body that is created by some outside authority and the people do not feel that they have that intimate touch with the management of the school system. That is one point of the telegram from that great statesman and wise leader of men, George Wharton Pepper. The whole idea that is in Mr. Pepper's mind is this, that in order to make the school popular with the people, the people themselves must come in contact with that school management. We must democratize the schools, not with a capital "D" with reference to any party, but with reference to a principle. They belong to the people, and we must bring them close to the people, and that is the reason why this change is urged at the present time by practically all of the societies and associations which have back of them the interest of the public schools in part. To my mind it is a logical step of development. It is not a movement in antagonism of any particular group. The members of the Board of Education need no defense so far as their personal integrity and character is concerned, it is rather a logical step forward which is bound to come after a ten years experience with the other systems. Think of it, at the present time here is a board which levies an annual tax and collects fourteen million dollars from the people of Philadelphia. Here is a board that has power to borrow and that debt has to be paid by the people of Philadelphia. Isn't it fair that that kind of a board should be responsible to the people of Philadelphia, and have that responsibility by popular election of the boards.

Now there is a second reason why as a Philadelphian I am in favor of this proposed change. The schools of Philadelphia are not in a good condition at the present time. I do not agree at all that we need to go into very many details about the system, it is there, but suffice it to say that are from twenty to thirty thousand children on half time. Now the best estimate that I have been able to get is that it will cost thirty million dollars to build the school buildings in Philadelphia which are necessary to get rid of part time, and it will take ten million dollars more to build the school buildings in Philadelphia which are necessary to get rid of the unsanitary and unhygenic and unsuitable buildings that we have now. That is forty million dollars for a school program. It is a tremendious program. The people of Philadelphia must understand that you cannot get a good article of education without being prepared to pay the bill. There are many advances such as this that can only be carried out by a board that has back of it the backing of the entire body politic, and in order to prepare the people for such heavy sacrifices as are involved, we have got to get to the entire body of the people and say to them this is your business to be carried out by your representatives, to be appointed, or by those which you choose, this is what has got to be done if we are going to get our schools in first class condition. My third argument is, that this bill—it is a little bit indirect but as a lawyer I cannot refrain from presenting it right here. We had a public hearing in Philadelphia. For three hours representatives from societies and associations appeared before us, and they were unanimous in asking for a small board, an elective board and then at the end of it some people opposed the proposition, some were teachers, some were ex-teachers, some were citizens, but so far as I know there was not a representative society that appeared in opposition to the plan, but there was one man who spoke at the end whose words I think ought to carry distinct weight with this Legislature, the Honorable Hampton L. Carson, for four years Attorney General of this Commonwealth, and Mr. Carson said: "While I am not in sympathy with an attack on the personel of the Board of Education, I say very frankly that the time has come to take the outside appointive power away from the judges." When the Constitutional Revision Commission sat here in Harrisburg only a little while ago, they unanimously agreed on that point, and their recommendation was that all outside patronage was to be taken away from the judges and the judges were to have no appointments except those that directly dealt with the administration of justice. That is not from the point of view that they do not know how to select them, but from the point of view that it is best for the judges that they should not have this outside patronage to dispense. We know that the board of judges in Philadelphia has approached this duty with a high sense of responsibility. I know that we have been able to get willing, capable men and always honest men to serve in that capacity, but I say that you are mixing the functions of government when you take from the people the right to select their institutions who levy taxes, and then give to the judges the power to name them. It is mixing the functions of government, and it is a bad principle, my friends. A system of government founded on a vicious principle cannot endure, no matter how respected may be the traditions back of it. My friend from Philadelphia is in error when he said that the people elected the school boards prior to 1867. The first school district, which is Philadelphia, has been in existence for one hundred and three years, and the people have never elected the members of the central board. At one time they were chosen by council, and at another time they were elected by the sectional boards but since 1867 they have been appointed by the courts. All of those methods which are indirect are wrong in principle. The right method is that public education, the finest of all education, and the most important duty that the State has upon it,—that public education should be brought as close to the people as possible. When it has so been done, you have got a system of which the people may eventually approve.

Mr. JOSEPH MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, with pleasure.

Mr. JOSEPH MARCUS. Mr. Edmonds, would you tell me what was your stand on the Code when the agitation was brought up in the city of Philadelphia for its passage.

Mr. EDMONDS. I was in favor of the passage of the code, but I said at that time that there was one defect in the School Code, namely, that it gave to an appointive body the power to levy taxes and I prophecied at that time that it would not be permanent.

Mr. JOSEPH MARCUS. Don't you think it is a rather round about way of putting the taxation power into the hands of the Board of Education by electing them, when you already have an elective body now that is responsible for the legislative administration in the city of Philadelphia? I speak of councils.

Mr. EDMONDS. No, because I have had experience with the way in which councils have appropriated money once in a while, but that question is not involved in this bill. It seems to me to be a mistake to have one legislative body appropriating to another. We should have the board in Philadelphia in harmony with those in other districts, where they have a school board that is elected.

Mr. JOSEPH MARCUS. Don't you think the school board would be just as close to the people if they had to come to councils for an appropriation?

Mr. EDMONDS. That didn't so turn out in the years prior to 1905. Now another thing: there were a great many cases in which money was appropriated to a favored purpose, which the board did not want, and of which it disapproved. There is a gentleman sitting on the floor of this House to-day, who sat in that body during the time to which I refer, and I feel sure that he will agree with me that the double method of handling this question was a poor method.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House had passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1051, (Senate Bill No. 396), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and seventy-nine) entitled "An act reorganizing the Attorney General's Department designating the officers and employes thereof and fixing their salaries and making an appropriation therefor to the end of the fiscal year."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, just a word in explanation of this bill. It provides an increase of certain salaries including three Deputy Attorney Generals, but this increase is taken care of by dispensing with one law clerk whose salary is $3,000 and a telegraph operator whose salary is $900. That makes a decrease of $3,900. This bill by providing an increase in the salary of the second Deputy Attorney General and the other Deputy Attorney Generals makes only an increase of $4,000, and then there is $100 added to the salary of the private secretary, so that the total increase in the department is $200.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Dithrich), permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, as I read the bill, the total increase after the deduction is $11,000.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, at the present time we have the First Deputy Attorney General whose salary is $7,500 per annum, two Deputy Attorneys General whose salaries shall be $6,000 each per annum, and three Deputy Attorneys General whose salaries shall be $5,000 each per annum. The total of these salaries under this amendment, instead of being $23,000 will be $27,000, making an increase of $4,000. That is offset by dispensing with one law clerk whose salary is $3,000 and one telegraph operator whose salary is $900.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, one Deputy Attorney General has a salary increase amounting to $1,000 a year, and two have an increase from $5,500 to $5,000, making a total increase of $4,000.

Mr. DITHRICH. That is right. Those who were receiving $3,500 shall now receive $5,000, while the other one has been increased $1,000.

Mr. ALEXANDER. There were three Deputy Attorneys General included in this increase. There are a total of five Deputy Attorneys General, and heretofore there were only three, and according to the figures that is an increase in the department of $11,000 in these two instances.

Mr. DITHRICH. I think I have made my position clear on the matter.

Mr. ALEXANDER. You will find $11,000 increase right in there and with the increase in the salary of the stenographer of $100; then there is an offset of $3,900 in dispensing with the law clerk and the telegraph operator, and that leaves a total increase of $7,200.

Mr. DITHRICH. I think the clearest way of presenting that is this: The salaries of the Attorney General and the First Deputy Attorney General are not changed in any way. There are a total of five deputy Attorneys General. At the present time their salaries amount to $23,000. Under this amendment, if the bill is passed, the salaries of these five Attorneys General would be $27,000, making an increase of $4,000, which is decreased $3,900 by dispensing with two other employes.

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 770 FROM GOVERNOR.

Mr. GOODNOUGH asked and obtained unanimous consent to introduce a resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to as follows:

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 770, entitled "An act to amend section two thousand seven hundred three of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws, three hundred nine) entitled 'An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue, and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith,'' be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. HESS asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up House Bill No. 893, Senate Bill No. 376, on page 4 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Hess.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 893 (Senate Bill No. 376), entitled:

An Act to amend Section 1 of an act approved the third day of May, one thousand nine hundred and nine (Pamphlet Laws, 417), entitled: "An act for the safety of persons from fire or panic, in certain buildings, not in cities of the first and second classes, by providing proper exits, fire escapes, fire extinguishers, and other preventives of fire; by vesting jurisdiction for the enforcement of this act in the department of Factory Inspection; and by providing proper penalties for any violations of the same," as amended.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, when this bill was before the House for consideration on Tuesday of last week I voted against the bill, and when I did so I voted under misapprehension, and I believe that a number of the members of the House also voted against this bill because of misapprehension because of the manner in which the language on page 5 of this bill is underscored. I was of the opinion that the bill was intended to make it mandatory to put in the floors of three story buildings above the first floor sprinklers, automatic fire alarms, and so forth, as provided in the bill. Now the fact with reference to this bill is that under the present law it is mandatory to do that, but the Department of Labor and Industry have not in all cases been enforcing the law, and this bill gives them the option to pass on each individual case and say whether or not it shall be done, in view of which I think the bill should be passed.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 259, as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the twentyfifth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and three) entitled "An act amending an act entitled 'A supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation of certain corporations' approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four so far as it relates to section thirty-seven relating to building and loan associations' approved June second one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one giving such associations the right when a series of stock has matured or when applications for loans by the stockholders thereof shall exceed the accumulations in the treasury to make temporary loans" so as to authorize such loans to the extent of thirty per centum

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and three) entitled "An act amending an act entitled 'A supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the incorporation of certain corporations' approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four so far as it relates to section thirty-seven relating to building and loan associations' approved June second one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one giving such associations the right when a series of stock has matured or when applications for loans by the stockholders thereof shall exceed the accumulations in the treasury to make temporary loans" which reads as follows

"That in addition to the corporate powers conferred on building and loan associations by the thirty-seventh section of the act of twenty-ninth April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four they shall have the right when a series of stock has matured or when applications for loans by the stockholders thereof shall exceed the accumulations in the treasury to make temporary loans of such sum or sums of money to meet such demands not exceeding in the aggregate of such loan at any one time twenty-five per centum of the withdrawal value of the stock issued by said association at a rate of interest less than six per centum and secure the payment of the same by interest bearing order note or bond as collateral said loans to be repaid out of the accumulations in the treasury as soon as sufficient is paid in and there is no demand therefor by borrowing stockholders" is hereby amended to read as follows

That in addition to the corporate powers conferred on building and loan associations by the thirty-seventh section of the act of twenty-ninth April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four they shall have the right when a series of stock has matured or when applications for loans by the stockholders thereof shall exceed the accumulations in the treasury to make temporary loans of such sum or sums of money to meet such demands not exceeding in the aggregate of such loan at any one time thirty per centum of the withdrawal value of the stock issued by said association at a rate of interest less than six per centum and secure the payment of the same by interest bearing order note or bond as collateral said bonds to be repaid out of the accumulations in the treasury as soon as sufficient is paid in and there is no demand therefor by borrowing stockholders

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to explain the purposes of the bill.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the law to-day relating to building and loan associations is that they have the power to borrow up to twenty-five per cent. of the withdrawal value of their stock. This bill was offered at the request of a number of building and loan association men in Philadelphia. The original bill called for a raise from twenty-five to fifty per cent. The bill was referred to the Banks and Banking Committee, and it was shaved to thirty per cent. In Philadelphia we are very short of houses, and the bill is introduced to encourage building, as well as to enable the building and loan association men to get some more money to aid their stockholders in building houses.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman and ask him if it is not a fact that to pass this bill possibly will encourage further speculative operations in connection with building and loan associations?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, if any speculative operations can be encouraged to give the inhabitants of Pennsylvania homes, let us have them.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I represent in Philadelphia a number of building and loan associations, and I believe that this bill should not become a law for these reasons: Building and loan association funds are trust funds. Under ordinary circumstances it is only contemplated that building and loan associations shall loan on mortgage security on funds that are realized out of the dues of membership. The law has provided that in case a building and loan association has so far loaned its money that when a series of stock may mature it does not have money to pay that maturity of stock, it can go to a bank and borrow up to twenty-five per cent. of its withdrawal value. If this bill had been presented to the House eight months ago, when there was a great boom in the sale of property, there might have been some reason for the emergency passage of the measure. From my experience, however, I find that the building and loan association business is very much on the wane. Houses are not being bought and building association transactions grow fewer every day. If I am true in that statement, then I say to you the passage of this law will have only one effect, and that is this: It will permit certain kinds of building and loan association men—and I have no reference to the sponsor of this bill—to engage all of the withdrawal value, that is to say all of the borrowing capacity of the building and loan association for the purpose of speculative loans. Building and loan associations become idle just as ordinary business becomes idle, and when it does, the solicitors or conveyancers scurry around the city trying to get applications. The ordinary law of supply and demand applies, and when business is bad, men are less conservative than they are when business is good. For that reason, gentlemen, if I have made myself clear to you, I think that for the hundreds of thousands of people in Pennsylvania, who save their money by building and loan associations, it would be better, though it may not be inherently dangerous to pass this bill, it would be better to put the brakes on and let the borrowing capacity of building and loan associations remain at twenty-five per cent., at least until there is some real demand for an increase.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, if a real demand ever existed, it exists to-day. Many of you men have had experience with building and loan associations or are connected with them to-day, and you know that the demand for building and loan association funds is great, it is terrific, there is no way of meeting it. This bill cannot encourage any speculation. Can a five per cent. raise encourage speculation? If the law to-day calls for twenty-five per cent. how can you say that a raise of five per cent. is going to change the building and loan associations? My friend says that building and loan association funds are trust funds. Certainly they are; they are meant to be secured, but a building and loan association has a purpose higher than that, greater than that. It has for its object the encouragement of building; it has for its object the encouragement of home owners, to help them along. I happen to be the solicitor for only one building and loan association. The demands made far exceed its ability to grant them. To-day my neighbors are asking for loans at that association, asking for loans at other associations. They want to own their own homes, in fact they have to own them,—the landlords are making them do that. If they don't have the funds, they have to move. Now, what harm can a raise of five per cent. do? It will help these people to own their homes. I ask you men to help these tenants, help them to remain in the homes in which they are living, in order that they won't have to move somewhere else.

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, I belong to five different building associations in Philadelphia. I have taken up this bill with them and in each and every one they are against this bill. It is not a safeguard for the stockholder, just as the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, explained to this House. It would be a very great danger instead of a safeguard if you pass this bill. Therefore, I ask you gentlemen to vote this bill down. You should protect the public in general; you should protect the man who tries to save a few dollars through the building and loan associations. I don't believe that we can be careful enough in this respect, and I think that it is our duty to safeguard the public in general. Therefore I ask you again to vote this bill down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1921.

The House met at 10:30 o'clock A. M.
Mr. HESS (Speaker Pro Tem.), in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Lord God Almighty, Thou art power and greatness and truth. We are only clay. Let it never be a reason, however, for us to become dirty and filthy, and when the beast in our breasts would call, let us not embrace, but rather, let us turn to Him who is the spirit of truth; who would elevate and uplift and give us thoughts that are better and nobler. Let us not rejoice in that which is base, but help us to strive for that which is holy and good and pure; and when the hour comes for battle not only may we have Thee in mind, but may the thought of those whose esteem we cherish most—our wives, our children and our friends—be an additional inspiration to do that which is best and true.

And O Thou great Potter, take the clay, we beseech Thee, and turn it on Thy wheel of will, and when we have been tempered in the school of life, may we become vessels of usefulness, ornament and beauty; and at last, O Thou great Potter, break Thou the tenement of clay and release us from the bondage of this world and give us a happy entrance with Thee above.

We ask it in His name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on the motion of Mr. Diehm, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL.

Mr. SOWERS asked and obtained unanimous consent for an extension of five days on the final passage postponed calendar of House Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

House Bill No. 318.

An Act to amend section twelve of the act approved the fifth day of February one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five (Pamphlet Laws fifty-six) entitled "An Act relative to the establishment and jurisdiction of magistrates' courts in the city of Philadelphia" as amended limiting the jurisdiction of magistrates in cases of arrest without warrant and on view to their respective districts.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1004, entitled:

An Act to amend section nine clause (b) of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and nine) entitled "An Act relating to the organization maintenance and operation of the Banking Department and the scope of its supervision and control over corporations partnerships unincorporated associations and individuals and the assets and liabilities thereof providing penalties for the enforcement of its provisions and repealing certain acts" by increasing the maximum and minimum fee for the examination of building and loan associations.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1004, be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. JEFFERSON M. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1097, entitled:

An Act restricting the appointment of corporate fiduciaries by testators or by any court or register of wills to corporations fully subject to supervision and examination by the Banking Department

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. With pleasure, sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Will the gentleman kindly explain to the House the purpose of this bill?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, under the law in Pennsylvania, every banking institution which acts as a fiduciary is compelled to be examined by the Banking Department. In 1918 the Federal Congress gave the national banks under the Federal Reserve Act the right to act as fiduciaries, to act as trust companies, but former Attorney General Brown decided that under the Act of Congress they should be examined by the Banking Department, for the act provided that the law of the State in which the national bank was located should be governed on the question of examination on the question of fiduciary law and requirements. It so happens that in certain parts of the country, and in this State also there are some national banks who are acting as fiduciaries, but they refuse to permit their books to be examined by our Banking Department on fiduciary business. This act therefore is to correct the false impression that some of them have, and it provides that if they act as a fiduciary they shall be examined by the Banking Department on that business. It also provides, in order to prohibit an escape from the requirements of the Pennsylvania law, that anybody who by will names a fiduciary shall have as to that portion of the will naming the fiduciary no right. In other words the naming shall be avoided unless that institution is willing to be examined by our Banking Department on the subject of its fiduciary business. Furthermore it provides that the register of wills in the counties is required to not appoint any institution who will not agree to an examination by our Department. In other words the whole purpose is to see that the institution or a bank appointed is examined by our Department to see that their accounts are correct and that the funds are not separated or divided in a way contrary to our State law. The act's purpose is to maintain the integrity of our banking institutions and the institutions which are being examined and who want to act in a fiduciary capacity so that our people in the State of Pennsylvania shall be the better protected. I will say candidly that nearly all the national banks who are acting as executors, trustees, and so forth, are satisfied to abide by the decision of the Banking Department, but there are some few who think they are greater than the State of Pennsylvania, even though they make their money here, and it is to bring those banks within the scope of the law and also to make them do as the bigger and the better national banks do.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1107, entitled:

An Act requiring banks banking corporations copartnerships or association co-operative banking association trust safe deposit real estate mortgage title insurance guaranty surety and indemnity companies savings institutions savings banks provident institutions building and loan associations lodges and societies to file of record names of persons authorized to make entries on records of mortgages imposing certain duties on recorders of deeds and declaring certain entries void

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BLUETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. With pleasure, sir.

Mr. BLUETT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman please explain the purpose of this bill?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, this bill merely provides that banks and banking institutions, building and loan associations and lodges and all those who file, or who loan is a better way to put it, who loan money to others on mortgage or on some recorded instrument upon which payments are made either at times or at one time shall appoint one or more attorneys-in-fact over the hand and seal of the organization or corporation, and they alone shall have the right to enter upon the margin of the record in the office of the recorder of deeds any payment or payments which may be made by the mortgagor or the party who enters into the agreement. The purpose is to prevent someone who has no right, but who says "I hold a power of attorney," from going into the recorder of deed's office and entering upon the record a false satisfaction or a false receipt.

Mr. BLUETT. Is it not a fact that the recorder of deeds, say of Philadelphia County especially, now only recognizes the person whose name is in the power of attorney to satisfy mortgages?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. That is true of the recorder of deeds in Philadelphia County.

Mr. BLUETT. Then what is the necessity of this act?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Because in some of the other counties of the State the same care is not used that the recorder of deeds, or that was compelled to be used by the recorder in Philadelphia County. In Philadelphia years ago there was a good bit of latitude and lassitude used by the recorder of deeds and the result was that those who had no right at times entered satisfaction of mortgages on the record claiming that they held a power of attorney, but that action or that system or form of doing was stopped about eighteen or twenty years ago. Since then the recorder down there has been very, very particular to see that the recording on the instrument by the party who says he is the attorney-in-fact are one and the same person, but this act was prepared by the Banking Department to go into other counties where the recorder is not as careful as he is compelled to be in Philadelphia.

Mr. BLUETT. Is not the system in vogue in Philadelphia by reason of an act of assembly, or is it just merely because of local conditions, and if not why would it not apply to the whole State?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. It is true an act of assembly, an old act of assembly in its general terms requires the system in use that the party who holds the power of attorney is the party named in the power of attorney, but I say there are times when that has been forgotten, and this act goes a step farther than the old act and invalidates without the necessity of a long procedure in court of such an effort upon the part of some fraudulent person.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 928, (Senate Bill No. 198), entitled:

An Act to further amend an act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and nineteen) entitled "An Act regulating certain political parties providing for and regulating the nomination of candidates of such political parties for certain public offices the election of delegates and alternate delegates to national party conventions and of certain party officers including State committeemen a method whereby electors of such political parties may express their choice of candidates for the office of President of the United States and the payment by the several counties and their reimbursement by the State of the expenses of the same authorizing the State committee of a political party to make and to alter amend and revoke rules and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act and for the punishment of certain offenses provided for herein and repealing inconsistent legislation" as amended

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I notice that this is a Senate bill, and I would like to know if there is anyone in the House whom I can interrogate upon its provisions.

The SPEAKER. Is any member of the House sufficiently conversant with this bill to answer an interrogation? There does not seem to be.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, if there is no one who can answer my question, I would like to call the attention of the members of the House to the fact that this is a bill which relates to primary election, and as nearly as I can make out, it greatly changes or eliminates the assistance clause in election. The old bill provides that no elector shall be permitted to receive any assistance in marking his ballot "without having made the affidavit provided for in this act that he cannot read the names on the ballot, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot." That is left out in the new act, and it means that hereafter in a primary election the voter will have the right to take assistance into the booth to mark his ballot, whether he is physically unable to mark it or not. In the olden days, before the present act was in force, that was a source of great corruption in a great many elections, and it seems to me that the omission of this provision at this time is a mistake. Again in the old act, as is quoted in section three, page 23 of this act, it provides that:

"Any voter who for the purpose of securing assistance in marking his ballot shall falsely make oath or declare that he cannot read the names on the ballot or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot or who without having made the affidavit provided for in this act that he cannot read the names on the ballot or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot shall permit another to accompany him into the voting compartment or shall permit another person to mark his ballot for him or any person who shall assist a voter in marking his ballot contrary to the provisions of this act or who shall attempt to influence the vote of the voter whom he is assisting or who shall mark a ballot in any other way than that requested by the voter whom he is assisting shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred ($500.00) dollars or to undergo imprisonment for a period not exceeding one year or either or both at the discretion of the court."

That seems to be omitted here also, and it is obvious that there must be some good reason for its omission. It seems to be rather an attempt to leave out one of the protecting clauses in the present bill, and unless there is some adequate explanation as to the reasons for this act, it ought to be defeated.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I notice that this is a Senate bill, the sponsor being Senator Phipps, of Venango county, and as neither of the members from that county is here this morning, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER announced the "ayes" appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and seventy-seven gentlemen having voted in the affirmative and forty-six in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative, and the motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 860, as follows:

An Act creating a commission to prepare a revision and consolidation of the existing general statutory law defining the powers and duties of the commission imposing certain duties upon the Legislative Reference Bureau providing for the report of the commission to the Geenral Assembly for its adoption or rejection and making an appropriation

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That a commission is hereby created whose duty it shall be to examine the entire statutory law of the Commonwealth and to ascertain as nearly as may be what laws or parts of laws are in force as well as what laws or parts of laws have been repealed or declared unconstitutional or have become obsolete or useless It shall be the duty of the commision to revise and consolidate the entire general statutory law of the Commonwealth either by codification of particular subjects or in such other manner of arrangement as to the commission shall seem best In such revision and consolidation the commission shall eliminate alle repealed unconstitutional obsolete and useless laws and shall harmonize conflicting laws and clarify laws improperly worded The commission shall include in its report containing the revision and consolidation chronological lists of all general laws of the Commonwealth and shall in such lists set forth all laws which have been repealed declared unconstitutional or become obsolete or useless as well as all laws which are considered in force with a reference to the section or part of the revision and consolidation wherein such laws considered in force have been inserted The commission shall not in such revision and consolidation make and substantive changes of the existing general statutory law but shall in a separate report suggest such substantive changes as it deems necessary which changes shall be submitted to the General Assembly in such form that they may be readily inserted as amendments to the revision and consolidation

Section 2 Said commission shall consist of three (3) persons learned in the law as follows a chairman to be appointed by the Governor the Attorney General and an Assistant Attorney General to be designated by the Governor The chairman of the commission shall receive an annual salary of seven thousand five hundred dollars ($7,500) to be paid from the appropriation made by this act

Section 3 The commission shall have power to call upon the Legislative Reference Bureau for aid and assistance in carrying out the work contemplated by this act If it shall be necessary in order to complete such work within the time hereinafter mentioned the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau is authorized to appoint in addition to his present force such persons learned in the law and such clerks and stenographers as he and the commission may deem necessary who shall receive such compensation as the Director with the consent of the commission shall fix Such compensation shall be paid from the appropriation made by this act

Section 4 The chairman of the commission is authorized to appoint such clerks and stenographers as the commission shall deem necessary The salaries of such clerks and stenographers shall be fixed by the commission and shall be paid from the appropriation made by this act

Section 5 The printing and binding required by the commission shall be furnished by the State Printer upon requisition of the chairman of the commission on the Superintendent of Public Printing and Binding

Section 6 The Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings shall furnish the commission with proper office room and furniture and all necessary supplies

Section 7 The commission is directed to make a report of its progress to the General Assembly not later than February first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and to make a full and complete report of its work as outlined in section one of this act to the General Assembly not later than February first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five and shall in such report suggest an official title by which such revision may be known and cited

Section 8 The sum of seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated to the commission for the two fiscal years ending one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this act Payments from such appropriation shall be made on order of the chairman of the commission by warrant of the Auditor General upon the State Treasurer

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill providing for a commission to codify the statutory laws of the Commonwealth. It has been cut down from the way it was originally designed, with three members on the commission with salaries, so that now it has only one member, the chairman of the commission, a man to be appointed by the Governor, learned in the law, who is to be paid a salary. The other two members of the commission are the Attorney General and one of the Assistant Attorney Generals. This bill carries an appropriation of only twenty-five thousand dollars, which will only be sufficient to carry on the work between this time and the next session of the Legislature. The Legislative Reference Bureau is to do nearly all of the work, and the Attorney Generals will give their time and assistance to it. It has been worked out to the greatest extent possible in the interests of economy, by having officials already employed by the State to do most of the work. A sample of this same kind of work was done a few years ago by a commission headed by Judge Gest, to codify the decedent estate law, which has been a wonderful success and thoroughly appreciated by the bar and the people of the Commonwealth in general. This same kind of work ought to be started on the other branches of the statutory laws. I hope the House will give it a start.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Chester.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Chester, Mr. Whitaker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I notice that in section four, it provides that "the chairman of the commission is authorized to appoint such clerks and stenographers as the commission shall deem necessary. The salaries of such clerks and stenographers shall be fixed by the commission and shall be paid from the appropriation made by this act." Also in section eight, it provides that the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars shall be appropriated. In your opinion, Mr. Whitaker, with the request at this time by the departments or by certain persons asking for a raise in revenue in order to pay the expenses of the departments and the additional appropriations which are to come hereafter, don't you think that as a matter of economy it would be well to postpone this bill for at least two more years, thereby saving this seventy-five thousand dollars.

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I did not hear all of the remarks of the gentleman from Delaware, but I gather that he is objecting to the amount of the appropriation. As I stated, the amount of the appropriation has been changed from seventy-five thousand dollars, as it was originally, to twenty-five thousand dollars, the members of the commission being taken from officials of the State government, in order to make that saving. The amendment, which I offered in the committee a few days ago, changed the total amount of the appropriation to twenty-five thousand dollars, and therefore the clerks to be appointed would have to be limited to the amount contained in that appropriation. I have just been handed a copy of the bill as it is on the files, and I find that the printer has not inserted the amendments. I therefore move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 314, FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. ALBERT S. C. MILLAR asked and received unanimous consent to present the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, March 31, 1921.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 314, File Folio 1165, entitled "A Supplement to an act approved the twenty-ninth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws seventy-three) entitled 'An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations,' extending the charters of certain manufacturing corporations," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up from page thirteen of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading postponed, House Bill No. 167, File Folio No. 193.

Agreeably to order,
The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Whitaker,
The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 167, entitled:

An Act to amend sections two twenty-eight and thirty-two of an act approved the twentieth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and twenty-one) entitled "An Act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a non-resident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth or national banking association located therein to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association standing in the name of any such decedent until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid and providing penalties and citing certain acts for repeal."

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Corporations the purpose of amendment.

Mr. HARRY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 930 (Senate Bill No. 302), as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the fourth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one (Pamphlet Laws three hundred sixty-four) entitled "An act providing when how and upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements and for the removal of nuisances the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods of preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened and the manner of distributing the proceeds of such sales" as amended by extending the period for the continuing and collection of claims and judgments obtained thereon

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section ten of an act approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and one entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements and for the removal of nuisances the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods of preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened and the manner of distributing the proceeds of such sales" which as amended by section one of an act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws one thousand seventy-six) entitled "An act to amend the tenth and thirty-second sections of an act entitled 'An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements and for the removal of nuisances the procedure upon claims filed therefor the method for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened and the manner of distributing the proceeds of such sales approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and one as said tenth section was amended by an act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and seven and further amended by an act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and nine and as said thirty-second section was amended by an act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred and seven by providing for the filing of municipal claims where appeals are taken from the assessment for the recovery of which such claim is filed and changing the procedure for reviving and continuing the lien of municipal and tax claims and providing that tax and municipal claims shall not be divested by any judicial sale of the property liened where the amount of such tax or municipal claim is not definite or is not due and payable" reads as follows

"Section 10 Claims for taxes water-rents lighting rates and sewer-rates must be filed in the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is situated on or before the last day of the third calendar year after that in which the taxes or rates are first payable and other municipal claims must be filed in said court within six months from the time the work was done in front of the particular property where the charge against the property is assessed or made at the time the work is authorized within six months after the completion of the improvement where the assessment is made by the municipality upon all the properties after the completion of the improvement and within six months after confirmation by the court where confirmation is required the certificate of the surveyor engineer or other officer supervising the improvement filed in the proper office being conclusive of the time of completion thereof but he being personally liable to any one injured by any false statement therein A number of years taxes or rates of different kinds if payable to the same plaintiff may be included in one claim

Municipal claims shall likewise be filed within said period where an appeal is taken from the assessment for the recovery of which such municipal claim is filed In such case the lien filed shall be in the form hereinafter provided except that it shall set forth the amount of the claim as an undetermined amount thereof to be determined by the appeal taken from the assessment upon which such municipal claim is based pending in a certain court (referring to the court and the proceeding where such appeal is pending) Upon the filing of such municipal claim the claim shall be indexed by the prothonotary upon the judgment index and upon the locality index of the court and the amount of the claim set forth therein as an undetermined amount

If the final judgment is not obtained upon such appeal within five years from the filing of such municipal claim the claimant in the lien shall within such period of five years file a suggestion of non-payment in the form hereinafter set forth which shall have the effect of continuing the lien thereof for a further period of five years from the date of filing such suggestion Such municipal claim shall be revived in a similar manner during each recurring period of five years thereafter until final judgment is entered upon said appeal and the undetermined amount of such municipal claim is fixed in the manner hereinafter provided

When the final judgment is obtained upon such appeal the court in which said municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed in such claim at the amount determined by the final judgment upon said appeal which shall bear interest from the date of the verdict upon which final judgment was entered and thereafter the amount of said claim shall be the sum thus fixed Proceedings upon said municipal claim thereafter shall be as in other cases

Where on final judgment upon said appeal it appears that no amount is due upon the assessment for the recovery of which such claim is filed the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order striking such municipal claim from the record and charge the costs upon such claim to the plaintiff in the claim filed

Where such appeal is discontinued the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed at the amount of the original assessment which shall bear interest from the date that such assessment was originally payable and thereafter the amount of such claim shall be the sum thus fixed

Such tax municipal or other claim if filed within the period aforesaid shall remain a lien upon said properties until fully paid and satisfied Provided however That either a suggestion of non-payment and an averment of default in the form herein provided be filed in cases of tax claims either before or after judgment on the scire facias and in cases of other than tax claims after judgment on the scire facias or else a writ of scire facias in the form herein provided be issued to revive the same within each period of five years following (a) the date on which said claim was filed (b) the date on which a writ of scire facias was issued thereon (c) the date on which any judgment was entered thereon (d) the date on which a previous suggestion of non-payment and default was filed thereon or (e) the date on which a judgment or revival was obtained thereon

The suggestion and averment shall be in the following form under the caption of the claim

And now.....the claimant by.....his solicitor suggests of record that the above claim is still due and owing to the claimant and avers that the owner is still in default for non-payment thereof The prothonotary is hereby directed to enter this suggestion and averment on the municipal lien or the proper docket of the claim and also to index it upon the judgment index and on the locality index of the court for the purpose of continuing the lien of the claim

Such suggestion and averment must be signed by the solicitor or chief executive officer of the claimant The prothonotary shall docket and index the suggestion and averment as directed therein and for such services shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar to be taxed and collected as other costs in the claim. The filing and indexing of such suggestion and averment within five years of filing the claim or the issuing of any writ of scire facias thereon or of any judgment thereon or of the filing of any prior suggestion and averment of default shall have the same force and effect for the purposes of continuing the preserving the lien of the claim as though a writ of scire facias had been issued or a judgment or judgment of revival had been obtained within such period Provided That no writ of levari facias shall be issued upon a claim for the purpose of exposing the property liened to sheriff's sale except after a judgment shall have been duly obtained upon the claim as provided in this section and such judgment must have been obtained within five years of the issuance of the levari facias Whenever the lien of a claim has been revived and continued by the filing and indexing of a suggestion and averment of default the claimant may at any time within five years therefrom issue a writ of scire facias thereon reciting all suggestion and averment of default filed since the filing of the claim and shall proceed thereon in the manner herein provided subject to the right of owner to raise any defense arising since the last judgment

If a claim be not filed within the time aforesaid or if it be not prosecuted in the manner and at the time aforesaid it shall be wholly lost" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 19 Claims for taxes water-rents lighting-rates and sewer-rates must be filed in the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is situated on or before the last day of the third calendar year after that in which the taxes or rates are first payable and other municipal claims must be filed in said court within six months from the time the work was done in front of the particular property where the charge against the property is assessed or made at the time the work is authorized within six months after the completion of the improvement where the assessment is made by the municipality upon all the properties after the completion of the improvement and within six months after confirmation by the court where confirmation is required the certificate of the surveyor engineer or other officer supervising the improvement filed in the proper office being conclusive of the time of completion thereof but he being personally liable to any one injured by any false statement therein A number of years taxes or rates if different kinds if payable to the same plaintiff may be included in one claim

Municipal claims shall likewise be filed within said period where an appeal is taken from the assessment for the recovery of which such municipal claim is filed In such case the lien filed shall be in the form hereinafter provided except that it shall set forth the amount of the claim as an undetermined amount the amount thereof to be determined by the appeal taken from the assesment upon which such municipal claim is based pending in a certain court (referring to the court and the proceeding where such appeal is pending) Upon the filing of such municipal claim the claim shall be indexed by the prothonotary upon the judgment and index and upon the locality index of the court and the amount of the claim set forth therein as an undetermined amount

If the final judgment is not obtained upon such appeal withing fifteen years from the filing of such municipal claim the claimant in the lien shall within such period of fifteen years file a suggestion of non-payment in the form hereinafter set forth which shall have the effect of continuing the lien thereof for a further period of fifteen years from the date of filing such suggestion Such municipal claim shall be revived in a similar manner during each recurring period of fifteen years thereafter until final judgment is entered upon said appeal and the undetermined amount of such municipal claim is fixed in the manner hereinafter provided

When the final judgment is obtained upon such appeal the court in which said municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed in such claim at the amount determined by the final judgment upon said appeal which shall bear interest from the date of the verdict upon which final judgment was entered and thereafter the amount of said claim shall be the sum thus fixed Proceedings upon said municipal claim thereafter shall be as in other cases

Where on final judgment upon said appeal it appears that no amount is due upon the assessments for the recovery of which such claim is filed the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order striking such municipal claim from the record and charge the costs upon such claim to the plaintiff in the claim filed

Where such appeal is discontinued the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed at the amount of the original assessment which shall bear interest from the date that such assessment was originally payable and thereafter the amount of such claim shall be the sum thus fixed

Such tax municipal or other claim if filed within the period aforesaid shall remain a lien upon said properties until fully paid and satisfied Provided however That either a suggestion of non-payment and an averment of default in the form hereinafter provided be filed in cases of tax claims either before or after judgment on the scire facias and in cases of other than tax claims after judgment on the scire facias or else a writ of scire facias in the form herein provided be issued to revive the same within each period of fifteen years following (a) the date on which said claim was filed (b) the date on which a writ of scire facias was issued thereon (c) the date on which any judgment was entered thereon (d) the date on which a previous suggestion of non-payment and default was filed thereon or (e) the date on which a judgment of revival was obtained thereon

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 790, as follows:

An Act to regulate and control the manufacture sale offering for sale giving away and use of weights and measures and of weighing and measuring devices in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for the approval and disapproval of such weights measures and devices by the bureau of standards and prescribing penalties

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the word "type" as used in this act is defined as a class the individual objects of which are similar one to another in design construction size and material

The term "standard weights and measures" as used in this act is to be construed to include the standards of weights and measures adopted by the United States and the State of Pennsylvania in accordance with those furnished by the Federal Government under joint resolutions of Congress approved June fourteenth eighteen hundred and thirty-six and July twenty-seventh eighteen hundred and sixty-six and now recognized and in use throughout the United States

The term "use in trade or commerce" as used in this act shall be construed to include use in buying or selling goods wares or merchandise

The word "person" as used in this act shall be construed to import both the plural and the singular as the case demands and shall include corporations copartnerships companies societies and associations The term "Bureau of Standards" shall be held to mean under or by authority of the Chief of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Standards of the Department of Internal Affairs When construing or enforcing the provisions of this act the act omission or failure of any officer agent or other person acting for or employed by any corporation company society or association within the scope of his employment or office shall in every case be deemed to be the act omission or failure of such corporation partnership company society or association as well as that of the person

Section 2 The Bureau of Standards of the Department of Internal Affairs is authorized to pass upon each type of weight and measure and weighing and measuring device manufactured offered or exposed for sale or sold or given away for the use in trade or commerce or used in trade or commerce in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to approve or disapprove of said type The said bureau shall approve each type of weight and measure and weighing and measuring device submitted to it for approval by any person if such type is so designed and constructed that it conforms to or gives correct results in terms of standard weights or measures or in terms of values derived therefrom and is reasonably permanent in its indication and adjustment and does not facilitate the perpetration of fraud otherwise the bureau shall disapprove the same

Section 3 The submission of a type may be by sample or by specifications if in the best judgment of the bureau such specifications are adequate or in such other manner as may be prescribed by the rules and regulations promulgated under the authority of this act

Section 4 When a type of weight or measure or weighing or measuring device is approved the said bureau shall issue a ertificate to this effect to the person submitting such type When a type is disapproved the said bureau shall notify the person submitting the same of its decision setting out the reasons therefor together with such information and references as may be useful in judging of the propriety of the disapproval and shall give such person an opportunity to be heard in support of his application for approval The bureau shall then reconsider its decision If the new decision is adverse to such person and he is dissatisfied with the same he may take an appeal from this decision to the Secretary of Internal Affairs who shall examine the matter and decide whether the type should be approved or disapproved If the person is dissatisfied with the decision of the Secretary of Internal Affairs he may appeal to the court of common pleas of the county of which he is a resident whose decision shall be final

Section 5 From and after one year after this act takes effect it shall be unlawful for any person to manufacture offer or expose for sale or sell or give away for use in trade or commerce or to use in trade or commerce any weight or measure or weighing or measuring device of a type not approved in accordance with the provisions of this act Provided however That in the case of weights and measures and weighing and measuring devices manufactured and ready for sale or in use in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania at the time this section takes effect no approval of type shall be necessary and it shall be lawful for any person to offer or expose for sale or sell for use in trade or commerce or to use in trade or commerce such weights and measures and weighing and measuring devices unless they do not conform to or give correct results in terms of standard weights or measures or in terms of values derived therefrom And provided further That the type of a weight or measure or weighing or measuring device need not be approved if said weight or measure or weighing or measuring device is intended for shipment outside the State of Pennsylvania but if said weight or measure or weighing or measuring device shall in fact be sold or offered for sale for use in trade or commerce or used in trade or commerce in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania then this proviso shall not exempt such weight or measure or weighing or measuring device from the operation of any of the provisions of this act

Section 6 No person shall be prosecuted under the provisions of this act if he can establish a guaranty signed by the person from whom the weight or measure or weighing or measuring device was purchased or otherwise obtained or from the manufacturer thereof to the effect that the type of the same has been approved if such approval is required by the provisions of this act and if such approval is not required setting out this fact or if he can establish that the weight or measure or weighing or measuring device has been sealed by the local sealer of weights and measures The said guaranty to afford protection shall contain the name and address of the guarantor and in such case said guarantor shall be amenable to the prosecutions fines or other penalties which would attach in due course to such person under the provisions of this act But in any case where any such person has actual notice that the type of such weight or measure or weighing or measuring device has not in fact been approved when such approval is required by the provisions of this act it shall be unlawful and a violation of the provisions of this act for such person thereafter to offer or expose such weight or measure or weighing or measuring device for sale or to sell it for use in trade or commerce or to use it in trade or commerce

Section 7 The bureau of standards shall register and give a serial number to each type of weight or measure or weighing or measuring device submitted and approved as provided in this act and shall issue from time to time descriptions of such approved types giving serial number of each type copies of which shall be furnished to all weights and measures officials

Section 8 From and after one year after this act takes effect it shall be unlawful to manufacture offer or expose for sale or sell or give away for use in trade or commerce or to use in trade or commerce any weight or measure or weighing or measuring device which does not have cast stamped etched or otherwise marked thereon in such manner as may be prescribed by the rules and regulations authorized by this act the name of the manufacturer and the serial number of the approved type to which it belongs Provided however That whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Bureau of Standards that any type of weight or measure or weighing or measuring device is such as to render it impracticable to mark it as required by this section the said bureau shall furnish a certificate to that effect to any manufacturer applying for the same and such weights and measures and weighing and measuring devices need not be marked as required by the provisions of this section

Section 9 It shall be unlawful to cast stamp etch or otherwise mark upon any weight or measure or weighing or measuring device the type of which has not been approved as required by the provisions of this act any design or device simulating a serial number required by the provisions of section three of this act

Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one year or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court

Section 10 In case any person may desire to have the type of a part of a weight or measure or weighing or measuring device separately approved and serialized and shall apply therefor and the Bureau of Standards decides that the part is such that this may properly be done then such part may be approved and serialized or disapproved as to type under the same provisions and restrictions as are applied to the approval and serialization or the disapproval of a type of weight or measure or weighing or measuring device by the provisions of this act

Section 11 It shall be conclusively presumed that a weight or measure or weighing or measuring device is intended for use in trade or commerce if it is manufactured offered or exposed for sale or sold for use in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or is used therein unless it shall bear a plain legible conspicuous and permanent statement to this effect "Not legal for trade" It shall be unlawful to use in trade or commerce any weight or measure or weighing or measuring device which is marked as described above Provided however That whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Bureau of Standards that any type of weight or measure or weighing or measuring device is such as to render it impracticable to mark it as required by this section or is of such design and construction that it is obviously not intended for use in trade or commerce the said bureau shall furnish a certificate to that effect to any manufacturer applying for the same and such types of weights and measures and weighing and measuring devies need not be marked as required by the provisions of this section

Section 12 Rules and regulations for the carrying out and enforcement of the provisions of this act not inconsistent with the provisions thereof shall be adopted by the Bureau of Standards with the approval of the Secretary of Internal Affairs which rules and regulations shall include reasonable variations or tolerances which may be allowed on weights and measures and weighing and measuring devices included within the provisions of this act and also specifications for such weights and measures and weighing and measuring devices for the guidance of manufacturers in the design and construction of such weights and measures and weighing and measuring devices

Section 13 Inspectors of weights and measures of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and of the several counties and cities of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may seal for use in trade or commerce all weights and measures and weighing and measuring devices the type of which has been approved as required by the provisions of this act or specifically exempted from the necessity of approval by the provisions of this act when they find that the same are within the tolerances prescribed under the rules and regulations Provided however That this shall not be construed as meaning that the approval of a type shall be taken as evidence of the correctness of any individual weight or measure or weighing or measuring device of that type or prevent any such inspector of weights and measures from prohibiting the use of or confiscating any individual weight or measure or weighing or measuring device which is found to be inaccurate or otherwise defective or unlawfully used

Section 14 Any person copartnership association or corporation who or which shall violate any provision of this act shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding before any alderman magistrate or justice of the peace of the proper county or city be punished for the first offense by a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars and upon conviction of the second offense by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars and upon conviction for the third and each subsequent offense by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars In default of the payment of any fine as aforesaid any person convicted shall be sentenced to serve one day in jail of the proper county for each dollar of the fine or costs

Section 15 It shall be the duty of the Chief of the Bureau of Standards and his deputies and the inspectors of weights and measures of the several counties and cities who shall find satisfactory evidence of any violation of the provisions of this act to cause appropriate proceedings to be commenced and prosecuted without delay for the enforcement of the penalties as in such case herein provided Provided however. That no action or prosecution shall be brought against any person for any violation of this act unless the same is commenced within one year after the offense is committed

Section 16 This act shall be in force and effect from and after

Section 17 All acts and parts of acts general local or special inconsistent with any of the provisions of this act hereby repealed

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 502, (House Bill No. 181), as follows:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An act providing for the payment into the State Treasury of unclaimed funds in the hands of fiduciaries defining the term fiduciary providing for the refunding of such funds from the State Treasury with interest to persons entitled thereto and making an appropriation therefor prohibiting the discharge of such fiduciaries the release of their sureties or the final distribution of funds in their possession until after compliance with the provisions of this act and imposing penalties" approved the sixteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws one hundred sixty-nine)

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section three of an act entitled "An act providing for the payment into the State Treasury of unclaimed funds in the hands of fiduciaries defining the term fiduciary providing for the refunding of such funds from the State Treasury with interest to persons entitled thereto and making an appropriation therefor prohibiting the discharge of such fiduciaries the release of their sureties or the final distribution of funds in their possession until after compliance with the provisions of this act and imposing penalties" approved the sixteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws page one hundred sixty-nine) which reads as follows

"Section 3 Whenever the statement filed by any receiver in compliance with the provisions of the second section of this act shall show any unclaimed funds in his possession the Attorney General shall at the suggestion of the Auditor General apply by petition before the audit or adjudication of such account to the court having jurisdiction of the accounts of such receiver for an order directing the payment of so much of said funds as shall remain unclaimed at the date of said application into the State Treasury to be reimbursed therefrom upon application by the owner thereof in the manner hereinafter provided

A copy of said petition shall be served upon the receiver and upon proof of such service the said court shall proceed to determine the matter by hearing upon the audit or adjudication of such account If any of such funds are claimed at the hearing by persons lawfully entitled thereto or if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that any of the said funds have been claimed prior to said hearings by persons lawfully entitled thereto or that any of said funds were not properly returnable by the receiver under the provisions of this act the court shall order said funds to be paid to said claimants or to remain in the hands of the receiver as the facts shall warrant If the court shall be of the opinion that the efforts theretofore made by the receiver to locate and pay the owners of the remaining funds have been sufficient it shall order said funds to be forthwith paid into the State Treasury to the credit of the Commonwealth otherwise it shall order such publication of notice to the owners of said funds as it may deem proper after which publication and proof thereto it shall likewise order said funds the owners of which have not been located within sixty days after the conclusion of said advertising to be similarly paid into the State Treasury to the credit of the Commonwealth

No receiver whose statement filed in compliance with the provisions of this act shall show any unclaimed funds to be in his possession shall be discharged nor his sureties released nor any final distribution of the funds in his possession made until he shall have filed in court the receipt of the State Treasurer for the moneys so paid On the compliance by the receiver with the said order of the court as evidenced by said receipt the receiver and his sureties shall be relieved from all liability for the said funds so paid into the State Treasury" be and the same hereby is amended so as to read as follows

Section 3 Whenever the statement filed by any receiver in compliance with the provisions of the second section of this act shall show any unclaimed funds in his possession or whenever the Auditor General shall discover any such unclaimed funds in the possession of a receiver although no statement thereof has been filed by such receiver in compliance with the provisions of this act the Attorney General shall at the suggestion of the Auditor General apply by petition before the audit or adjudication of such account to the court having jurisdiction of the accounts of such receiver for an order directing the payment of so much of said funds as shall remain unclaimed at the date of said application into the State Treasury to be reimbursed therefrom upon application by the owner thereof in the manner hereinafter provided

A copy of said petition shall be served upon the receiver and upon proof of such service the said court shall when the audit of the account is presented to it for approval and final adjudication and before or at the time of making a decree of final distribution pass upon the prayer of such petition after hearing held thereupon and it shall be the duty of the auditor of the account to give timely notice to the Attorney General of the date fixed for the presentation of this audit If any of said funds are claimed at the hearing by persons lawfully entitled thereto or if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that any of the said funds have been claimed prior to said hearing by persons lawfully entitled thereto or that any of said funds were not properly returnable by the receiver under the provisions of this act the court shall order said funds to be paid to said claimants or to remain in the hands of the receiver as the facts shall warrant If the court shall be of the opinion that the efforts theretofore made by the receiver to locate and pay the owners of the remaining funds have been sufficient it shall order said funds to be forthwith paid into the State Treasury to the credit of the Commonwealth otherwise it shall order such publication of notice to the owners of said funds as it may deem proper after which publication and proof thereto it shall likewise order said funds the owners of which have not been located within sixty days after the conclusion of said advertising to be similarly paid into the State Treasury to the credit of the Commonwealth

Whenever on the audit of the final account of any receiver it shall appear to the court having jurisdiction of his accounts that such receiver has unclaimed moneys in his possession subject to being paid into the State Treasury under the provisions of this act the said court may of its own motion order the same to be paid into the State Treasury to the credit of the Commonwealth whether a statement of such moneys has been filed and a petition by the Attorney General presented for the payment of the same into the State Treasury as required by the provisions of this act or not in the same manner as is herein provided in cases where a statement has been filed and a petition presented

No receiver whose statement filed in compliance with the provisions of this act shall show any unclaimed funds to be in his possession shall be discharged nor his sureties released nor any final distribution of the funds in his possession made until he shall have filed in court the receipt of the State Treasurer for the moneys so paid On the compliance by the receiver with the said order of the court as evidenced by said receipt the receiver and his sureties shall be relieved from all liability for the said funds so paid into the State Treasury

Section 2 That section five of the said act approved the sixteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred nineteen (Pamphlet Laws page one hundred sixty-nine) which reads as follows

"Section 5 Whenever on the audit or adjudication of the account of any fiduciary there shall be and remain in his possession any moneys not awarded to any claimant or claimants or any moneys which shall have been awarded to any claimant or claimants the whereabouts whereof or that of their legal representatives the fiduciary has been unable to ascertain the fiduciary shall within sixty days after the date of said audit or adjudication file in the court having jurisdiction of his account a sworn statement of such unawarded or unclaimed moneys with duplicate in the same form and manner prescribed in the second section of this act and thereupon proceedings to secure the payment of such moneys into the State Treasury to be refunded as hereinbefore provided shall be had similar in all respects to those hereinbefore provided for in cases where a statement of unclaimed moneys is filed at or before the filing of the final account of the receiver except that in proceedings under this section the court shall by its order provide for the serving of a copy of the petition upon the fiduciary and shall fix a day for a hearing upon said petition The fiduciary and his sureties shall be relieved from all liability for any funds paid into the State Treasury as the result of proceedings under the provisions of this section

If said fiduciary shall fail or neglect to file the statement required by the provisions of this section the unawarded or unclaimed moneys in his hands which should have been reported in said statement shall when ascertained nevertheless be subject to be paid into the State Treasury upon proceedings had in the manner provided by this act

Any fiduciary failing to file the statement required to be made by this section shall be subject to a penalty of one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars to be recovered to the use of the Commonwealth in an action of assumpsit by the Attorney General but if the fiduciary be a corporation or association then the officer or person executing and filing the account shall be personally subject to the penalty

No fiduciary shall be discharged nor his sureties released and no final distribution of funds in his possession shall be authorized or permitted so long as he has in his possession any funds subject to payment into the State Treasury under the provisions of this act" be and the same hereby is amended so as to read as follows

Section 5 Whenever on the audit or adjudication of the account of any fiduciary there shall be and remain in his possession any moneys not awarded to any claimant or claimants or any moneys which shall have been awarded to any claimant or claimants the whereabouts whereof or that of their legal representatives the fiduciary has been unable to ascertain the fiduciary shall within sixty days after the date of said audit or adjudication file in the court having jurisdiction of his account a sworn statement of such unawarded or unclaimed moneys with duplicate in the same form and manner prescribed in the second section of this act and thereupon proceedings to secure the payment of such moneys into the State Treasury to be refunded as hereinbefore provided shall be had similar in all respects to those hereinbefore provided for in cases where a statement of unclaimed moneys is filed at or before the filing of the final account of a receiver except that in proceedings under this section the court shall by its order provide for the serving of a copy of the petition upon the fiduciary and shall fix a day for a hearing upon said petition

In any such case of unawarded moneys or of moneys awarded to claimants the whereabouts whereof or that of their legal representatives the fiduciary has been unable to ascertain the court having jurisdiction of his accounts may upon motion or on its own initiative in its discretion order the payment of such moneys into the State Treasury to the credit of the Commonwealth whether the statement required to be filed by this section has been in fact filed or not and whether or not a petition praying for an order for the payment of such moneys into the State Treasury has been filed by the Attorney General and such payment shall have the same force and effect in all respects as if the same had been made pursuant to an order issued in compliance with the prayer of a petition therefor filed by the Attorney General as hereinbefore in this act provided

The fiduciary and his sureties shall be relieved from all liability for any funds paid into the State Treasury as the result of proceedings under any provision of this act

If said fiduciary shall fail or neglect to file the statement required by the provisions of this section the unawarded or unclaimed moneys in his hands which should have been reported in said statement shall when ascertained nevertheless be subject to be paid into the State Treasury upon proceedings had in the manner provided by this act

Any fiduciary failing to file the statement required to be made by this section shall be subject to a penalty of one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars to be recovered to the use of the Commonwealth in an action of assumpsit by the Attorney General but if the fiduciary be a corporation or association then the officer or person executing and filing the account shall be personally subject to the penalty

No fiduciary shall be discharged nor his sureties released and no final distribution of funds in his possession shall be authorized or permitted so long as he has in his possession any funds subject to payment into the State Treasury under the provisions of this act

Section 3 That the said act approved the sixteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred nineteen be and it hereby is further amended by the addition of the following section

Section 6A Whenever any fiduciary on the filing of his final account shall be possessed of any real estate or of any chattels which under existing law he has no authority to expose to sale and is unable to ascertain that any person or persons is or are entitled to take the same or if there be any such person or persons he shall have been unable to ascertain the residence or address thereof no information in escheat shall be made to or accepted by the Auditor General and no escheator shall be appointed but the fiduciary shall apply by petition to the court having jurisdiction of his accounts for an order directing the sale of such chattels and of such real estate situate in the county for which the said court is constituted and the said court shall thereupon if no valid cause be shown to the contrary order and direct the fiduciary to sell said real estate or chattels in such manner and form and upon such advertisement as the court shall direct and to execute and deliver a good and sufficient deed or deeds to the purchaser of such real estate In the case of an application for the sale of real estate the fiduciary shall give notice in such manner as the court may direct to all mortgagees or lien creditors of the time and place fixed for such sale Where any such real estate is situate in any other county than that for which the court having jurisdiction of the accounts of the fiduciary is constituted a petition for an order for the sale of the same shall be made to the court of common pleas in and for the county where said real estate is situate and proceedings thereupon shall be had as are hereinbefore provided for

The title acquired by all purchasers of real estate and chattels sold under and by virtue of the provisions of this section shall be absolute and indefeasible for all such estate or estates as shall have been in the possession of the decedent person or corporation for whom the fiduciary is acting And the sales shall have like effect as to the discharge of mortgages judgments liens or other incumbrances upon the said real estate as sales made by decree of any of the several orphans' courts of the Commonwealth for the discharge of the debts of decedents now have or may hereafter have in the several counties of this Commonwealth under existing laws And it shall be the duty of the court to decree the proper application of the purchase money of said property with the aid of an auditor when deemed necessary to the discharge of the various mortgages judgments liens or other incumbrances upon said real estate copartnership shall have been and remained due and unpaid for three successive years such dividends or profits debt or interest on debt shall be escheatable to the Commonwealth and shall be escheated in the manner hereinafter provided with interest actually accrued thereon to the date of the decree for the escheat of the same

Such escheat shall at the suggestion of the Auditor General be determined and enforced by an action in the nature of a bill in equity filed by and in the name of the Attorney General against the depositary fiduciary or debtor and all of his or its depositor beneficiaries or creditors for whom he or it holds unclaimed moneys escheatable under the provisions of this act in the appropriate court for the county where the debtor if an individual resides or if a corporation where it maintains its principal office Such action shall be brought in the court of common pleas except (a) where it is sought to escheat unclaimed trust funds in which case the same shall be brought in the court having jurisdiction of such funds and except (b) where it is sought to escheat moneys paid into or deposited in a court or in the custody of any officer thereof in which case such action shall be brought in the court into which the money was paid or in which it was deposited or in the custody of an officer of which court the said moneys are

When the moneys have been paid into and are in the custody of any court the escheat of the same shall be determined and enforced at the suggestion of the Auditor General by a petition filed by the Attorney General in said court upon which proceedings shall be had as in other cases of escheat provided for by this section Proceedings for the escheat of moneys in the possession or custody of any officer of any court shall be by a bill as provided for by this section in other cases in which bill such officer and the persons entitled to such moneys shall be made co-defendants

Any such escheat proceedings may be prosecuted whether the deposits dividends moneys funds or other property or estate sought to be escheated shall have been reported to the Auditor General in conformity with the provisions of this act or have not been so reported Any number of items may be joined in one action against one debtor though owed to different creditors

If service of the bill cannot be had on the creditors defendant within the State service shall be made by publication for two successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county in which the debtor is resident or has its principal office and also when practicable for the same period in such a newspaper published in the county within or without the Commonwealth where when last heard from by the debtor the creditor had his residence Publication may be made in such form as the court shall direct and need not contain any order or other paper in full

If such creditors or their legal representatives shall appear in the cause within the time limited by the court and establish their right to recover said sums from the debtor but for the provisions of this act and if this right shall not be barred by the statute of limitations or presumption of payment a decree shall be made for the payment of said sums to them after paying their proportionate part of the costs of the cause and of said advertising Provided That such persons on demand may have any issue of fact determined by a jury and if they shall not so appear and establish such right a decree shall be made that said sums have escheated and shall be paid by the debtor to the State Treasurer for the use of the Commonwealth and the amount of such decree shall bear interest at the rate of twelve per centum per year from sixty days after the same is made and such decree shall be effectual to bar the creditors from claiming the said sums from the debtor An appeal may be taken by either or any party to such action to the Supreme Court at any time within thirty days after the date of the decree issued therein

An action may be begun in the nature of a bill for discovery merely with respect to the subject matter of this act whether in this or other sections hereof against the debtor without the necessity of specifying the items which should escheat with the right to compel an answer under oath to subpoena all persons as witnesses and to compel the production of all books papers and records and from time to time the bill may be amended to pray for the escheat of specific items under this section seven and to make parties to the bill the creditors as ascertained.

Section 6 That section nine of the said act approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred fifteen (Pamphlet Laws page eight hundred seventy-eight) which reads as follows

"Section 9. After any such property received for storage or safe-keeping shall have remained without actual access thereto by the owner for ten successive years the same shall escheat to the Commonwealth After any such property so received and held for the benefit of another person shall have been demandable by such other person for ten successive years and shall not have been received by such other person the same shall escheat to the Commonwealth An escheator shall be appointed and proceedings had in the proper court to determine and enforce such escheat in the manner provided by law as though the person receiving or holding such property was a trustee seized thereof by deed in a fiduciary capacity and the beneficial owner thereof had been unknown for a period of seven years and still remained unknown Provided That in any case in which it shall be deemed to be for the public interest the Attorney General may at the request of the Auditor General prosecute such escheats with like force and effect and with all the powers and duties of an escheator appointed under existing laws and in all such cases escheators shall not be appointed And provided further That if the lawful owner shall appear in said court and claim the same no escheat shall occur but the same shall be awarded to the lawful owner" be and the same hereby is amended so as to read as follows

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate communications in writing from his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, filed with the Chief Clerk during the interim, which were read as follows:

APPROVAL OF SENATE BILLS NOS. 6, 15, 21, 31, 92, 164, 449.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 30, 1921.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed Senate Bill No. 6, entitled:

And Act making a deficiency appropriation to the State Hospital for Injured Persons of the Anthracite Coal Region of Pennsylvania at Ashland Schuylkill county, Pennsylvania."

Also Senate Bill No. 15, entitled:

Also Senate Bill No. 92, entitled:

"An Act validating certain elections of counties cities boroughs townships school districts and other incorporated districts held pursuant to the provisions of an act approved the twentieth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws sixty-five) entitled 'An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof' and the amendments thereto and validating bonds issued or authorized to be issued in pursuance of such elections."

Also Senate Bill No. 164, entitled:

"An Act to amend sections one and three of the act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and seven (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and twenty-one) entitled 'An act authorizing and directing the Secretary of Internal Affairs to compile and publish connected warrantee tract maps of each of the several counties of this Commonwealth making an appropriation for the work of compilation and directing the manner of sale and distribution of the same' as amended providing for the making of an atlas for permanent file and for the sale and distribution of blue print copies and providing for the distruction of unsold atlases heretofore published."

Also Senate Bill No. 449, entitled:

"An Act authorizing cities of the third class to elect an assistant city solicitor whose term of office shall be four years and whose compensation shall be fixed by ordinance."

WM. C. SPROUL.

APPROVAL OF SENATE BILL NO. 243.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, April 1, 1921.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed Senate Bill No. 243, entitled:

An Act fixing the salaries of mine inspectors in this Commonweath and the expenses incident to the office.

WM. C. SPROUL.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 155.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 31, 1921.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 155, entitled "An act to amend section twenty-one of an act approved the eleventh day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred and eighteen) entitled 'An act relating to dogs and the protection of livestock and poultry from damage by dogs; providing for the licensing of dogs; regulating the keeping of dogs and authorizing their destruction in certain cases; providing for the protection of licensed dogs and for dogs temporarily imported for trial, show and breeding purposes; prescribing certain privileges for hunting dogs and dogs owned or used by the Board of Game Commissioners; providing for the assessment of damages done by dogs and payment thereof by the proper county to the owners of livestock and poultry and of damages to licensed dogs; imposing powers and duties on certain state, county, city, borough, town and township officers and employes and on city councils of cities of the first and second class and providing penalties.'"

Under the terms of this bill any dog seen in the act of pursuing poultry may be killed; it matters not that the pursuit may be innocent, and that no harm may result from it. The protection of poultry from destruction by dogs does not, in my opinion, require legislation which is so drastic.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

WM. C. SPROUL.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Section 609 Companies to Which Act Applies That all stock casualty insurance companies heretofore or hereafter incorporated or formed by authority of any general or special law shall be subject to the provisions and requirements of this act except those companies incorporated under the provisions of the act approved April twenty-eighth one thousand nine hundred and three entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of corporations for the purpose of making insurance upon the health of individuals and against personal injury and disablement and death therein limiting the amount for which such corporations may issue policies and providing the manner in which certain existing corporations may become reincorporated under this act" and companies heretofore organized under the act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four Pamphlet Laws seventy-three (P L 73) entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" and the several supplements thereto for the purpose of guaranteeing the fidelity of persons in positions of trust and to act as surety on official bonds which latter companies shall come under the provisions of this act only upon acceptance thereof as hereinbefore provided

(b) HEALTH AND ACCIDENT INSURANCE

Section 616 Copies of Policies to be Filed with Insurance Commissioner No policy of insurance against loss from sickness or loss or damage from bodily injury or death of the insured by accident shall be issued or delivered by any stock or mutual casualty company or any stock or mutual life insurance company issuing such policies to any person in this Commonwealth until a copy of the form thereof and of the classification of risks and the premium rates pertaining thereto have been filed with the Insurance Commissioner nor shall it be so issued or delivered until the expiration of thirty days after it has been so filed unless the Insurance Commissioner shall sooner give his written approval thereto If the Insurance Commissioner shall notify in writing the company corporation association or other insurer which has filed such form that it does not comply with the requirements of law specifying the reasons for his opinion it shall be unlawful thereafter for any such insurer to issue any policy in such form. The action of the Insurance Commissioner in this regard shall be subject to review by the court of common pleas of Dauphin County

Section 617 Conditions Subject to Which Policies are to be Issued No such policy shall be issued or delivered except subject to the following conditions (a) unless the entire money and other consideration therefor are expressed in the policy nor (b) unless the time at which the insurance thereunder takes effect and terminates is stated in a portion of the policy preceding its execution by the insurer nor (c) if the policy purports to insure more than one person nor (d) unless every printed portion thereof and of any endorsemtns or attached papers shall be plainly printed in type of which the face shall be not smaller than ten point nor (e) unless a brief description thereof be printed on its first page and on its filing back in type of which the face shall be not smaller than fourteen point nor (f) unless the exceptions of the policy be printed with the same prominence as the benefits to which they apply Provided however That any portion of such policy which purports by reason of the circumstances under which a loss is incurred to reduce any indemnity promised therein to an amount less than that provided for the same loss occurring under ordinary circumstances shall be printed in bold face type and with greater prominence than any other portion of the text of the policy.

Section 618 Standard Policy Provisions Every such policy so issued shall contain certain standard provisions which shall be in the words and in the order hereinafter set forth and be preceded in every policy by the caption "standard provisions" In each such standard provision wherever the word "insurer" is used there shall be substituted therefor the word "company" or "corporation" or "association" or "society" Such standard provisions shall be

(a) A standard provision relative to the contract which may be in either of the following two forms form (A) to be used in policies which do not provide for reduction of indemnity on account of change of occupation and form (B) to be used in policies which do so provide If form (B) is used and the policy provides indemnity against loss from sickness the words "or contracts sickness" may be inserted therein immediately after the words "in the event that the insured is injured"

"(A) 1 This policy includes the endorsements and attached papers if any and contains the entire contract of insurance No reduction shall be made in any indemnity herein provided by reason of change in the occupation of the insured or by reason of his doing any act or thing pertaining to any other occupation"

"(B) 1 This policy includes the endorsements and attached papers if any and contains the entire contract of insurance except as it may be modified by the insurer's classification of risks and premium rates in the event that the insured is injured after having changed his occupation to one classified by the insurer as more hazardous than that stated in the policy or while he is doing any act or thing pertaining to any occupation so classified except ordinary duties about his residence or while engaged in recreation in which event the insurer will pay only such portion of the indemnities provided in the policy as the premium paid would have purchased at the rate but within the limits so fixed by the insurer for such more hazardous occupation

If the law of the State in which the insured resides at the time this policy is issued requires that prior to its issue a statement of the premium rates and classification of risks pertaining to it shall be filed with the state official having supervision of insurance in such state then the premium rates and classification of risks mentioned in this policy shall mean only such as have been last filed by the insurer in accordance with such law but if such filing is not required by such law then they shall mean the insurer's premium rates and classification of risks last made effective by it in such state prior to the occurrence of the loss for which the insurer is liable"

(b) A standard provision relative to changes in the contract which shall be in the following form

"2 No statement made by the applicant for insurance not included herein shall avoid the policy or be used in any legal proceeding hereunder No agent has authority to change this policy or to waive any of its provisions No change in this policy shall be valid unless approved by an executive officer of the insurer and such approval be endorsed hereon"

(c) A standard provision relative to reinstatement of policy after lapse which may be in either of the three following forms Form (A) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from accident Form (B) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from sickness and form (C) to be used in policies which insure against loss from both accident and sickness

"(A) 3 If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the insurer or by any of its duty authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover loss resulting from accidental injury thereafter sustained"

"(B) 3 If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover such sickness as may begin more than ten days after the date of such acceptance"

"(C) 3 If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover accidental injury thereafter sustained and such sickness as may begin more than ten days after the date of such acceptance"

(i) A standard provision relative to the time within which payments other than those for loss of time on account of disability shall be made which provision may be in either of the following two forms and which may be omitted from any policy providing only indemnity for loss of time on account of disability The insurer shall insert in the blank space either the word "immediately" or appropriate language to designate such period of time not more than sixty days as it may desire Form (A) to be used in policies which do not provide indemnity for loss of time on account of disability and Form (B) to be used in policies which do so provide

"(A) 9 All indemnities provided in this policy will be paid ..... after receipt of due proof"

"(B) 9 All indemnities provided in this policy for loss other than that of time on account of disability will be paid ..... after receipt of due proof"

(j) A standard provision relative to periodical payments of indemnity for loss of time on account of disability which provision shall be in the following form and which may be omitted from any policy not providing for such indemnity The insurer shall insert in the first blank space of the form appropriate language to designate the proportion of accrued indemnity it may desire to pay which proportion may be all or any part not less than one-half and in the second blank space shall insert any period of time not exceeding sixty days

"10 Upon request of the insured and subject to due proof of loss ..... accrued indemnity for loss of time on account of disability will be paid at the expiration of each ..... during the continuance of the period for which the insurer is liable and any balance remaining unpaid at the termination of such period will be paid immediately upon receipt of due proof"

(k) A standard provision relative to indemnity payments which may be either of the two following forms Form (A) to be used in policies which designate a beneficiary and Form (B) to be used in policies which do not designate any beneficiary other than the insured

"(A) 11 Indemnity for loss of life of the insured is payable to the beneficiary if surviving the insured and otherwise to the estate of the insured All other indemnities of this policy are payable to the insured"

"(B) 11 All the indemnities of this policy are payable to the insured

(l) A standard provision providing for cancellation of the policy at the instance of the insured which shall be in the following form

"12 If the insured shall at any time change his occupation to one classified by the insurer as less hazardous than that stated in the policy the insurer upon written request of the insured and surrender of the policy will cancel the same and will return to the insured the unearned premium"

(m) A standard provision relative to the right of the beneficiary under the policy which shall be in the following form and which may be omitted from any policy not designating a beneficiary

"13 Consent of the beneficiary shall not be requisite to surrender or assignment of this policy or to change of beneficiary or to any other changes in the policy"

(n) A standard provision limiting the time within which suit may be brought upon the policy as follows

"14 No action at law or in equity shall be brought to recover on this policy prior to the expiration of sixty days after proof of the loss has been filed in accordance with the requirements of this policy nor shall such action be brought at all unless brought within two years from the expiration of the time within which proof of loss is required by the policy"

(o) A standard provision relative to time limitations of the policy as follows

"15 If any time limitation of this policy with respect to giving notice of claim or furnishing proof of loss is less than that permitted by the law of the State in which the insured resides at the time this policy is issued such limitation is hereby extended to agree with the minimum period permitted by such law"

Section 619 Optional Standard Policy Provisions No such policy shall be so issued or delivered which contains any provision (a) relative to cancellation at the instance of the insurer or (b) limiting the amount of indemnity to a sum less than the amount stated in the policy and for which the premium has been paid or (c) providing for the deduction of any premium from the amount paid in settlement of claim or (d) relative to other insurance by the same insurer or (e) relative to the age limits of the policy unless such provisions which are hereby designated as optional standard provisions shall be in the words and in the order in which they are hereinafter set forth but the insurer may at its option omit from the policy any such optional standard provision Such optional standard provisions if inserted in the policy shall immediately succeed the standard provisions named in the section immediately preceding of this act

(a) An optional standard provision relative to cancellation of the policy at the instance of the insurer as follows

"16 The insurer may cancel this policy at any time by written notice delivered to the insured or mailed to his last address as shown by the records of the insurer together with cash or the insurer's check for the unearned portion of the premiums actually paid by the insured and such cancellation shall be without prejudice to any claim originating prior thereto"

(b) An optional standard provision relative to reduction of the amount of indemnity to a sum less than that stated in the policy as follows:

"17 If the insured shall carry with another company corporation association or society other insurance covering the same loss without giving written notice to the insurer then in that case the insurer shall be liable only for such portion of the indemnity promised as the said indemnity bears to the total amount of like indemnity in all policies covering such loss and for the return of such part of the premium paid as shall exceed the pro rata for the indemnity thus determined"

(c) An optional standard provision relative to deduction of premium upon settlement of claim as follows

"18 Upon the payment of claim hereunder any premium then due and unpaid or covered by any note or written order may be deducted therefrom"

(d) An optional standard provision relative to other insurance by the same insurer which shall be in such one of the following forms as may be appropriate to the indemnities provided and in the blank spaces of which the insurer shall insert such upward limits of indemnity as are specified by the insurers classification of risks filed as requred by this act

"(A) 19 If a like policy or policies previously issued by the insurer to the insured be in force concurrently herewith making the aggregate indemnity in excess of $..... the excess insurance shall be void and all premiums paid for such excess shall be returned to the insured"

RESERVE LIABILITY

(a) LIFE INSURANCE

Section 301 Computation of Reserve Liability The Insurance Commissioner shall each year compute the reserve liability as of the thirty-first day of December of the preceding year of every company authorized to make insurance on lives in this Commonwealth in accordance with the terms of the policy contract and the rules following

(a) The net value of all outstanding policies of life insurance issued by the company prior to the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and ninety shall be computed upon the basis of the American experience table of mortality with interest at not less than four and one-half and not more than six per centum per annum

(b) The net value of all outstanding policies issued between the first day of January one thousand eight hundred and ninety and the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and three on the combined experience or actuaries' table of mortality with interest at four per centum per annum

(c) The net value of all outstanding policies of life insurance issued on and after the first day of January nineteen hundred and three on the American experience table of mortality with interest at three and one-half per centum per annum

(d) The net value of all policies of life insurance issued on and after January first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one where the premiums are payable monthly or oftener shall be value according to the American experience table of mortality with interest at three and one-half per centum per annum But any company may voluntarily value its industrial policies according to the Standard Industrial Mortality table with interest at three and one-half per centum per annum

The net value of a policy at any time shall be taken to be the single net premium which will at that time effect the insurance less the value at that time of the future net premiums called for by the table of mortality and rate of interest designated

The legal minimum standard for valuation of annuities issued after January one one thousand nine hundred and twelve shall be McClintock's table of mortality among annuitants with interest at three and one-half per centum per annum but annuities deferred ten or more years and written in connection with life or term insurance shall be valued upon the same mortality table from which the consideration or premiums were computed with interest not higher than three and one-half per centum per annum

Any such company may however at any time elect to reserve on the American experience table of mortality with a lower rate of interest but at a rate not less than three per centum and its policy obligation shall thereafter be valued accordingly

The aggregate net value so ascertained of the policies of any such life insurance company shall be deemed its reserve liability to provide for which it shall hold funds in secure investments of an amount equal to such net value above all its other liabilities The Insurance Commissioner shall after having determined as above the net value of all the policies in force see that the company has that amount in safe legal securities after all its other debts and claims against it have been provided for The provisions of this section for the valuation of policies and for premium rates shall not apply to companies or associations transacting business on the mutual assessment plan

Section 302 Notice of Impairment of Funds Whenever any life insurance company doing business in this Commonwealth has not on hand the net value as above defined of all policies in force after all other debts and claims against it including fifty per centum of capital have been provided for the Insurance Commissioner shall notify such company and its agents to issue no new policies until its funds become equal to its liabilities

Section 303 Separate Liability of Companies Charging Less than Net Premiums Computed on Mortality Tables Unlawful to Issue Policies Below Rate Fixed in Mortality Tables When the actual premiums charged by any life insurance company doing business in the Commonwealth is less than the net premium for such insurance computed according to the table of mortality and rate of interest prescribed in this act such company shall be charged as a separate liability with the value of an annuity the amount of which shall equal the difference between such premiums and the term of which in years shall equal the number of future annual payments due on such insurance at the date of the valuation but it shall be unlawful for any such company to issue to a resident of this Commonwealth or for a domestic company to issue to a non-resident any insurance for a premium less than that prescribed by the table of mortality and rate of interest corresponding to the reserve value thereof

Section 304 Valuations by Other States The Insurance Commissioner shall accept the valuations made by the proper officer of the state under whose authority a life insurance company was organized when such valuations are made on a basis that will give values at least equal to the valuation above defined and when the state under which the company was organized accepts the valuations made by the Insurance Commissioner for the companies organized under the laws of this Commonwealth Each life insurance company shall furnish to the Insurance Commissioner on or before the first day of March in each year a certificate from the proper officer of such state setting forth the value of all the policies of the company in force on the previous thirty-first day of December Any company failing to furnish such certificate shall be required to make full detailed list of policies to the Insurance Commissioner and shall be liable for all charges and expenses resulting from the failure to furnish said certificate

Section 305 Valuation of Securities All bonds or other evidences of debt held by life insurance companies or fraternal beneficiary societies authorized to do business in this Commonwealth may if amply secured and if not in default as to principal or interest be valued as follows If purchased at par at the par value if purchased above or below par on the basis of the purchase price adjusted so as to bring the value at maturity and so as to yield meantime the effective rate of interest at which the purchase was made but the purchase price shall in no case be taken at a higher figure than the actual market value at the time of purchase The Insurance Commissioner shall have full discretion in determining the method of calculating values according to the foregoing rule and the values found by him in accordance with such method shall be final and binding Any such company or society may return such bonds or other evidences of debt at their market value or their book value but in no case at an aggregate value exceeding the aggregate of the values calculated according to the foregoing rule

This section shall not be construed to require any life insurance company or fraternal beneficiary society authorized to do business in this Commonwealth which shall not elect to value its bonds and other evidences of debt by amortization as herein provided to do so but any company or society electing to adopt the amortized basis shall continue to have its bonds valued upon that basis

(b) INSURANCE OTHER THAN LIFE INSURANCE

Section 310 Computation of Unearned Premium Liability In determining the liabilities upon its contracts of insurance of any insurance company other than life insurance companies and the amount such company should hold as an unearned premium liability the Insurance Commissioner shall for casualty insurance charge one-half of the premium on all annual policies written within one year and on policies written for more than one year he shall charge one-half of the current year's premiums plus the whole of the premiums for subsequent years For fire insurance he shall charge fifty per centum of the premiums written in their policies upon all unexpired risks that have one year or less than one year to run and a pro rata of all premiums on risks having more than one year to run on perpetual insurance he shall charge the cash deposit received less a surrender charge of not exceeding ten per centum thereof For marine and inland insurance he shall charge fifty per centum of the premium written in the policy upon yearly risks and upon risks covering more than one passage not terminated and the full amount of the premium written in the policy upon all other marine and inland risks not terminated

Section 311 Computation of Reserve Against Unpaid Losses in Casualty Insurance The Insurance Commissioner shall in calculating the reserve against unpaid losses of casualty companies other than losses under liability and workmen's compensation policies set down by careful estimate in each case the loss likely to be incurred against every claim presented or that may be presented in pursuance of notice from the insured of the occurrence of an event that may result in a loss The sum of the items so estimated shall be the total amount of the reserve except that in credit insurance fifty per centum of the premiums on all credit policies expiring in the months of October November and December of the current year less the amount of losses paid on such policies shall in addition thereto be charged in the loss reserve

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 760, as follows:

An Act authorizing the State Highway Department to pay to or for certain railroad companies certain sums of money in satisfaction of certain credits extended to the State Highway Department by said railroad companies for the cost of transporting road building materials for use upon State highways said credits being the difference in the freight rate in force when the contracts for the road construction were made and the freight rate authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission prior to completion of work thereunder directing and restricting the payment of such sums to the amounts expended by said railroad companies in the elimination of grade crossings under order of The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and making an appropriation therefor

Whereas during the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty the Interstate Commerce Commission made an order allowing railroad companies to increase freight rates in the amount of forty per centum which increase was approved by the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and in pursuance of said order the freight rates were so increased and

Whereas at the time of said increase there existed between the State Highway Department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and numerous persons firms and corporations contracts for the construction improvement and repair of highways within the Commonwealth the price of which was based upon the freight rate in force at the time of the execution of the contracts and

Whereas the contractors were unable to finish the said contracts if compelled to pay the increased cost of transportation for road building materials and the railroads being prohibited by the act of Congress of February twenty-eighth nineteen hundred and twenty known as the "Transportation Act nineteen hundred and twenty" from extending credit to the said contractors the said railroads agreed to extend credit to the State Highway Department of the Commonewalth of Pennsylcania at the request of said department for the difference between the freight rate existing at the time of the execution of the contracts and the new freight rate authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission and

Whereas in accordance with this arrangement all materials shipped for road construction were consigned to the State Highway Department which paid on account therefor an amount equal to the transportation charges circulated at the rate charged at the time of the execution of the contracts and deducted from the amounts due said contractors under their contracts the amounts of money so paid to the said railroad companies and

Whereas the said railroad companies have not been paid the balance of said freight bills which they were entitled to receive which represents the additional charges due under the increased freight rate as authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission Now

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the State Highway Department is hereby authorized to pay to the several railroad companies which have transported materials to complete highway contracts executed prior to the time at which the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission referred to became effective the sum or sums of money representing the difference between the amount of said freight bills calculated under the old and the new freight rate Said moneys shall be paid within the limit of the amounts due said railroad companies respectively under the provisions hereof in satisfaction and reimbursement of any sum or sums of money expended by any of said railroad companies hereafter for work done by them in the elimination of grade crossings or for any payment of money made by said railroad companies pursuant to any award or order of the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania directing that such work be done or money paid by any of said railroad companies in connection with the elimination of grade crossings in such cases where the work of such elimination has not been commenced at the date this act shall go into effect in the same manner as other bills are authorized by law to be paid by said State Highway Department

Section 2 For the purpose of carrving out the provisions of this act the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated to the State Highway Department

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 766, as follows:

An Act to amend section twenty-two of an act approved the second day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws sixty-six) entitled "An act defining and regulating escheats in cases where property is without a lawful owner and providing for more convenient proceedings relative to the same" by providing that the traverse to a finding of escheat in certain cases only shall be certified to the court of common pleas

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section twenty-two of an act approved the second day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws sixty-six) entitled "An act defining and regulating escheats in cases where property is without a lawful owner and providing for more convenient proceedings relative to the same" which reads as follows

"Section 22 That any person or persons interested or claiming to be interested in any property real or personal which shall be found to have escheated to the Commonwealth who have had no actual notice by citation advertisement or otherwise of the pendency of any proceedings in escheat prior to the conclusion of the audit of the account of the person having the escheated property in his possession and who shall not have subsequently appeared either in person or by attorney in said escheat proceedings may at any time within three years next after the filing of the final adjudication or finding in escheat or the absolute confirmation thereof traverse the same under oath or affirmation by writing filed in the court finding the same setting forth his her or their interest in said property and in what particular said finding or adjudication is not true and correct which said traverse shall be tried in the court of common pleas of the same county in which the original proceedings have been instituted or where the proceedings have been instituted in the Supreme court in the court of common pleas of such county as said Supreme court may designate And where said escheat proceedings have not been instituted in the court of common pleas the courts wherein they have been instituted shall certify the finding or adjudication of escheat and the traverse thereof to the proper court of common pleas for trial And said traverse shall be tried in like manner and form and with like effect as traverse of inquisitions in escheat have been heretofore commonly tried under existing laws And a writ of error shall lie in such case to the Supreme court at the suit of any traverser or of the Commonwealth And upon the determination of such traverse the court trying the same shall if necessary certify the final result thereof to the court in which the original proceedings have been instituted and in case upon the trial of said traverse it shall be found that the property in question or any part thereof had not escheated and that the person or persons filing said traverse are entitled to the same or any part thereof then and in such case said person or persons shall be entitled to receive and to have delivered to them possession of all such property real or personal as shall not have been sold or paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth and in case the same has been sold or paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth to receive back again from the Commonwealth such sum or sums of money as may have been realized from the sale or payment thereof after deducting all expenses or a proportionable part of said sum or sums according as his or their interest shall be made to appear Provided nevertheless That if at the time of the institution of the proceedings in escheat as aforesaid any person having any claim to any of the property real or personal found to have escheated shall be insane or a minor then and in such case said person whether he has had actual notice of the pendency of the proceedings in escheat or not may if he has not appeared in said proceedings by his committee or guardian or by the attorney of such committee or guardian at any time within three years after recovering his sound mind and memory or attaining full age as the case may be traverse the said finding or adjudication of escheat in like manner and form and with like force and effect as is hereinbefore provided" be and the same is hereby amended so as to read

Section 22. That any person or persons interested or claiming to be interested in any property real or personal which shall be found to have escheated to the Commonwealth who have had no actual notice by citation advertisement or otherwise of the pendency of any proceedings in escheat prior to the conclusion of the audit of the account of the person having the escheated property in his possession and who shall not have subsequently appeared either in person or by attorney in said escheat proceedings may at any time within three years next after the filing of the final adjudication or finding in escheat or the absolute confirmation thereof traverse the same under oath or affirmation by writing filed in the court finding the same setting forth his her or their interest in said property and in what particular said finding or adjudication is not true and correct which said traverse shall be tried in the court of common pleas of the same county in which the original proceedings have been instituted or where the proceedings have been instituted in the Supreme court in the court of common pleas of such county as said Supreme court may designate And where said escheat proceedings have not been instituted in the court of common pleas the courts wherein they have been instituted shall certify the finding or adjudication of escheat and the traverse thereof to the proper court of common pleas for trial And said traverse shall be tried in like manner and form and with like effect as traverse of inquisition in escheat have been heretofore commonly tried under existing laws Provided however That before such traverse is certified by the orphans' court to the court of common pleas the orphans' court shall grant a preliminary hearing to such traverser or traversers and thereafter the traverse shall not be certified to the court of common pleas unless the evidence of relationship is such that if believed by a jury would justify the court in sustaining a verdict in favor of the traverser And a writ of error shall lie in such case to the Supreme court at the suit of any traverser or of the Commonwealth And upon the determination of such traverse the court trying the same shall if necessary certify the final result thereof to the court in which the original proceedings have been instituted and in case upon the trial of said traverse it shall be found that the property in question or any part thereof had not escheated and that the person or persons filing said traverse are entitled to the same or any part thereof then and in such case said person or persons shall be entitled to receive and to have delivered to them possession of all such property real or personal as shall not have been sold or paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth and in case the same has been sold or paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth to receive back again from the Commonwealth such sum or sums of money as may have been realized from the sale or payment thereof after deducting all expenses or a proportionable part of said sum or sums according as his or their interest shall be made to appear. Provided nevertheless That if at the time of the institution of the proceedings in escheat as aforesaid any person having any claim to any of the property real or personal found to have escheated shall be insane or a minor then and in such case said person whether he has had actual notice of the pendency of the proceedings in escheat or not may if he has not appeared in said proceedings by his committee or guardian or by the attorney of such committee or guardian at any time within three years after recovering his sound mind and memory or attaining full age as the case may be traverse the said finding or adjudication of escheat in like manner and form and with like force and effect as is hereinbefore provided

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 772 (House Bill No. 269), on second reading, entitled:

An Act to protect all persons in their equal rights regardless of race color or creed in places of public accommodation entertainment education or amusement and providing penalty for violation of the same be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. CULBERTSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, and members of the Senate. This bill was originally in my committee and I think I am a big enough man to handle any committee that I have charge of. I think that I have served the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania long enough to have the respect not only of these Senators, but every citizen of this Commonwealth, and I will consider it a personal insult and affront to me if this bill is referred to any other committee. I will go so far that if this bill is referred to any committee but my own to put my resignation in the hands of the presiding officer this very night of my life. I think it is a bold proposition for any man to make such an insulting proposition to a man who has served his constituency as I have served mine. That bill was in my committee and should stay there and I do not think that any man who sits in this Senate who has self respect, and I will stand before you with every drop of fighting blood that God Almighty gave me to ask you men to say whether I am fit to be here or am not fit, and if you pass this motion to recommit this bill then I am not fit, and I will resign to-night as sure as God Almighty gave me breath.

What is there in this bill, what is there in this bill, but the right of Christian people to whom God Almighty and the American Constitution and the Constitution of Pennsylvania has said you have a right to life, you have a right to be here and you are citizens. They ask for no more than any other class of people and will accept no less than the right for life. They are here; they are human being, and the fair name of our Commonwealth is now at stake. The moment it is defeated it will be a black mark on the State of Pennsylvania, a shame upon its citizens, a shame on every body, that in a community such as this, some of our people will have to come to us and say give us that which belongs to us. They ask for nothing except what is right, and perhaps if any motion would have been made other than the one that was made I would not have felt so serious about it. But at the same time there is no reason for a hearing. This bill was in the House for weeks. There was every opportunity given to every man who had a complaint to appear, and they did not appear. What is the idea now? This bill was before the Senate years ago, and after fooling around with it until it was too late to pass in proper shape, finally it did pass, and when it passed it was in such condition that it meant nothing, and this is just the fooling of some men now, trying to carry it over until a late date and then the time will arrive when nothing will be done. You cannot get behind the responsibility in this bill. You either have to defeat it or have to pass it, you must face the conditions, and might as well face them now.

I am told that some hotel men are opposed to the bill. Nobody else but a few hotel men. What do they represent? What reason do they have to oppose the bill that is backed by justice and God Almighty, and that is a majority. You cannot get behind it, you might as well face it now. You will not be able to get away from it, and you have to show your hand on it. This bill is not only applicable to colored people, it is applicable to all, and I have right here a letter I want to read to the members of this Senate, showing you that this bill ought to be passed by Pennsylvania, because this letter comes from a Pennsylvanian. Gentlemen, I am surprised that such people should live in the confines of our State. I have a boy thirteen years of age. He goes to the Germantown Academy in Philadelphia, which is a Quaker institution. In that Quaker institution, there is a professor named Geyser who is interested in this boy, and said to me, "let me take him up to my camp, where I am a professor and teacher," and I agreed, and I sent my money up there, and this is what I got back. This does not only apply to colored people and I am going to read you this letter. The man at the head of the camp is a Quaker, Arthur M. Palmer, and I am reading this letter because I want it to go on the record of Pennsylvania. I want you Pennsylvanians to know that within the four corners of your State there lives such a beast as this man Palmer, and he is a beast. I want it to go on the record.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT, The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR, Mr. President. The Senator from Philadelphia is not discussing Senate Bill No. 772, House Bill No. 269.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair sustains the point of order raised by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr. The only discussion that is germain is on the motion to recommit and not the merits of the bill.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I am sorry. You will have to listen sooner or later, because it is in me and is going to come out. Gentlemen I want to say to you that this is an unfair motion, that this bill should not be recommitted. In the first place because every opportunity has been given to everybody to consider this bill. There were two hearings, and those who opposed the bill in the House did not appear at any time. There were four or five weeks of ample notice given to anybody that was opposed to this bill to appear. They did not appear. This bill came over to the Senate and no request was made for a hearing, and why at this time these people who have no reason and can offer no reason or any excuse for the non-passage of this bill, should ask a hearing I cannot understand. Why anybody should demand that it be taken from the committee that I am the head of I cannot understand. I am going to say to you Senators, that what I said I meant. If I am not fit to handle a piece of legislation duly presented to my committee of which I am chairman, I am not fit to be a member of this Senate, and by your vote on this proposition you will decide whether or not I will remain a member of the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I sat in this Senate for three terms with the gentleman from Philadelphia. Sometimes I have been with him, sometimes I have been opposed to those measures that he has advocated. I have always found him absolutely fair in giving a hearing to friend and foe alike on any bill that was in his committee, and I therefore move to amend the motion, so that this bill be referred to the Committee on Law and Order for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, if I am in order, the amendment not having been seconded, if I were permitted to pay my respects to the Senator from Philadelphia, it would be a respect due him, and the motion that was made on this bill was not directed at the chairman of the committee from which this bill came. The records show that this bill came from the committee on Judiciary General of the House of Representatives. It is a bill that properly belongs there and it is properly placed in Judiciary General Committee of the Senate of Pennsylvania for consideration and not in the committee on Law and Order, and because the bill was sent to the Committee on Law and Order is no reason why that mistake should be perpetuated by the mover of this motion, and that is why the motion was made to commit this bill to the Committee on Judiciary General for the the purpose of a hearing. It is not extraordinary to request a bill to be recommitted for the purpose of a hearing. We have tonight sent bills on second reading and third reading to committees for amendment and for hearings, and because this bill strikes home on somebody's district is no reason why it should not be heard. I can say to the Senator from Philadelphia that I personally have never had a chance to hear an argument for or against this bill. I was in committee where I was trying to do my duty as a Senator in the State of Pennsylvania, at the call of the Chairman of the Committee to which I belong. Would he ask that I leave those committees and go to that hearing or would be expect me to stay at my place and do my duty in the Senate? I did sneak away from one committee meeting fifteen or twenty minutes and went down stairs to listen to an argument. Will the Senator from Philadelphia say to the Senator from Allegheny, "You are prepared to vote on this bill by virtue of the fact that you sat at the hearing fifteen minutes?" Would he say to me as a practicing lawyer of the county of Philadelphia that I could sit as a juror fifteen or twenty minutes in a case and leave it and go back there and render a verdict according to the law and the evidence? Is that what he means to tell me? Why, it is ridiculous, gentlemen of the Senate, that this hearing has been called for and should not be granted. These men have asked for it through the secretary of the Hotel Men's Association of the State of Pennsylvania. It represents a tremendous investment and why there should be a quibble on the matter of a hearing is beyond my conception. Now, then I have explained to the Senator from Philadelphia why I have asked it to go back to the Committee on Judiciary General. Nothing was meant against the Chairman of the committee from which it came. No one in this Senate has a higher respect either for his ability or character, and I repeat that with all the emphasis that I can lay upon it, but I do say that because one mistake was made at the desk and this bill was sent to his committee is no reason why the Senator from Philadelphia should make the same mistake in asking it to go back to the Committee where it did not belong.

The PRESIDENT. Is the motion to amend seconded?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question, will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I was just going to suggest that the Chairman of the Law and Order Committee, which had this bill originally, has not denied to any interest in Pennsylvania a hearing upon this bill. I have no doubt he is perfectly willing to give a hearing to all interested that desire to be heard, and for that reason, I think the bill ought to go back to his committee from which it came.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, The Senator from Allegheny is wrong in his thought as to what committee this bill should have gone to. This bill has the same right in the Law and Order Committee as it has in the Judiciary General Committee. I remember bills in the past being given to this Senate and they went to the Judiciary Special, and over in the House that bill should have gone to the Judiciary Special, if there is any special committee for any particular kind of a bill. I do not agree with the Senator from Allegheny at all that this bill went to the wrong committee. On the contrary I think it went to the right committee. If it did not belong in the Law and Order, it belonged in the Judiciary Special where it always was before.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, May I call the attention of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare and the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus that every lawyer, that is on the Committee on Law and Order is also on the Committee on Judiciary General, and the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, is the second name mentioned on that commitee. Now what hardship can be worked in sending this back to the committee where I think it properly belongs, is beyond me.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Barr and Mr. Long and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—27.

Aron,	Eyre,	MacDade,	Schantz,
Boyd,	Gray,	McConnell,	Service,
Buckman,	Heaton,	McNichol,	Sisson,
Craig,	Herron,	Murdoch,	Snyder,
Crow,	Homsher,	Patton,	Vare,
Daix,	Joyce,	Phipps,	Baldwin,
Einstein,	Leslie,	Salus,	Pres. pro tem.

NAYS—19.

Barnes,	Culbertson,	McClintock,	Sones,
Barr,	DeWitt,	Miller, J. S.,	Stineman,
Berntheizel,	Donahue,	Miller, S. J.,	Weaver,
Christley,	Long,	Norton,	Woodward.
Clark,	Marlow,	Smith,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion as amended?
It was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,
The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,
The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 777 (House Bill No. 524), entitled:

An Act to further amend an act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and thirty-nine), the title of which as amended by an act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws twelve hundred twenty) reads: Relating to the right to practice medicine and surgery in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and providing a Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure as a bureau of the Department of Public Instruction and means and methods whereby the right to practice medicine and surgery and any of its branches may be obtained and exemptions therefrom and providing for an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act and providing for revocation and suspension of licenses by said bureau and providing penalties for violation thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith by amending sections three (3) and four (4) and five (5) and six (6) and twelve (12) by providing certain equivalents for preliminary education by omitting certain required published notices by reconstituting a quorum by omitting second year examinations by recasting and extending terms on which reciprocity may be established and by clarifying the several sections.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,
Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, April 4, 1921.

The House met at 9 o'clock P. M.
The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Lord God Almighty, infinite and eternal, with Thee is the final issue of all things, and Thy decision is the last and only one that counts. Grant unto us that we may remember this so that all times there can stand on every law and action, whether of state, nation or individual, that hallmark of approval of the heavenly High-mind and will, and may we gather as the children of Israel gathered around the great rock in the desert, flame encircled, trembling and fearing Thee as Thou didst thunder Thy mandates from its craggy heights, and hear Thee say all that the Lord hath said, "Well done."

And under the divine descendant of David's greatest son, help us to so arrange our lives, so think our thoughts and so pursue our course that Thou canst look down with divine approbation on all that shall be said and done. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of Thursday, March 31, 1921.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the proceedings of Thursday, March 31, 1921, when, on the motion of Mr. Fox, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

WM. C. SPROUL.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Alexander, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, the question of personal privilege is occasioned by an item purporting to be a report from the State Treasurer, Mr. Kephart, found in the Morning Ledger of Saturday, April 2, 1921, referring to myself a member of the House of Representatives. On last Thursday I served in the House, upon the Hon. Harmon M. Kephart, Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the following notice, dated March 30, 1921:

"Sir: The Act of March 30th, 1811, 8 Smith's Laws, page 238, P. L. 156, Section 46, provides:

"That the State Treasurer shall, on the Fourth Monday in December, annually, make report to the Legislature, exhibiting in detail the receipts and expenditures of the State Treasury for the preceding year, ending at the last day of November, designating the names of every person from whom moneys have been received and to whom moneys have been paid, and on what account; and the Auditor General shall on the same day annually make report which shall exhibit in the abstract a statement of the finances of the Commonwealth, which reports of the State Treasurer and Auditor-General shall be previously printed and six hundred copies of each delivered to the clerk of the House of Representatives, the expense of printing and all other expenses attending the same to be paid out of the aggregate funds of the Commonwealth, on warrants drawn in the usual manner.

The Act of March 16th, 1832, P. L. 154, Section 1, provides:

"That it shall be the duty of the State Treasurer to digest, prepare and lay before the General Assembly, at the commencement of every session, a report on the subject of finance, containing estimates of the public revenue and public expenditures and plans for the support of public credit, and for improving or increasing revenue, from time to time, for the purpose of giving information to the General Assembly in adopting modes of raising money requisite to meet the public expenditure.

And Section 2 of the same Act provides:

"That it shall be the duty of the State Treasurer to annex to the annual estimates of the appropriation required for the public service of the year, which may have been made by former acts, and also a statement of the same remaining in the Treasury from the appropriation of former years, estimating the amount of such sums which will not be required to defray expenses incurred in a previous year, and showing the whole amount which will be subject to the disposition of the government in the year to which the estimates apply.

"Although requested to do so, you have refused or neglected to file your report for the fiscal years ending on the thirtieth day of November, 1919 and 1920, as directed by said Acts of Assembly and, by reason thereof, the members of the Legislature are unable to ascertain either the amount of moneys expended by the various departments of the government, or the manner and purpose for which said expenditures were made, as well as the amount available for appropriations for the next two years, and, lacking this information they are unable to intelligently and fully and properly perform their duties with respect to any appropriation bills that they may be called to act upon and the necessity for any increased taxation to be imposed upon the property of the citizens of the Commonwealth.

Therefore, as a member of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and legally entitled to receive a report as provided by the above Acts, I request you to file your report as provided, in compliance therewith, on or before April 11th, 1921, and if for any reason you are unable to do so by that time, to state the earliest date possible that you can file the same, together with any reason you may have why you have failed as a State official to perform your duty and comply with the requirements of the law."

The issue that I referred to in the beginning states that Mr. Kephart stated to the reporter in this paper that he had answered that report and he said as follows, according to the statement: "The State Treasurer said that he had informed Mr. Alexander he noted he had quoted Acts of 1811 and 1832, and then added: 'If you will have some lawyer look up the Acts of Assembly for you, you will find that both the Acts heretofore mentioned are repealed by the Act of April 18, 1919, P. L. 89, No. 08, which provides that all reports required to be made annually under the existing law shall hereafter be made biennially only.'"

Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Kephart said he had replied to me, no notice has been received up to this present time, although he said there that he had notified me that if I would get a lawyer, he would notify me that the Act of 1919 repealed the Acts of 1811 and 1832. I might say for the information of the House, and for the information of the Treasurer, that I had already consulted a lawyer and employed one of the leading members of the Dauphin County bar, the Hon. Michael E. Stroup, of Harrisburg. We were cognizant of the Act of 1919, and the Act of 1919 in no way whatsoever repeals the Act of 1811 and the Act of 1832. It provides that reports are to be made biennially instead of annually by the several departments of the State government

I want to say here that this Act does not repeal the Acts of 1811 and 1832, and there is nothing in the Act of 1919 which would call anybody's attention to the fact that it was intended to repeal the Acts of 1811 and 1832, although the acts were acts providing that these reports of the State Treasurer and Auditor General should be given to the Legislature, or laid before the Legislature at the beginning of each session, because the Legislature is the taxing power of the Commonwealth, and it was for the information of the members that these reports were supposed to be laid before them. Another reason why it does not repeal the Acts of 1811 and 1832: Under the Act of the 16th of June, 1919, the Legislature created the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings, the Board being composed of the Governor, Auditor General and State Treasurer. If the State Treasurer is correct, and if they are correct that under Sections 32 and 4 of the Act of the 16th of June, 1919, the Board of Public Ground and Buildings can spend any amount of money they desire, then we have no right to ask anybody for an accounting of all the money they spend in the Public Grounds and Buildings. Why? Because the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings consists of the Governor, Auditor General and State Treasurer, and you have the anomaly of the State Treasurer and the Auditor General, two members of the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings, reporting to the Governor, the other member of the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings. Do you suppose any Legislature ever intended that that Act should repeal the two former acts? Under the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, no power on earth can compel the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to give to the public any information whatsoever concerning any reports in his hands, and therefore you have the other anomaly, if under the Act of the 16th of June, 1919, if the Treasurer is correct, that this repeals the Acts of 1811 and 1832,—then the Department of Public Grounds and Buildings, under the sections referred to, can spend any money it wants to, without an accounting to anybody.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up from page 4 of to-day's calendar, bills on final passage postponed, House Bill No. 822, file folio 2315.

Agreeably to order,
The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Dunn,
The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 822, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of March one thousand nine hundred and three (Pamphlet Laws fifty-one) entitled "An Act providing for the manner of appointment of assessors for the purpose of valuation of property in counties containing a population of one million two hundred and fifty thousand or over" applying said act to counties of the first class and providing for the appointment of assessors without regard to party affiliation

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dunn, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman from Philadelphia explain the purpose of this bill.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of the bill is to cut out portions of it which at the present time refer to the appointing of real estate assessors. In the city of Philadelphia they have a certain number of real estate assessors who are appointed under certain conditions and the object of the bill is to strike out that part which reads, "One assessor appointed from the majority party and one appointed from among all the other qualified voters not belonging to the majority party," and we are striking out the words "party affiliations," so that the board may select whom they may see fit. That is the purpose of the bill.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz.:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time, from page 4 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed, House Bill No. 318, file folio 215.

Agreeably to order,
The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Sowers,
The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 318, entitled:

An Act to amend section twelve of the act approved the fifth day of February one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five (Pamphlet Laws fifty-six) entitled "An Act relative to the establishment and jurisdiction of magistrates' courts in the city of Philadelphia" as amended limiting the jurisdiction of magistrates in cases of arrest without warrant and on view to their respective districts

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, line 1, by inserting after the word "of" the following: "and to supplement."

Amend title, line 8, by inserting after the word "districts" the following: "And to the Central Police Station without changing or affecting the jurisdiction of the Municipal Court and providing for the attendance of magistrates at the Central Police Station."

Amend section 12, page 3, line 26, by striking out the words "Provided That in cases of arrest without warrant and on view the jurisdiction of magistrates shall extend only throughout their respective districts" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Provided that in all cases of arrest without warrant and on view the jurisdiction of the several magistrates, in the City and County of Philadelphia, shall extend only throughout their respective districts and the jurisdiction of the magistrate lawfully sitting as hereinafter provided, in the Central Police Station of the City and County of Philadelphia shall extend throughout the entire City and County of Philadelphia, and from and after June 1st, 1921, it shall be the duty of all of the magistrates of the City of Philadelphia to sit in the Central Police Station for periods of two weeks in succession according to the precise alphabetical arrangement of their names, and in case of illness or other disability the magistrate whose turn it is to sit shall designate the magistrate who shall sit in his place, and nothing herein contained shall in any way change or affect the jurisdiction of the Municipal Court of the City of Philadelphia."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

"Section 6 That no person or persons firm or corporation operating or conducting any hotel restaurant dining-car or other public eating place shall furnish or keep in or about such establishment at any drinking fountain or public drinking place to which the public or their customers or patrons have access any common drinking vessel for common use Provided That this section shall not preclude the use of vessels which are cleansed by washing with hot water and soap or are disinfected or destroyed after each individual use" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 6 That no person or persons firm or corporation operating or conducting any hotel restaurant dining-car or other public eating or drinking place shall furnish or keep in or about such establishment at any drinking fountain or public drinking place to which the public or their customers or patrons have access any common drinking vessel for common use Provided That this section shall not preclude the use of vessels which are cleansed by washing with hot water and soap or are disinfected or destroyed after each individual use

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. ALBERT MILLAR. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed on third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. DAVID I. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

Mr. ALBERT MILLAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend page 7, by inserting after line 3 the following: Section 3. Section four of said act which reads as follows:

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 483, as follows:

An Act to further amend the fifth section of an act entitled "An Act relating to the organization and jurisdiction of orphans' courts and to establish a separate orphans' court in and for counties having more than one hundred fifty thousand inhabitants and to provide for the election of judges thereof approved May nineteenth Anno Domini eighteen hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and six) as amended by fixing and determining the salaries of the assistant clerks of said court in counties of the first second third and fourth classes

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the fifth section of an act entitled 'An Act relating to the organization and jurisdiction of orphans' courts and to establish a separate orphans' court in and for counties having more than one hundred fifty thousand inhabitants and to provide for the election of judges thereof approved May nineteenth Anno Domini eighteen hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and six) which as last amended by an act entitled "An act to amend the fifth section of an act approved the nineteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four entitled 'An act relating to the organization and jurisdiction of orphans' courts and to establish a separate orphans' court in and for counties having more than one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants and to provide for the election of judges thereof' as amended by an act approved the sixth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine entitled 'An act to further amend the fifth section of an act entitled 'An act relating to the organization and jurisdiction of the orphans' court and establishing a separate orphans' court in and for counties having more than one hundred fifty thousand inhabitants and to provide for the election of judges thereof" approved May nineteenth Anno Domini eighteen hundred and seventy-four as amended by an act approved the twenty-ninth day of April Anno Domini eighteen hundred and ninety-seven fixing and determining the salaries of the assistant clerks of said court' by vesting the appointment of the first assistant clerk of said courts in the respective judges thereof and providing that this amendment shall not apply to counties having a population over seven hundred thousand" approved the thirty-first day of March one thousaud nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws forty-one) reads as follows

"Section 5 The register of wills of each and every county containing over one hundred fifty thousand inhabitants in which a separate orphans' court is or may be hereafter established shall be clerk of such orphans' court and subject to its directions in all matter pertaining to his office The judge or judges of said court in counties containing a population of less than seven hundred thousand may appoint the first assistant clerk and the said register of wills may with the consent and approval of said court appoint additional assistant clerks Said clerks shall receive annual salaries payable monthly by the treasurer of said respective counties as follows to wit In counties containing over two hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants the first assistant thirty-five hundred dollars the second assistant twenty-five hundred dollars and the third assistant eighteen hundred dollars and in counties not containing over two hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants the first assistant twenty-five hundred dollars the second assistant two thousand dollars and the third assistant fourteen hundred dollars the annual salaries of all other assistants to be fixed by the judge or judges of said court but said annual salaries not to exceed fifteen hundred dollars each in the larger counties and twelve hundred dollars each in the smaller counties as above classified which salaries shall be paid out of the fees of said office paid into the treasury of the county upon bills attested by said register and countersigned by a judge of said court But in the event that the fees received in said office of register of wills be not sufficient to fully pay the register and his assistants then payment shall be made in full to the said register of wills but to his assistants in manner as follows namely where there are more than one assistant then the balance of fees remaining to the credit of said office of register of wills shall be divided among each of said assistants in proportion as his salary shall stand to the whole" is amended to read as follows

Section 5 The register of wills of each and every county containing over one hundred fifty thousand inhabitants in which a separate orphans' court is or may be hereafter established shall be clerk of such orphans' court and subject to its directions in all matters pertaining to his office The judge or judges of said court in counties containing a ponulation of less than seven hundred thousand may appoint the first assistant clerk and the said register of wills may with the consent and approval of said court appoint additional assistant clerks Said clerks shall receive annual salaries payable monthly by the treasurer of said respective counties as follows to wit In counties of the first and second class the first assistant four thousand dollars the second assistant three thousand and the third assistant twenty three hundred dollars and in counties of the third class the first assistant thirty-five hundred dollars the second assistant twenty-five hundred dollars and the third assistant eighteen hundred dollars and in counties of the fourth class the first assistant twenty-five hundred dollars the second assistant two thousand dollars and the third assistant fourteen hundred dollars the annual salaries of all other assistants to be fixed by the judge or judges of the said court but said annual salaries not to exceed two thousand dollars each in counties of the first and second class fifteen hundred dollars each in counties of the third class and twelve hundred dollars each in counties of the fourth class which salaries shall be paid out of the fees of said office paid into the treasury of the county upon bills attested by said register and countersigned by a judge of said court But in the event that the fees received in said office of register of wills be not sufficient to fully pay the register and his assistants then payment shall be made in full to the said register of wills but to his assistants in manner as follows namely where there are more than one assistant then the balance of fees remaining to the credit of said office of register of wills shall be divided among each of said assistants in proportion as his salary shall stand to the whole.

Section 2 That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Brady, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRADY. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, according to this bill there is an increase of salaries in the districts having 250,000 population, and has that been made larger purposely than the other districts.

Mr. BRADY. Mr. Speaker, this bill merely increases the salaries of first, second and third assistant clerks; the assistant clerks of the orphans' court of Philadelphia county and Allegheny county.

Mr. HORNE. How about the other counties having a less population?

Mr. BRADY. The provisions of the bill do not include an increase in those counties if they don't wish the increase. If they do wish it or desire an increase in the other counties the sponsor is very willing to stand for an amendment to that effect.

Mr. HORNE. Is there a provision made where there is an increase to be fixed by the judges of the orphans' court fixing the annual salary at $1500 instead of $1200?

Mr. BRADY. No, sir, the bill is the same as in the original, $1200.

Mr. HORNE. Have you not also made a large difference between those appointed as first, second and third assistants, where they are being paid $2000 instead of $1500 and in the other case, $2500 instead of $2000?

Mr. BRADY. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman from Cambria I will just read that portion of the bill:

Said clerks shall receive annual salaries payable monthly by the treasurer of said respective counties as follows to wit In counties of the first and second class the first assistant four thousand dollars the second assistant three thousand and the third assistant twenty-three hundred dollars and in counties of the third class the first assistant thirty-five hundred dollars the second assistant twenty-five hundred dollars and the third assistant eighteen hundred dollars and in counties of the fourth class the first assistant twenty-five hundred dollars the second assistant two thousand dollars and the third assistant fourteen hundred dollars the annual salaries of all other assistants to be fixed by the judge or judges of the said court but said annual salaries not to exceed two thousand dollars each in counties of the first and second class fifteen hundred dollars each in counties of the third class and twelve hundred dollars each in counties of the fourth class

Mr. HORNE. Where the judges appoint the assistants you have provided for salaries of $1500 and $2000?

Mr. BRADY. That has not been changed.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 29, 1921

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed the following resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 315, File Folio 939, entitled:

"Resolved (if the Senate concur) That House Bill No. 315 entitled 'An Act making it unlawful to accept or offer inducements to procure a defeat in any athletic contest,' be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment."

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

WM. C. SPROUL

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. McBRIDE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 315, file folio 939, entitled

An Act making it unlawful to accept or offer inducements to procure a defeat in any athletic contest was passed finally be reconsidered.

Mr. KRUGH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McBRIDE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. KRUGH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question, recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McBRIDE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend by striking out Section 3, page 2, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 3. Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than five thousand dollars ($5,000), or to undergo imprisonment of not more than five years, either or both, at the discretion of the Court."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL ON THIRD READING (SPECIAL ORDER)

The SPEAKER. The hour of 10 o'clock P. M. having arrived the Chair will take up the special order on third reading and final passage of House Bill No. 71, file folio 2289.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 771, as follows:

An Act permitting and regulating the playing of amateur baseball and football on Sunday and providing for the holding of elections in the various municipal divisions of this Commonwealth whereby a majority of the voters may determine whether the playing of such games may be played within the legal limits of such municipal divisions empowering the proper municipal authorities to issue permits for the playing of such games and amending all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That when ten percentum of the registered voters of any township or borough of this Commonwealth or when ten per centum of the registered voters of any ward in any city within this Commonwealth shall petition the county commissioners of the county wherein the said township or borough or ward shall be located to place upon the ballot at the next general or municipal election a proposal to be voted upon by the people within the said township or borough or ward of whether or not a majority of the said voters within the said township or borough or ward are in favor of amateur baseball and football on the Lord's Day commonly called the Sabbath Day between the hours of two post meridian and seven post meridian on said day The said commissioners shall submit such proposal to the voters of the townships ward or borough at the next election

Section 2 If a majority of said voters in the said township or borough or ward shall vote in favor of the said proposal then it shall be lawful within the said township or borough or ward for all persons to engage in the playing of amateur baseball or football between the hours of two post meridian and seven post meridian on the Lord's Day commonly called the Sabbath Day Provided however That no admission fee be charged to any such game And provided That the said games shall not be played within one thousand feet of any church or place of worship without the written consent of the person in charge of the said church or place of worship

Section 3 Before any such game shall be conducted a permit must first be obtained from the board of township commissioners supervisors burgess or mayor of the said township or missioners supervisors burgess or mayor of the said township or borough or city embracing the ward authorizing the said game

Section 4 In so far as they affect the object and purpose of this act all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby amended

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 21.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 31, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 21, entitled "An Act to amend article nineteen, section thirteen, clause five, of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws, five hundred eighty-one), entitled 'An Act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth.'"

The bill aims to change the Civil Service provisions of the Philadelphia Charter Act of 1919 by making it mandatory upon the Civil Service Commission to adopt a rule requiring preference to be given to honorably discharged soldiers, sailors, nurses and women who served in the Army, Navy, Red Cross or as War nurses of the United States during times of war, notwithstanding the fact that their names do not rank one or two in the appropriate list of persons who have passed the Civil Service examination.

The bill is class and special legislation and obnoxious to the provisions of the Constitution. The case of Wood vs. the City of Philadelphia, 46 Superior Court, 573, appears to be conclusive upon this question.

Appropriate as it may be to do everything within our power to aid those who served our country in the greatest war known to civilization, when our effort so to do constitutes a violation of the paramount law, it cannot be done. Article XIX, Section 14, of the Philadelphia Charter Act provides "honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines, who have served as such in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps of the United States, or in the National Guard of this State, shall be given full credit for the experience gained in such service, having due regard to the position for which the examination is held." This especial consideration is given by the Civil Service Commission to veterans of the late war, and they are thereby enabled to secure places on the eligible lists for appointment.

We all desire to further the interests of our brave defenders in every possible way, but we must be mindful of the constitutional limitations imposed upon us and of the principles of right and justice in dealing with matters affecting them as with all others.

WM. C. SPROUL.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. JEREMIAH MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 510.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 31, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 510, entitled "An Act empowering any chief deputy appointed by deed of any sheriff in any county of this Commonwealth to perform any duty incumbent upon such sheriff until a written revocation of such appointment be recorded with like effect as if such official act had been done by the sheriff in person but holding such sheriff and his sureties liable for all acts of such deputy hereunder."

This bill provides that a chief deputy appointed by deed of any sheriff shall have power to perform any of the sheriff's duties. Under the present law a deputy sheriff may perform any of the sheriff's duties which do not require the exercise of official discretion. The deputy sheriff can not select talesmen when called upon by the Court, select jurors in inquisition proceedings, or perform any acts requiring the exercise of discretion, but he may perform all other duties of the office. The greater part of the duties of this office are purely ministerial.

The bill is unnecessary and contrary to the established precedent of the common law.

For these reasons it is not approved.

WM. C. SPROUL.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 443.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, April 1, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 443, entitled "An Act to amend section six of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred three) entitled 'An Act creating the office of county controller in counties of this Commonwealth containing one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants and over prescribing his duties and abolishing the office of county auditor in said counties.'"

This bill proposes an amendment to the Act of June 27, 1895, P. L. 403, so as to permit a maximum expenditure of two thousand ($2,000) dollars instead of one thousand ($1,000) dollars for the publication in newspapers of the annual reports of county controllers. The law requires that these reports shall be published once in such newspapers as the controller may direct. The sum of one thousand ($1,000) dollars is, in my opinion, a very liberal allowance for the publication of such reports, and any increase in this amount would be extravagant and unnecessary.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

WM. C. SPROUL.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 314.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 31, 1921

To the Honorable, the Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 314, entitled "A supplement to an act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws, seventy-three), entitled 'An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations' extending the charters of certain corporations."

The benefits of this Bill are limited to manufacturing corporations. No good reason is apparent why that class of corporations should be thus favored. In effect it is special legislation and in violation of the spirit of the Constitution.

The Bill does not contain any provision expressly requiring the consent of a majority of the stockholders of the corporations to the extension of its charter. Under the terms of the Bill one or two officers or directors of the corporation might, without the consent of the stockholders, secure an extension of the charter for twenty-five years.

The Bill is intended to accomplish the same purpose as an act entitled "An Act amending an act of Assembly, approved the twenty-fifth day of June, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred ninety-five, entitled 'A further supplement to 'An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations' approved April twenty-ninth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.'" In expressing my disapproval of that Bill I said "I do not think the original act of 1859 was right in principle." I am still of the same opinion.

For these reasons the Bill is not approved.

WM. C. SPROUL.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. ALBERT S. C. MILLAR. Mr. Speaker, I move that the veto together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. CONNER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL NO. 442.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, April 1, 1921

To the Honorable, the Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 442, entitled:

"An act to amend section one of an act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and seventy) entitled 'An act creating a reward or bounty for the destruction of certain noxious animals killed within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing a method for the payment of the same and providing the method of furnishing evidence of said destruction and penalties for the violation of the several provisions hereof.'"

WM. C. SPROUL.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 15, 1921.

To the Honorable, the Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed the following resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 155, File Folio 381, entitled:

"Resolved, (If the Senate concur), That House Bill number 155 File Folio 381 entitled, 'An act providing for a cemetery in Valley Forge Park for the burial therein of bodies of soldiers, sailors, marines and war nurses who served in the army or navy of the United States and members of Pennsylvania National Guard,' be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment."

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

WM. C. SPROUL.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. JEREMIAH J. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 259.

Mr. SMINK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 259, file folio 2807, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and three), entitled "An act amending an act entitled, 'A supplement to an act entitled, 'An act to provide for the incorporation of certain corporations' approved the twenty-ninth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four so far as it relates to section thirty-seven relating to building and loan associations' approved June second, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, giving such associations the right when a series of stock has matured or when applications for loans by the stockholders thereof shall exceed the accumulations in the treasury to make temporary loans" so as to authorize such loans to the extent of thirty per centum.

was defeated on final passage on March 30th, 1921, be reconsidered.

Mr. JOSEPH MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up on page 14 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading postponed House Bill No. 515.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. PHILLIPS,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 515, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred nineteen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and five) entitled "An act to amend section one of an act approved the fifth day of May one thousand eight hundred and thirty-two entitled 'An act regulating lateral railroads' by extending the provisions thereof to any person or persons corporation of the first or second class partnership municipal or quasi-municipal corporation school or poor district of the State of Pennsylvania incorporated under general or special act of assembly being the owner or owners of land mills quarries coal-mines limekilns or other real estate in the vicinity of any railroad canal or slack-water navigation made or to be made by any company or by the State of Pennsylvania and not more than four miles distant therefrom" increasing the length of lateral railroads

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up on page 13 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading postponed, House Bill No. 928 (Senate Bill No. 198) file folio 1531.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Glass.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 928 (Senate Bill No. 198), entitled:

An Act to further amend an act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred and and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and nineteen) entitled "An act regulating certain political parties providing for and regulating the nomination of candidates of such political parties for certain public offices the election of delegates and alternate delegates to national party conventions and of certain party officers including State committeemen a method whereby electors of such political parties may express their choice of candidates for the office of President of the United States and the payment by the several counties and their reimbursement by the State of the expenses of the same authorizing the State committee of a political party to make and to alter amend and revoke rules and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act and for the punishment of certain offenses provided for herein and repealing inconsistent legislation" as amended

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Elections for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. BURNS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time on page 13 of to-day's calendar bills on third reading postponed, House Bill No. 1061, file folio 2015.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Curran.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1061, entitled

An Act to amend section four of an act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. L. 102), entitled "An Act providing for a cash deposit in lieu of bail in cases of arrest, and prescribing the fees of the sheriff in case of forfeiture," by prescribing the fees of the clerk of the court having jurisdiction of the case, whenever the liability of the bail is terminated otherwise than by a forfeiture of the same.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, this is the bill which you will remember that last week I called to your attention. It is a bill providing that a commission be paid to the clerks of the quarter sessions and oyer and terminer for bail deposited in cash with the clerks of the quarter sessions and oyer and terminer. Last year, or in the last session, rather, a bill was passed providing that the clerks of the quarter sessions and oyer and terminer should accept in lieu of real estate security cash bail. The argument was made at that time, and the bill was passed upon that argument, that men living in one county were arrested in another county were unable to furnish real estate security in the county in which they were arrested A man was therefore compelled to get some of his friends from another county to bring cash bail to the county in which he was arrested, and deposit the same. Before the passage of the Act of 1919, that man was required to go to a trust company in the county in which he was arrested and there deposit his cash and then the trust company entered his bond. That would cost him at that time anywhere from five to twenty-five dollars. A bond of about five hundred dollars would cost him five dollars. That was made for the purpose of saving him the extra expense of having to pay that commission to the trust company. Now, this act provides five per cent. to be paid to the clerk of the quarter sessions and oyer and terminer in addition to the fees which he already receives, which would make it about twenty-five dollars that would have to be paid to the clerk of the quarter sessions and oyer and terminer, when he could go into a trust company and get his bond for about five dollars, after having deposited his five hundred dollars in cash.

It is a hardship on any man. For instance, a man lives in Philadelphia—and this thing happens very often. A man living in Philadelphia is arrested in Delaware county. He has no person who knows him in Delaware county owning real estate security there. He is therefore obliged to go back to his home and get someone who has the cash. It sometimes happens that being a stranger in the county in which he is arrested, the bail is made heavier than if it was someone who was known. If he has a five hundred dollar bail to put up, the clerk gets twenty-five dollars out of it before turning it back, and many times that bail, or that cash, rather, belongs to a friend of his who is doing a friendly act by depositing that bail. It seems to me the clerks of the quarter sessions and oyer and terminer get enough fees. Their fees are considerable, without having a tax or assessment or whatever you may call it—a commission—paid out of this bail, and it is a hardship, therefore, on a stranger in a strange county who has deposited this bail.

Mr. EDMUNDS. Mr. Speaker, I think the point of the gentleman from Delaware is well taken, and it appeals to me that this bill is wrong. It is wrong in another principle. Where there is an additional amount of duty given to a clerk, is it necessary that an additional compensation be paid him for doing it? It seems to me the general fee is sufficient in the matter and therefore, personally, I second the sentiments which the gentleman from Delaware has expressed.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, under this bill the clerk does not get five per cent.; it says two per cent. on a bill of five hundred dollars and one per cent. on bail above five hundred dollars. It means that if the salaries of the clerk of courts are fixed, that two per cent. and one per cent go to the county.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call the attention of the House to Senate Bill No. 87, which is on the third reading calendar, page 11, which also provides for cash bail and fixes the fees of the clerks. In the Senate bill, it provides that for a bail of five hundred dollars a commission of one per cent. is charged, and all in excess, one-half of one per cent. in other words, cutting the commission actually in half.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz.:

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 938, as follows:

An Act authorizing county commissioners to receive donations gifts legacies endowments devises and conveyances of real or personal property for the establishing of orphans' homes providing for the support maintenance conduct and management of such homes and authorizing counties to appropriate moneys for such purposes

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the county commissioners of the several counties are hereby authorized to receive from time to time donations gifts legacies endowments devises and conveyance or conveyances of property real or personal that may be given or granted for the use and purpose of providing a home within the county for the keeping and care of indigent orphans and children dependent upon the public of such county for such county for support

Section 2 Any such orphans' home shall be under the management and control of the county commissioners of the county and they are hereby authorized to appoint a superintendent and such assistants as may be necessary to properly conduct the affairs of such home

Section 3 Indigent orphans and children shall be committed to any such home on order of the county commissioners or of the directors of overseers of any poor district of such county

Section 4 When any property has been given or granted to any such county for a children's home and a home is duly established it shall be lawful for such county thereafter to appropriate from the county funds moneys for the support and maintenance of such orphans and children and for the payment of the salary of the superintendent and his assistants

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—2.

Alexander, Miller, J. J.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1082, entitled:

An Act requiring the display of the flag of the United States at entertainments public gatherings and public meeting

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 1 page 1 line 7 by inserting before "public" the word "or"

Amend section 1 page 2 line 8 by striking out "auditorium" and inserting in lieu thereof "auditoriums"

Amend section 2 page 2 line 11 by striking out the following: "In a summary proceeding" and inserting in lieu thereof the following; "upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding before any alderman, magistrate or justice of the peace of the proper city or county"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1162, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and thirty-nine) entitled "An act defining sedition and prescribing the punishment therefor"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, for the past few years there has been a direct purpose and what seems to be, a silent understanding, among the officials of various states and municipalities to take away the rights and guarantees of the people of free speech and free assemblage. The right of free speech has been won at the sacrifice of thousands of lives and of fortunes untold, yet the question of free speech and free assemblage is as much of a question today as it was centuries ago. We may disagree with the expressions heard against the system of government, or we may be very outspoken and antagonistic to them, but we should at all times retain the constitutional rights of the people, the right of free speech and the right of free assemblage. Let me say to you members of the House that two years ago this bill was before the Assembly on two occasions. The first time it was before the House it was defeated. The second time it was before the House it was carried by a majority of one vote. At that time labor had objected to this bill, and many of the teeth of the bill were taken out, but the worst part of the act was left in. That was the word "tends." A few weeks ago I introduced here a repealer to the act and after taking it up with the Governor and various members of this House, it was agreed by the Governor and various members of this House that they would so amend the act to please labor as we had mentioned here two years ago. The word "tends," as we view it, is an elastic word in the English dictionary. In the act as it now is, the word "tends" could be so used against organized labor that a few men here or any others, be they members of the House of Representatives or be they present at any meeting, if they would utter something against the officials of the government, although the remarks might not be seditious yet someone in the audience might then go out and if he would make the same speech in some other part of the country or in the same city what he would utter would be a seditious remark under the act. He would be arrested and punished, although he had not made a seditious remark, he would be arrested because you have said in the act that it tended so to make this other person liable to making a seditious remark. For illustration, during the strike of the miners, a year ago last December, a cartoon appeared in a Philadelphia paper, which I do not care to mention at this time, because I am not after them. However, in that paper there appeared a cartoon and that cartoon was of a boa contrictor, a snake, and the head of that picture, that snake, was the president of the mine workers of America, and in the tail of the snake they had depicted syndicalism, radicalism, socialism and every other "ism" they could think of to down John L. Lewis, of the mine workers at that time, the president of the Coal Miners' Union of America. That cartoon as it was interpreted by the attorney general, when it was taken up here in the capitol, it was admitted that it aroused discontent among the members of the anthracite coal fields. They were about to declare a strike, and if they had struck that would have been called seditious, but because of the injunction issued by the United States Government the strike was discontinued, but the printing of that cartoon of the snake had aroused discontent and if the strike had taken place they would also have been guilty of sedition, because what they did tended to make the miners in that field strike. Let me say to you that we have today appearing in the Philadelphia papers matter which is paid for by the Chambers of Commerce, and let me say to you, also, that labor stands for the amending of this act and that those who do utter seditious remarks, they are the people that want those persons put in jail,, but we find that we have not the Chambers of Commerce who are putting the paid advertisements into the papers. There is more than one class of Bolshevism in the United States. Let me say to you that such paid advertisements as are appearing in our papers are the very things that are arousing discontent in the State of Pennsylvania and in the United States. Under this act let me say to you that I have had experience in other fields where the Baldwin-Felts detective agents have gone, as agents, and have been employed among the very labor organizations of America; their agencies have put them there; they have been put there and paid for by corporations throughout the United States. These men are deliberately working amongst labor, making seditious remarks and presenting radical ideas and for no other purpose than to arouse discontent among the workers and to destroy the labor unions of America. I think that these advertisements are in line with those efforts and attempts that are being made to destroy the rights of the American working people. In a case down here in West Virginia where I have had charge of that strike in which over forty men have been killed and only recently sixteen of those men who have been in prison were freed. The employers of labor had employed detective agencies and it was admitted that they had done so to arouse that discontent in West Virginia. They had detectives of the Baldwin-Felts Detective Agency and one man admitted that he was a secretary of a miners' union and afterwards confessed further that he was the head of the detective agency of the Baldwin-Felts organization and that he had murdered a man out in Colorado. Together with this we have had what we call "The yellow dog"; that is, being sent by the corporations of this country to force the employes of America to sign the "yellow dog" agreement saying that they will never become a member of any labor organization. These are the men whom we find are asking for this legislation so that they can destroy the labor movement. Let me say to you that every speech that is made and the power of the press was not given to us as Americans that we may say pleasant things but that we may say the things that are unpleasant, if necessary; that we may criticize the wrong; that we may bring forth the truth as we know and recognize it. If it be wrong, let us be punished for being wrong rather than take from us the rights of free assemblage and free speech. We have agreed in conference to take out the word "tends" and place into this act the words "the intent of which." That means that you will give the persons who are anarchists in this country and have uttered Bolshevistic ideas what they should have and protects the conservative labor leaders in this country.

Let me say to you men here tonight, if you are classed as Americans, if you want to be one hundred per cent. Americans, then protect the conservative labor leaders of America; protect men like Sam Gompers and do not attack labor. We are appreciative of this fact that the Governor of this State has not enforced the act during the time that he has been Governor. We appreciate the fact that none of the authorities of this government in this State have enforced this act, but we wish to say this: Remove it so that an administration that may not be so friendly to us as this administration shall use the club on organized labor in this State and in this country. I ask you as men who believe in the rights of American workmen; who believe in the right of free speech and free assemblage to stand here tonight as men and vote for the conservative leadership of the trades union movement of America.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I want to explain to my friend from Lackawanna that when he says "organized labor" is interested in this act, that I believe disorganized labor is more interested in the act than organized labor. It has been stated on the floor of this House that there is no body of men in the Commonwealth that are more law abiding than organized labor. I want for an instant to state that organized labor would be willing to have this act obliterated from the statutes of the State under certain conditions.

This act, however, as it stands before us tonight is merely amended by bringing into the act that which the law absolutely understands. The words which were in the act that was passed in the last session were to some extent novel words. The words now in the act are well understood by the bench and the bar, therefore, I wish to say to you on behalf of the Governor that this amendment has his approval. He has no objection to it. I wish also to say on behalf of the former Attorney General, Judge Shaffer, that he has examined the amendment and that he approves of it, and he has asked me to say to you that during the last session this clause, the same words, were submitted to him and he himself had no objection whatever to the words at that time, and therefore we see no good reason for opposing this bill.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, in the session of 1919 the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Fowler, very vigorously opposed the passage of what is now known as the Flynn Act. At that time he had fears lest it would be misapplied, and tonight he has uttered those fears again, contending that if it were in the hands of a court that could not be trusted or a Governor who was not so fair and so favorable as our present Governor, that some menace would come to the rights of someone on free speech or free assemblage.

Now gentlemen of the House, I want to call your attention to this fact. This act has been on the statute books for two years. Mr. Fowler has not in his address mentioned one single instance in which any man's rights under our Constitution or under the common law were in any wise brought into jeopardy, or where any man who was innocent was punished. I want to call your attention, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, to what the operation of this Flynn Act has accomplished. In the county of Chester Isadore Spivak, alleged communist, at Coatesville, arrested April 30th, 1920, and was tried at West Chester by Judge Butler and found guilty. Now I am going to ask you whether the seditious remark on which he was found guilty was seditious or not. He circulated a letter among the Soviets, and in the paper were these statements, among others "During the current year our slogan is, 'Destruction to the Bourgeois parliamentary Republic.'" Let me call your attention, members of the House to the fact that that great labor leader, Samuel Gompers, has just recently repudiated an effort on the part of certain elements of organized labor in the United States to bring pressure to bear in favor of a Soviet Government, the Soviet system of Russia. Samuel Gompers stands against this thing.

My contention in connection with this bill as it reads now is that it brings nobody into jeopardy, takes away the rights of no man except when that man utters a statement or circulates a written statement that shows enmity, and who brings about crime or terrorism for the destruction of our form of government. Now this man was convicted. Another one of his statements was "We call the attention of comrades to the necessity of creating an illegal conspirative apparatus besides the legally functioning apparatus." The second case that was tried in the State of Pennsylvania and where a conviction was obtained was of John Sergeyenho and Harry Chesnick, indicted in Washington County in November, 1920. Tried before Judge McInvaine on the charge of distributing literature which demanded the overthrow of our government and the establishing of a communist government. Found guilty, but not deported.

In Allegheny County three men were arrested under this law, found guilty and deported last fall. A whole trunk full of copies of a dodger, "Boycott the Election" was seized in Pittsburgh in November, 1920, and the man to whom they were consigned was held.

Now gentlemen of the House, just a week ago last Saturday in my own county of Butler, Major James O. Campbell, a former member of this House, who is at the present time district attorney of Butler County obtained the conviction of one Mike Raleo, a tailor, a high class intelligent Russian who was arrested on the charge of distributing seditious literature and found guilty without any hesitation. He was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. I desire gentlemen of the House, that you have attention called to those things for which he was found guilty. I have the document, the court document before me, this same circular, entitled "Boycott the Election," and here are the seditious remarks under which the jury found Mike Raleo guilty:

"You must organize in the shops and use the strike against the government. You must organize and be prepared, so that when the revolutionary crisis comes, you can turn a general strike against the government into an armed uprising to overthrow the government.

"You must set up in opposition to the capitalist government—a government of workers councils—the Soviets. The Soviets are the workers governmental machine which will destroy the capitalists government and then take over the industries for the workers."

A large package of the circulars was consigned to this Mike Raleo and the statement which was read and presented to the jury was this:

"You must direct your strikes against the government and must overthrow the capitalist government. When the final struggle to overthrow the government comes, you must have guns in your hands and be prepared for an armed insurrection to wipe out the government of the capitalists and establish your government—the government of the workers councils."

Now, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, in reading these documents to you, I do so with the full knowledge that the American Federation of Labor, to which our esteemed friend from Lackawanna, Mr. Fowler, belongs, does not stand for these things. There is not in the operation of this bill a solitary thing that would bring into jeopardy the rights or any of the privileges of any man who belongs to organized labor. The object of this bill when it was enacted in my conception, as I addressed this House, was primarily and specifically only for the purpose of freeing the arm of this government and making it possible for the government to take charge of the man who sought to overthrow our form of government, and you with me would stand against anything that would palsy the arm of the law in reaching men like that.

Now in conclusion I want to call your attention to a thing which probably has not been brought before you. I want to ask you just what law is there in the United States to punish a Red Radical? Absolutely none that is adequate.

I am going to read for you certain sections of the Immigration Law and certain sections of the criminal code of the United States, the only section which the legal department at Washington has ever been able to marshall in favor of the punishment of the enemies of our form of government.

First, section 1 of the Immigration Law provides that aliens who disbelieve in and are antagonistic to organized government shall be excluded. That would seem to be affective, but many a man passes the immigration inspector and the inquisitor and he gets into the country all right.

Section 2 cites that any alien, who after entering the United States, is found at the time of entry to have been a member of an organization opposed to our form of government, may be arrested and deported. Now, my friends, that looks to be effective, but it requires legal operations at Washington. What has been the result? The application has been all but useless because, under the law, such men are subject to bail.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I do not think the gentleman is talking on the bill. In fact, this bill does not take away anything it only is a change in the phraseology.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Butler has the floor. If the gentleman from Lackawanna desires to raise a point of order, the Chair will rule on it, otherwise the gentleman from Butler will proceed.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I will be through in a minute. I want to show to you that the national laws are woefully inadequate in dealing with Red radicalism, and that therefore the State of Pennsylvania should protect itself with a law of this character. Now, these men return to their group again after giving bail. They know that nothing is coming to them except deportation, and after a time they are deported, after having caused all the trouble and discord and having raised opposition to our form of government. Now then, there are only two sections of the federal criminal code that deal with radicalism. The first section makes it a crime to incite, set on foot, assist or engage in any revolution or insurrection against the authority of the United States or the laws thereof. To punish any man under this section of the criminal code, it is necessary to prove a conspiracy of there must be an actual revolution proven before any man can be punished under that section. Section 6 makes it a crime for two or more persons to conspire to overthrow, put down or destroy by force the government of the United States. Now, members of the House, this does not touch individual cases, it only touches cases where there is an actual conspiracy proven.

I am very heartily in accord with the change in this bill which has been made, which says "the intent of which is"; and yet I submit to you that under the common law of this country and under the rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania no man is ever going to be adjudged guilty of having distributed literature that is seditious or of having spoken words that are seditious unless you can prove intent. And so in my mind, the bill as it was before is just as strong—is no more a violation of the rights of any individual than the bill as it is now. Never under its operation was it violated, and I say to you that I have confidence enough in the judiciary of the State of Pennsylvania and of the legal authorities of this State—those in office now and those in office at any future time—that they will not misconstrue and will not place any man's right in jeopardy under this bill, but will always construe it as it has been in the last two years against the enemies of our form of government.

Mr. DUNLAP. Mr. Speaker, I have heard a great many talks on the subject of the sedition bill, and I have talked to numerous members of this House, and there seems to be a great number who are in doubt as to what the sedition bill really is. With your permission I will read it—it is very short.

"An Act defining sedition, and prescribing the punishment therefor.

Section 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the word "sedition," as used in this act, shall mean:

Any writing, publication, printing, cut, cartoon, utterance, or conduct, either individually or in connection or combination with any other person or persons, which tends:

(a) To make or cause to be made any outbreak or demonstration of violence against this State or against the United States.

(b) To encourage any person or persons to take any measure or engage in any conduct with a view of overthrowing or destroying or attempting to overthrow or destroy by any force or show or threat of force, the Government of this State or of the United States.

(c) To incite or encourage any person or persons to commit any overt act with a view to bringing the Government of this State or of the United States into hatred or contempt.

(d) To incite any person or persons to do or attempt to do personal injury or harm to any officer of this State or of the United States, or to damage or destroy any public property or the property of any public official because of his official position.

It shall also include:

(e) The actual damage to, or destruction of, any public property, or the property of any public official, perpetrated because the owner or occupant is in official position.

(f) Any writing, publication, printing, cut, cartoon, or utterance which advocates or teaches the duty, necessity, or propriety of engaging in crime, violence, or any form of terrorism, as a means of accomplishing political reform or change in government.

(g) The sale, gift, or distribution of any prints, publications, books, papers, documents, or written matter in any form, which advocates, furthers, or teaches sedition as hereinbefore defined.

(h) Organizing or helping to organize or becoming a member of an assembly, society, or group, where any of the policies or purposes thereof are seditious as hereinbefore defined.

Section 2. Sedition, as defined in section one of this act, shall be a felony, and any person convicted thereof shall be sentenced to a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) and not more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000), and to imprisonment not exceeding twenty years, either or both, in the discretion of the court.

Section 3. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be, and the same are hereby, repealed."

I can see nothing in the bill as it stands, gentlemen of the House, which will have any obnoxious features to any fair-minded, honest, law-abiding citizen, who is law-abiding at heart and continues to be so. If I had in mind, when I got out of this session of the Legislature, to go to robbing banks, for instance, it would be to my advantage to have the law repealed which makes such an act a crime. The apparent motive of amending this act is this: I am personally not learned in the law, but I know some few things about it, and one is, as the previous speaker has said, that one of the hardest things to prove to the satisfaction of a jury is a man's intentions. Consequently, the amendment appears to me to be one that is trying to defeat and impede the functions of the court in trying cases that may come before it under this sedition bill.

All the institutions of our government, as a whole, have been procured by the blood of our ancestors who fought for their construction and maintenance. Gentlemen, I ask you to vote down the amendment.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me there must be a misunderstanding. You will notice that the only change in this bill suggested is that of changing the word "tends" to words, "the intent of which." As I was one two years ago who strongly advocated the passage of this bill and while it was only passed by a margin of two votes and I argued in favor of this bill, and now it has been agreed upon, and at that time indeed the administration asked that it be passed, and as I understand the same people at the present time who advocated the passage of it two years ago are perfectly satisfied with this amendment. It practically makes no change whatever in the purport of the bill and simply changes the word "tends," which is the same as intention, and therefore it simply amounts to little or nothing.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 648, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the assignment of counsel in murder cases and for the allowance of expenses and compensation in such cases" approved the twenty-second day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven by increasing the maximum compensation allowable and by authorizing the appointment of counsel at any stage of the proceedings at the discretion of the court and to extend the provisions of this amendment to cases now pending

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KOHLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, line 6, by inserting after the word "seven" the following: "(P. L. 31)."

Amend section 1, page 1, line 4, by inserting after the word "section" the word "one."

Amend section 1, page 2, line 6, by striking out "courts" and inserting in lieu thereof "court."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1059, as follows:

An Act to amend section fourteen of an act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand and forty-three) entitled "An Act establishing a public school employes' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes exempting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" by providing for the payment of retirement allowances to employes who have rendered at least forty-five years of school service
